THE LIGHT BRAHMA.

The Light Brahma is in particular the professional man's pet and pride. This big beauty is seldom seen on large business plants except where capons are a specialty.

Its immense size makes it too large for ordinary market demand, it requires too much time to fill out and mature, and it is not a race horse layer like the Leghorn.

It's really a back yard fancier's bird. A giant, gentle fowl for confined runs.

BEAUTIFUL BRAHMA HIDDY.

a source of recreation for the doctor, of pleasure for the lawyer, of delight to the showman and of inspiration in more ways than one to the preacher.

There has been much dispute as to the origin of the Brahma. John Bull trying to make us believe it had the same source as the English Brahma.

Now, if this Brahma cooer scrip was submitted to The Hague we believe the decision rendered would be as follows:

The English Brahma came from the Gray Shanghaies. These Gray Shanghaies were first bred by George P. Burnham of Boston in 1850, by crossing Chittagongs with a large gray variety, probably Brahma Pootras, brought from a ship with fowls from China. In 1852 Mr. Burnham shipped eight of these fowls to Queen Victoria, and from them the English Brahma was bred, but the American Light Brahma was bred from a later consignment of fowls from Asia by Messrs. Chamberlain and Cornish, who did not tell the breeds entering into their strain.

The Shanghaies (English Brahma) little resembled the American Brahma, having single comb and narrow skull.

PROUD AND THEN SOME.

the American having the pea comb and broad, overhanging skull, distinctive characteristics of the American ideal, which, with the feathering of outer shanks and outer and middle toes, rather put it in a class by itself.

What a princely, beautiful bird in its kingly dignity, graceful curves, massive strength, snow white body, striped backle, black tail and greenish black sickles.

Brahma breeders should avoid vulture hocks, solid black feathering and spots on back, white, red and dark shanks.

A Brahma furnishes much delicious meat.

DON'TS.

Don't be a grouch. If you don't live a sunshiny life heaven pity your wife. Don't be lazy and sheive yourself because you have a bank account. Hiding talents in the earth doesn't pay.

Don't bother with expensive, intricate burglar alarms. They seldom work at the right time and often go off of their own accord and scare the family. Bulldogs for bird burglars.

Don't butt in on other folks' affairs, especially when it's a woman. Paddle your own canoe and you'll have naught to rue.

I Buy at Home

WHY? Because my interests are here. Because the community that is good enough for me to live in is good enough for me to buy in. Because I believe in transacting business with my friends. Because I want to see the goods. Because I want to get what I buy when I pay for it. Because every dollar I spend at home stays at home and works for the welfare of the town. Because the man I buy from stands back of the goods. Because I sell what I produce here at home. Because the man I buy from pays his part of the town, county and state taxes. Because the man I buy from gives value received always. Because the man I buy from helps support my school, my church, my lodge, my home. Because when ill luck, misfortune or bereavement comes, the man I buy from is here with his kindly greeting, his words of cheer, and his pocketbook if need be. Here I live and here I buy.

I buy at home. Do you?

ANA RIVER IRRIGATION PROJECT

In Summer Lake, the Garden Valley of Central Oregon

Land in this valley has sold for $125 an acre without water. It produces five tons of alfalfa, sixty bushels of barley, seven tons of potatoes, to the acre without irrigation. This is on the West Side. The land we propose to irrigate on the East Side is just as good. Elevation, 4,140 feet above the sea.

Water Rights, $20 per acre-foot. $2 per acre cash, and the rest in $2 yearly payments on ten years' time, at ten per cent. interest. No maintenance charge for ten years. The land is free. Later we will put up the price of water rights to $50.

We are going to reclaim the bed of Summer Lake for its salts and turn the land into farms. You do not have to live on this land.

Work started October 27th on Ana River dam. It will be completed and water turned in the ditches April 1, 1914, and we will furnish water for 20,000 acres next year.

We will put 100 teams to work about December 1st, and we pay $5 for eight hours, man and team. The work is for those who take up land and buy water.

If you have a team and are willing to work, come and we will help you make a home on a quarter section of land in Summer Lake, the Garden Valley of Central Oregon, famous for fifty years for its fruits and vegetables.
