Lakeview, Oregon, Thursday, January 15, 1914

H. M. Nolte, of the Bailey & Massingill store, this week favored us with a copy of the Des Moines, Iowa, Daily News, dated Thanksgiving day 1908. The paper was printed in 1898 and is a seven column folio. The Examiner plant is pretty modernly equipped, but if we should conceive the idea of the News editor in forecasting 100 years hence, we judge there is not a plant at present in the United States capable of printing an issue of what the Examiner will be in 2014.

Do you know that an editor or a reporter for a newspaper can in his rounds stop and ask a hundred persons, "What is the news?" And ninety out of the hundred will reply, "Nothing special." And yet fifty out of that number know something that if not found in the next paper will astonish them greatly and disappoint them more and perhaps make them "madder" than hornets. Don't be afraid to let the newspaper man know it.

Alturas Plaindealer: Old stagers like Dr. W. H. Patterson and Ben Cambron are not to be foiled in a purpose by washouts on railroads. They had business at Reno, and it was urgent. They jumped on an engine at Alturas Saturday evening and went to Likely. From there they boarded a motor car and went to Hot Springs where they took the Fernley Lassen, and finally reached Reno on the S. P. train. It takes an old time Westerner to surmount difficulties.

In the absence of Superintendent Lawson and two guards, as members of the National Guard sent to maintain martial law in Baker County, Edwin W. Jurgens bored and sawed his way out of the State Penitentiary. Jurgens was committed from Douglas County last January, and was serving a term from 10 years to life for attempted robbery and assault with a deadly weapon. He was regarded as one of the state's most dangerous convicts.

It has become known that a general outline of the tentative draft of anti-trust legislation prepared by majority members of the House Committee is practically prepared for action by the full committee, subject to a conference with President Wilson. It is stated that the bill will cover these three main points: First, interlocking directorates. Second, trade relations and prices. Third, injunction proceedings and damage suits by individuals.

Hiram Johnson has announced that he would seek re-election as governor of California. He said personally he would prefer to be a candidate for the United States senatorship, but had decided to seek the governorship again, as in that capacity he believed he could be of better service to his constituents. How considerate.

Newspaper reports have it that a well-defined suspicion is gaining ground through the state that Governor West is far from being through with politics at the end of his present term as Governor and that in reality is laying careful plans to become a candidate for the Democratic nomination for United States Senator against George E. Chamberlain.

No timber land will be subject to the income tax until the timber is cut and marketed, and then only the profit, after the cost, which will include protection of the growing timber, is deducted, will be subject to assessment, according to an interpretation of the new law by the secretary of American Forestry Association.

Merrill Record. The Record office has been house-cleaning the past ten days in preparation for the arrival of its new Inter-type machine. We hope next week's paper will be the last one with hand set type. The editor regrets now that he did not order it shipped by parcel post instead of by freight.

Apparently the Governor's present clean-up crusade will become state-wide. Aside from his various maneuvers in Baker County he has given Mayor Anderson of The Dalles assurance that the Governor's office would back him up in seeing the liquor laws enforced in his city.

Dr. William E. Ritter, professor of zoology and director of the Biological Institution at La Jolla, Cal., declares that the ocean regulates climate on the Pacific Coast, and advances the theory that the ocean may be used for correctly forecasting the weather in the future.

THE STATE SHOULD CONSTRUCT ROADS

Bourne Disapproves of Federal Aid in Construction of Highways.

Washington, Jan. 13.—"Extensive highway improvement should begin with the improvement of the main traveled highways used by farmers in hauling their produce to market," asserts former Senator Jonathan Bourne Jr., Chairman of the Joint Good Roads Committee. "That is one reason why my plan for Federal Aid leaves control of construction with the states. If control should be vested in the Federal Bureau, there would be danger of disregard of local needs and wishes. It may be that in a few states the greatest need is for inter-state highways. If so, the local authorities should so determine, and not have the matter decided for them by officials in Washington.

"I see no occasion for material controversy between the advocates of improvement of main traveled market roads and the advocates of construction of trans-state or inter-state roads.

In general, the roads used chiefly by farmers, will, when connected, form a state highway. The road used by automobilists are, as a rule, the same road the farmers use the most. But there is no occasion for criticism if a portion of the road funds are used for improving stretches of road that will be used chiefly for pleasure. Automobilists are among the heavy taxpayers and they have a right to participate in the benefits of road expenditures. On the other hand, the auto owner who lives in a city has occasion to use a local market road a dozen times where he uses a long-distance trunk road once. It is to his interest to have the local road improved first.

"But, from any and every viewpoint, it is fundamental that control of road construction should remain with the state and not be turned over to the Federal Government."

New Accounting System

A new uniform system of bookkeeping for all State and county offices has been inaugurated in Oregon. The last legislature created a new law providing for the system of accounting and the State Insurance Commissioner was empowered to prepare ledgers, blanks, forms, etc. for its use, having until January 1 to complete this work and get the system started over the state. County Clerk Payne just received the supplies for this county yesterday. The system will cause considerable more work in all the offices and the supplies necessary for its inauguration require considerable expense by the county.

Shipping Hay

The following item of local interest is from the Reno Gazette: Two hundred narrow gauge cars of hay, equal to a train of 67 standard cars are being transferred from the N.-C.-O. railway to the Southern Pacific main line in Reno at the rate of 6 small cars daily. The hay is being sent to California markets by F. McArthur, of Likely, and has been purchased by Charles E. Grosse, of San Francisco. It consists of baled timothy and grass hay and is reported to have brought a price of $14 on board the cars at Likely. The total of the shipment is in the neighborhood of 1,000 tons.

Presbyterian Church

Rev. George A. Crawford, Minister.
10 A. M. Bible School. Classes for all ages.
11 A. M. Preaching. Subject: "What shall it profit a man if he shall gain the whole world and lose his own soul?"
Music: Violin solo by Mr. Gott, using double stops throughout. Vocal solo and Mixed quartet selections.
7:30 P. M. Popular lecture on "John Cryostom." This will be the second lecture in the series of "Historical Studies in the Spiritual Life."
Song service, vocal and instrumental music.

While in some single items Oregon's yield in 1913 was somewhat below that of the previous year, her total product for the year has never been surpassed. The market value of cereals produced in the state was approximately $5,000,000 less than for 1912, but with this one exception material gains were made in all agricultural lines.

Humorous Lecture

Rev. Geo. B. Fesse of the Methodist Episcopal church will deliver a humorous lecture "That Girl's Fellow" Friday evening, January 23, at the Methodist church, unless other arrangements are made. The entertainment will be held under the auspices of the Ladies Aid Society of the church. Judging by the past public appearances of Mr. Fesse his ability as an interesting speaker is well established, and from the fact that so few lecturers reach Lakeview, the coming attraction will doubtless be awaited with much anxiety.

L. C. I. C. Meet

The L. C. I. C. will meet at the city Hall Tuesday, Jan. 20, at 2:30 P. M. All members are requested to come. Iva B. Welch, Sec.

Baby Exhibition

At a recent meeting of the managers of the Oregon State Fair, arrangements were made for an Eugenic exhibition this year. The age limit will be the same as last year, from 12 to 48 months, and the boy and girl winning the championship prizes will be rewarded by a trip to the San Francisco Exposition in 1915, including all expenses for one week. O. M. Plummer, manager of this department, states that he has served notice on the whole United States that Oregon is going to send to San Francisco two of the finest babies and he expects the other states to accept the challenge, and see there a collection of 100 of the most perfect children in the world.
