They came as far as the Tull ranch in their auto but found the mountain this side impassable with a machine. They will remain here several days or business connected with the leasing of grazing lands to local stockmen.

Attractive Window Displays
We note with much interest the way some of our enterprising local merchants are putting forth every effort this spring to make their local stores attractive. Among the stores that are paying particular attention to their windows are the Lakeview Mercantile Company, Bailey & Massingill and A. Bieber.

An attractive window display brightens up the appearance of the whole store and draws much attention from passers-by. It has the proper effect upon prospective buyers as well as making a good impression upon outside visitors.

Wm. Harvey Improving Slowly
By private communication received here from Mrs. Harvey it is learned that her husband who received serious injuries at Merrill is recovering slowly, and is yet in a precarious condition. The news given in the letter is not entirely encouraging for Mr. Harvey's permanent recovery, but the many local friends of the family hope for the best.

Rogue River Has Freeze
While the Rogue River Valley is considered a very favored locality with the best of climate and soil for fruit production, the fact that growers have their difficulties is shown in a lengthy article in the Medford Mall-Tribune giving an account of a heavy frost that visited that section on Wednesday night of last week.

"It was a freeze rather than a frost and extended well into the foothills," states the Tribune. The smudge pot was resorted to, and enormous oil used in prevention of frost to save the million dollar pear crop. It is estimated that $5000 worth of oil was burned in the one night. A. C. Allen alone burned 6000 gallons at Holly orchard and 4000 pots were consumed at 401 orchard, with other orchards burning in proportion.

Piano Recital
A popular piano recital will be given in the High School auditorium Wed. evening, April 22, by Perry Burton Arant, instructor in piano and theory of music. Mr. Arant has spent several months in the preparation of a program that will appeal to all lovers of popular music. The numbers selected present a variety of style and mood for the refined elegance of the famous Humoresque to the stormy defiance of the Revolutionary Etude and the frenzied excitement of the Sixth Rhapsody. An interesting feature will be a description of each number printed on the program.

Some press comments on Mr. Arant's work follow:
The program of an hour's length, represented a variety of composers and styles, and from the opening measures of the rhythmic Bach down to the brilliant and thrilling passages of the 'Eri-King.' Mr. Arant was master of himself and his hearers. His playing was marked by its clearness and exact technique and by a virility and certainty of touch that is characteristic of all his work." (Weekly Index, Pacific University.)
Admission: reserved seats 50 cents; general admission, 25 cents; children and school 25 cents. Seats may be reserved at Thornton's Drug Store on and after Wednesday, April 15.
