FLAG DAY

Next Sunday, June 14, will be Flag Day and let us hope its observance will be general throughout the land.

One hundred years ago it was waved over a region of less than one fourth the area covered by our country today. Then all beyond the Mississippi was a region unknown, and over which roamed countless herds of wild animals and wilder men. It was a land of imagination and of desolation—the "Great American Desert" back from which none returned who ventured within its mysterious embraces.

How different today! Robbed of its mystery and its terrors, it is a land of homes, of farms, villages, towns and cities. From the "Father of the Waters" to the farthest point lavied by the Pacific waves, it is the home of civilized men, of schools, of churches; and proud cities rear their spires heavenward whose silence was then unbroken save by the howl of the wolf, the scream of the eagle and the shouts of the savage men.

But if such gigantic strides have been made in the past, who shall prophesy the future of the young giant? Imagination, flags and conjecture is lost in the magnitude of its possibilities. Yet one hundred years from today the old flag should wave over men and women, not alone greater, but freer, happier, and better. Noblesse oblige, is the inexorable decree of the Almighty. And if we should survive as a nation, or rather as a nation of nations, we cannot shirk our responsibilities for much will be required of Him to whom much has been given.

Wave on old flag. And may you continue to wave while the old hills stand and the St. Lawrence, the Mississippi and the Columbia shall run to the sea. And over a people ever greater, freer, happier, better and purer.

LEASE THE SALT LAKES

The Portland Journal offers the following pertinent suggestions, editorially, regarding the development of one of Oregon's greatest undeveloped industries—extraction of the valuable deposits of Summer and Abert lakes in this County:

Why not convert a problem into a process? Why not apply the leasing system to the valuable salt and other deposits in Abert and Summer Lakes?

It is probable that there are men who would take the properties on a lease, subject to wise and beneficial terms that the state would impose. One expert has already explained that on such a plan, a fit royalty could be paid the state, the product could be sold lower than the usual figures, that labor could be given better than the going wages in the industry, that there could be provision for an eight hour working day, and that there would still be ample profit for the operator.

Many benefits would come from such a plan. There would be no chance for over-capitalization of the business and the usual payment of dividends on watered stock, a process that is adding heavily to the cost of living and contributing enormously to the severity of the average man's struggle for survival.

There would be an assured revenue to the state for many years, or until the deposits should be exhausted. There would be the benefits to the labor employed in proper working hours and in better wages than are now paid in the same industry. There would be the further advantage of the product sold to the public on a strictly business basis, without the inflated values created by over capitalization and the bogus dividends drawn on stock consisting entirely of fiction.

It is a program of broad justice, freed from manipulation and corporation jobbery. It is a plan for the state to get its just dues, for the workers to get real workers' rewards and for the consumers of the product to be guaranteed perfect protection.

That the new management of the N.-C.-O. Railway is going to change the methods of doing business that have prevailed heretofore is evidenced by the fact that four carloads of blooded stock were shipped to their destinations last Monday on the regular passenger train. Under former conditions the cattle would have had to be unloaded at Likely and remain over night, necessitating quite a heavy expense upon the shipper, to say nothing of the extra time consumed. The order for the shipment on the passenger train was made by General Manager Cox, and every man connected with the road including Traffic Manager McNamara, Train Master Whatley and Agent Class, as well as the train crews took especial pains to have the shipment come through quickly and safely. If the spirit exhibited by the railroad in this instance is only half way met by the people in general, the N.-C.-O. will prove a rich blessing to the whole section of country which it serves, for it is service rather than rates that we of Goose Lake Valley are desirous of securing.

Volcano Continues

A press dispatch from Red Bluff, dated June 8, says that at 4:30 p. m. that day a column of steam seven hundred feet high shot out of Mount Lassen, and reports that the mountain was emitting fire.

Lassen, which is at the foot of the Cascade range and in a vast volcanic field, began to steam the first of last week. Investigation by forest rangers showed that melting snow, running into fissures, had started a new geyser formation, some forty feet long. The mountain quieted down after a day or so.

Sunday heavy snows were reported from the Lassen district. They were colored pink by a small animal creation in them, a not unusual phenomenon in the coast and Cascade mountains. It is thought probable that the snows are causing the new steam jets.

Rain Leaves Yellow Coat

According to various reports from over the state the heavy rains last week in many places left a strange yellow coating on the ground in some places it being a sixteenth of an inch in thickness. This was thought by many to be sulphur and various theories for the phenomenon were advanced, among which was the one that it was due the eruption of Mt. Lassen in California.

The same condition was plainly noticeable on the ground here but created no excitement. A portion of the substance was analyzed but it showed no contents of sulphur. This yellow coating on the ground following a rain this time of year has been noticeable here before and it is generally attributed to pollen from the flowers and trees.

Will Be June Bride

Don't miss the tiniest of June brides at the Opera House, Saturday evening at 8 o'clock. Miss Theodora Tabitha Tinytot will wed Leander Lijah Littleman.

Miss Tinytot has chosen for her maid of honor, Miss Ruth Koozer. Although this is Miss Koozer's first season she is a general favorite with the younger set and rumor has it that Mr. Teddy Conn, the lively groomsmen has been paying her marked attention.

Mr. Leander Littleman, better known as Ramon McComb, is soon to lead to the altar the charming Miss Tinytot. Mr. Littleman is a youth of sterling qualities and accepts courageously the bride the fates have selected for him.

Miss Tinytot's bridesmaids are Nellie McDonald, Dices Auten, Mary Priddy, Maxine McKendree, Wilma Grob and Norine Gibbins.

Wendt Takes Examination

William W. Shea, Civil Service Examiner of San Francisco Division, held a civil service examination for postmasters in Lakeview at the U. S. Land Office on June 9. Henry Wendt, Jr., postmaster of New Pine Creek, was the only applicant to take the examination.

Mr. Wendt was appointed postmaster of New Pine Creek January 13, 1911, having held the office continuously since. He has conducted the office in a satisfactory manner to all patrons, keepink it open from early morning until late at night and all day on Sundays.

Will Not Recognize Huerta

The United States is unwilling to extend recognition to a new provisional president of Mexico if named according to the method prescribed by the Mexican delegates. The method is that General Huerta would appoint a minister of foreign affairs the man who is agreed upon at the conference at Niagara Falls to head the new government. The complications threatening the peace conference by Huerta's order to blockade Tampico vanished when the order of the provisional president was rescinded, and brighter hopes appear for a peaceful settlement of affairs.
