Advices Young Mothers

Portland, Ore.—It surely is a pleasurable duty to recommend Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription to mothers and prospective mothers, for I found in this medicine a wonderful help during expectancy and afterward. I was physically frail and feared the consequence of motherhood, but I gained in physical strength. The tonic effect of the 'Favorite Prescription,' together with the 'Golden Medical Discovery,' overcame the general weakness I had. Nature was greatly helped through expectancy and I shall always have a good word for Dr. Pierce's medicines, because they have been so much help to me, just at the time I most needed strength.—Mrs. Wm. Bradley, 545 Albina Ave. Write Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel in Buffalo, N. Y., for free medical advice or send 10c for trial pkg. of any of his medicines.

It has been estimated that there are always 1,000 thunderstorms in progress in different parts of the world, and that their energy is equal to about 100,000,000 horse-power.

Remarkable Vitality of Fleas.

Small water fleas have been known to lie dormant for 40 years in dried mud, without losing their power of actively living when the mud was again moistened.

Cannot Prey on Small Fish.

The big whalebone whale has so small a throat that it cannot swallow fish of ordinary size. Its food consists of little life forms found in the sea. The toothed whales eat any living thing they can catch.

Lincoln vs. You

Lincoln belongs to the ages. He was a man among men and the world today recognizes his genius of character.

Lincoln was self-taught. Instead of waiting for someone to pour knowledge into him, he would walk miles to secure a book that he might pursue the quest of knowledge which was his supreme necessity with him throughout his life.

Lincoln instinctively knew that knowledge was the key that unlocks the door to fame and fortune, or any success that man desires. He went directly after knowledge to prepare himself so that when his chance came he would be ready.

You may look handsomer than Lincoln; you may have more native strength than Lincoln; you may have an intellect that could easily be developed, but if you have not the burning desire to develop yourself, you are certain to stick in the mud-neck class.

Knowledge is distinctly a matter of inclination. If you do not secure knowledge you are just as certain to suffer for your lack of development in a mental way as you would certainly suffer for lack of it if you laid in bed all the time and would neglect to develop your muscles. Laziness leads to pain and failure. If you insist on being lazy, the law of compensation will force you to pay compound interest for your idleness. You will be whipped and scourged and made to do the meanest work of the world. There are laws of necessity are sure to overtake you. You must eat and people will insist that you eat when you are not hungry. You must work and people will insist that you work when you are not tired.

Lincoln knew that the world will never forgive failure. Logically he equipped himself to succeed and he did succeed. You, too, can succeed if you are prepared yourself for the battle of life.

The greatest asset in life is a strong character and the ability to express yourself. If you are dumb as a dog you will receive the reward of dumbness. You must be a man of some rich man's table, who understands the way to express himself.

The great mass of men have made no effort to develop themselves. Nearly all are capable of infinite development, but they do not realize it. They are paralyzed by the thought that they are inferior when in reality the only difference between a successful man and themselves is development.

They could easily grow if they would get busy and develop themselves as Lincoln and other great men have done. You do not have to be a super-man or a giant of intellect, but you do have to be just a little better than the average to be selected to occupy a seat of honor and ease where you will work less and get more.

If you simply develop the stiff back of a jack-ass and the physical strength of a mule you will naturally be paid for brute strength and nothing more, because that is all your equipment will enable you to render in doing the work of the world.

Lincoln wisely learned to talk convincingly. We are offering Dr. Frederick Hook Law's course on "Mastery of Speech," which will quickly develop your ability to express yourself effectively.

The good talker, you have noticed, is the fellow who goes in the lead every time.

Dr. Frederick Hook Law, of Oxford Academy, Amherst College, and Brown University, holding the degrees of A. B., A. M., and Ph. D., has prepared a course entitled "Mastery of Speech," that is not only simple but exceedingly interesting. By following the instructions he gives, it is possible for anybody to become a convincing talker. Probably not Demosthenes, but a rattling good, entertaining speaker.

Do not delay. Cut off this coupon today and send it in without any money, and we will send you this course for $3.50. Settle with the postman when he delivers it.

AMERICAN NEWSPAPER ASSN. of Portland, Ore. 418-19-20 U. S. National Bank Bldg.

Gentlemen: Please mail me Dr. Law's course, "Mastery of Speech." I will pay the postman $3.50 on delivery, which completes the transaction and pays for the course in full. Thereafter the course is mine absolutely.

Something to Think About

By F. A. WALKER

THE OLD CIRCLE

THE natural inclination in man, when he is lost in the woods, or is floundering around in business for which he is not qualified, is to move in a circle.

The carrier pigeon flies straight to his destination; the horse goes unguided through the darkest night to his stable.

A man may have genius or merely ordinary talent, but if he cannot move straight ahead, think clearly and keep his mind upon his work, he is plodding around and around, arriving at the end of the year at about the same spot from which he started, still befuddled, and decidedly less courageous.

Such a man, and there are thousands of them, is not built for success. He is apt to take no reckoning of his progress until some one beside him who has been thinking effectively in straight lines moves up to where opportunity is greater and reward is richer.

This rude awakening causes but a temporary shock to his numb sensibilities, lasting perhaps a day or two, but producing in him no material change for the better.

If any serious doubt as to his ability should come to him at such a time as this, it is instantly banished as too burdensome, and he continues his aimless trot in the old circle.

He doesn't ask himself whether he is dependable, whether he thinks constructively or whether he thinks at all. He doesn't ask whether he is given to watching the clock and stealing away frequently from his work to inhale the aroma of his favorite cigarette.

He doesn't ask whether he in all his time in his present position has made a single suggestion of value to his employer.

Ah, no! He has the faculty of avoiding dubious obligations, especially those that would be likely to impose upon him an additional stroke of work, or interfere with his plans for pleasure among his night associates.

Such a man is not qualified for straight thinking or straight going. He is not capable of handling things with intelligence and in the depths of his heart he knows it.

He is a failure, and for no other reason in the world than his own perverseness in moving in the old circle—wandering about the best part of his life in the wilderness.

Avoid Affectation. It is highly desirable that you should be one man, all of one piece, and appear outwardly such as you are inwardly.—William Law.

THE COMMON HEART

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

THE Lord has made us much alike. And made us all akin: Three meals a day, and work and play. And night to slumber in. We're high and low, we're rich and poor.

And think we are apart; But, in our pain, our joy again, We have the common heart.

The Lord has made us much alike, However else it seems: The poorest man has still his plan, His visions and his dreams. And, if humanity shall rise, Together we must start. The high and low together, so We have the common heart.

The Lord has made us much alike And made us like to Him. Build not so high the shadows lie Another's path to dim. All you can suffer He can feel, And tears of sorrow smart. The eyes of all, as hotly fall Upon the common heart.

The Lord has made us much alike— Think not of class nor class, But understand and shape the land Remembering the mass. Grant rich or poor the rightly his, There lies the statesman's art— With justice thrilled, the nation built Upon the common heart!

with a purpose are moved more by jealousy than any other motive. As soon as you discover that other people can be afraid of you, you will cease to be afraid of them. Then your fears gradually will subside.

Fear is instinctive in most of us. It is one of the results of the desire for self-preservation that is as old as the race.

But it is always a handicap. The thing that you should be most afraid of is fear—the fear that makes you a weak pliant creature, with your faculties paralyzed, and all the elements of progress that are in you terrified into inaction.

Uncommon Sense

By JOHN BLAKE

DON'T BE SCARED

FEAR has done more harm in the world than drunkenness—which is saying a good deal.

The sooner you eliminate fear from your make-up, the sooner you will get where you are trying to go.

The man who has the best chance in the world is the man who is afraid to be scared—who has learned to fear fear.

The fear that saps a man's purpose and leaves him trembling and helpless on the threshold of life has many forms.

There is the fear of the rich and powerful—too common, even in this day when the rich and powerful can do little harm to their fellows.

There is the fear of poverty—a real fear, and one which is harder to shake off than all the others.

There is the fear of what other people will say, the fear of being ridiculed—the commonest and perhaps the most mischievous form.

Get them all out of your system. Remember that the rich and the powerful, of whose greatness you stand in awe, are only human beings, and that they have little reason for wanting to injure you, even if it were possible.

Get rid of the fear of poverty by thrift and frugality, which will enable you if necessary to live on little, and give you a reserve to tide you over if the loss of a job temporarily strands you on the beach.

As to the fear of ridicule, forget it altogether. The opinion of other people is more negligible than you suppose. And those who would ridicule you because you are working hard and

FOOD FOR THE CHILDREN

FOR the first two years of a child's life the food problem is not complex as his main diet is milk. At three months of age strained orange juice may be given, a teaspoonful at a time between feedings to great advantage, supplying fruit acid and vitamins which are invaluable for growth.

As the child grows he may eat more and more the food of the adult, but the wisest course to follow is simplicity of food, no mixing of several varieties, even if enjoyed by older palates.

Oatmeal, whole wheat and cereals which add bulk and furnish the desired energy are best for breakfast. Toast, egg and a cup of hot milk or a glass of cold, depending upon the season and taste of the child, is another good breakfast. For dinner, vegetables, very little well-cooked meat and a simple dessert is the wisest plan.

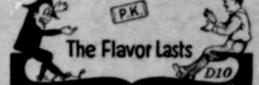

Steamed pudding with rich sauces and ice cream with sauces should be avoided. A pudding like the following is good and easily digested: Prune Pudding. Take one cupful of prunes, remove the stones and put through the meat chopper, add one-half cupful of sugar, two eggs well beaten, three cupfuls of milk, one-half teaspoonful of orange Elusive Clues. It is owing to successful medical detective work that smallpox and diphtheria have been robbed of much of their terror, the preventive of the one and the antitoxin for the other being the fruit of the following up of certain clues, so elusive as to have escaped observation for generations.

Real Wisdom in Advice. It was a wise philosopher that invented this saying: "Live as if every moment were your last." If we could heed this advice what a different complexion the world would wear for us. Instantly new values would spring into the mind. The common things of life would take on hues of brilliance.
