MRS. SIMPSON WILL LEAVE SOON

Mrs. Bianche Simpson, 601 Larabee street, who was compelled to cut short her visit to relatives and friends in the South to return to the sick bedside of her sister, was in The Advocate office this week to pay for "the old reliable" and stated that her sister, Mrs. Kanoma, was so much improved that she was expecting to return to Seattle within a few days. Mrs. Simpson will be greatly missed in church and social circles, where she has made her presence desired by her pleasing disposition and charming personality.

PURCHASE HOME

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Garnett are the proud owners of a modern seven-room bungalow at 1020 East 27th St. N. They plan to move in about the first of the month.

WOMAN SEEKS OFFICE, PLEADING FOR TOLERANCE

The first colored woman to run for public office in New York, probably in the United States, is Mrs. Lucille Randolph, who has been nominated as Socialist candidate for Alderman from the Twenty-first District.

Mrs. Randolph conducts a hair-dressing parlor in 135th street. Her husband, A. Phillips Randolph, was candidate last year for secretary of state, and is editor of a publication for people of his race.

Mrs. Randolph's platform calls for an international brotherhood, better schools for Harlem children, better housing, more playgrounds, clean streets and race tolerance.—Reprint from New York Daily News.

BOY IS GOOD SPELLER

Master Wayne Harjo received the honor of being among one of the best spellers in the 6th grade in all the grade schools in the recent city-wide school spelling contest. Master

Wayne is the son of Mr. and Mrs. M. Harjo, 692 Clinton street.

DT. ELKS INITIATE

At the regular meeting of Dahlia Temple, No. 202, I. B. P. O. E. of W., Tuesday night, twenty members were initiated into the rank of Third Degree members. An excellent meeting was had and the social session thoroughly enjoyed.

Dear Friend:

You who know the advantage of a good, competent and accredited music teacher won't miss this opportunity to enroll your children in these special classes:

Beginners or advanced pupils, prices suitable.

Pupils' progress attentively watched.

A special kindergarten music class every Wednesday afternoon where your little tots can successfully be interested in music and its refinements.

For further information call Walnut 4643.

MISS KATHERINE SIMPSON, Teacher.

A CARD OF THANKS

I wish to thank friends and acquaintances for their expressions of sympathy and kindness and the beautiful floral offerings during the illness and death of my beloved husband.

MRS. MILDRED HARRIS, 270 Caruthers Street.

PENDLETON NOTES

Among our people who are making good at Pendleton are Mr. and Mrs. Hobson. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Allen; Mrs. Hughes, who is one of the foremost caterers of the town. Mr. and Mrs. Overstreet, who run a hand laundry, are doing a good business. Others of the race are engaged as janitors, porters, bootblacks and day laborers, who are buying homes and making good citizens.

WILLIAMS AVENUE 'Y' NOTES

The High School Reserves spent a social hour at the 'Y' on Sunday. About 35 young people were present. The Blue Triangle Girls have agreed to meet each Friday night, instead of every other Friday night.

The "Gym" class is growing.

The swimming classes appear by far to be the most popular classes.

The Secretary visited St. John's Branch on Monday afternoon as the guest of Mrs. Shaw, Branch Secretary. She spoke briefly on the work of the Williams Avenue Branch.

The Grade School Reserves are planning a Thanksgiving Play for their mothers to be given December 1, 1923.

December 10th has been taken by the Williams Avenue High School Reserves.—Adv.

EMPEROR JONES IS ENJOYED BY PARIS AUDIENCE

PARIS, Nov. 10.—French dramatic critics were distinctly impressed at the opening performance at the Odéon of Eugene O'Neill's "The Emperor Jones."

While some of the atmosphere was lost by the translator using full French words and the spiritualist scene fell rather flat, the presentation was warmly received by a distinguished French audience. Benglia, the Senegalese actor, especially scored in the main part. Benglia qualified for the select Odéon direct from the Folies Bergères.

STALWART CITIZEN PASSES

Continued from page 1) his family. Indeed, it was in the home that Mr. Harris shone brightest; it was here he was at his best. And it seemed as though he thought in the language of the noted poetess, Nora Armstrong of local fame: "I will build a monument all my own. Silently, quietly in the home. Out of the solid granite rock. Saved from the shafts that have pierced my heart.

But if I reach the setting sun, Before my willing task is done, I pray you, in that silent hour To place one bright immortal flower Above my dear unpolished stone, In love's sweet memory of the home."

Up until a year ago, Mrs. Harris enjoyed excellent health, but since that time he rapidly declined until his death.

Rev. A. R. Fox, pastor of Bethel A. M. E. Church, of which Mrs. Harris is a member, assisted by his choir, conducted the funeral services Wednesday afternoon at one o'clock at J. P. Finley & Son, 5th and Mont. Interment in Riverview cemetery. The service, both at the mortuary and the cemetery, were quiet and impressive, and the floral offerings were numerous and exquisite.

Mr. Harris leaves to mourn their loss a wife, Mildred Harris, 270 Caruthers street, Portland, Oregon, and a brother, Sidney Harris, pioneer citizen of New Orleans, La., and a host of friends.

HOTEL NOTES

Doc Green, veteran waiter at The Portland for twenty years or more, celebrated his, well, we will say his 75th birthday anniversary, as he won't tell, Thursday last week. And the old boy cried just like a baby because no one gave him a present.

"Chuck" Williams, who won the football game for Washington High School last Saturday, when not attending school, is a relief bellhop at The Portland.

Frank Waldon, who might properly be styled the hard luck waiter and cook, was a caller at The Portland one day this week where he worked many years ago. Waldon let it be known that within a few days he is going to hike out to California.

The white Elks' million dollar Temple will open for business on or about December 1st. And the talk of having colored waiters in their spacious dining hall has ceased. We learn that a full crew of white help will be installed in every department.

THE SONGS OF SAM

Would-be Leaders (By Jove.)

Beware of would-be leaders, O son and daughter, for they are full of noise and foolish crap.

They howl about the wrongs of the Race and asketh four bits a howl.

They promise to lead forth to victory with a brass band and but leadeth thee closer to the murky pit.

When thou art not looking, they sneak to the back door of the peck and barter your brains for a mess of cabbage.

They telleth you to expect great things, and thou waitest many moons for nothing.

Use thy beans, O loved ones, and eschew the silver tongues of the mighty its.

They singeth everlastingly the weary blues and doeth nothing worth while.

Verily, thou canst not sing 'em and grab opportunity at the same time. For when opportunity heareth the minor strains, they shimmieth to the other side.

Hand thy would-be leaders the pick and shovel and tell them to dig 'long side of you.

Long is the way to go and it taketh sweat and not synecopation to reach the goal.

Leadership is no soft snap.

HE'S 200 PER CENT AMERICAN HE HATES EVERYBODY

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, 69 Flath Ave., today passed on an editorial from the Duluth News Tribune, of November 7, containing an account of one Indianapolis merchant's reply to the "100 per cent American" propaganda of hate. The editorial is as follows:

Answered in Eight Words
It isn't often that an effective answer to nation-wide propaganda can be condensed into eight words,—but one Indianapolis merchant accomplished this feat recently.

Indiana has been swept by the Ku Klux Klan, and is now said to share with Ohio the doubtful honor of having the greatest number of Klan members of any state in the Union.

One Indianapolis merchant was stirred by the "100 per cent American" doctrine that involved the necessity of hating at least three very large groups of Americans—the Catholics, the Jews and the Negroes. He therefore displayed across the front of his store the following sign:

"I am 200 per cent American; I hate everybody."

There isn't anything more to be said on the subject. That tells the whole story. If hatred of Catholics, Jews and Negroes makes a man a "100 per cent American," then he ought to be doubly "American" if he hates the Methodists, the Baptists, the Swedes and all the rest of his fellow citizens.

It is a perfect answer to a doctrine of hate, fear and suspicion.

BE DROPPED

Beginning December 1, 1923, The Advocate will be compelled to drop all delinquent subscribers to the paper. It is a great burden for the paper to carry those who will not pay their bills. We take pleasure in extending every courtesy to our readers but we feel they should not impose upon us. We must pay our printer's bills and therefore we feel that you should pay us so that we may meet our obligations. Again when we are kind enough to extend credit to advertisers such as those who advertise dinners, lectures, balls and the like, we feel that it is only fair to us that at the expiration of the advertisement you should come in immediately and pay for it. We will be very pleased to have our patrons consider this matter in the same spirit in which we bring it to your attention.

PROCKS FOR AUTUMN WEAR

Paris sponsors black for early Autumn wear, featuring heavy satin and satin-surfaced materials for semi-dressy frocks. To the left is a crepe-back satin trimmed with finely checked black-and-white silk. The closing is at the left side, and panel plaits in self-material give a charming touch of decoration without destroying the effect of simplicity. Medium size requires 4 1/2 yards 36-inch satin.

Dark navy-blue satin is used for the second model, which may be trimmed either with lace or figured silk, according to the purposes for which the dress is intended. The girle is laid in small plaits and finished at the back under a fancy buckle. It may have sash-ends, however. The drapery at the left side falls below the hem of the skirt, fulfilling the function of truly Parisian draperies. Medium size requires 3 1/2 yards 36-inch satin and 1 yard figured material.

First Model: Pictorial Review Dress No. 1598. Sizes, 34 to 50 inches bust. Price, 35 cents.

Second Model: Dress No. 1606. Sizes, 34 to 48 inches bust, and 16 to 20 years. Price 35 cents.

Villa Lewars, Irvington-on-Hudson, where the wedding reception of Miss Mae Walker-Robinson to Dr. Henry Gordon Jackson of Chicago will be held following a noon-day wedding ceremony. Nine thousand invitations have been issued and guests are expected to attend from all parts of the country. The bride-to-be is a granddaughter of the late Mme. C. J. Walker of a "dollar-a-day washer to a million dollar fame," made from her beauty preparation sales. It is reported that the trousseau of the bride-to-be was made by and purchased from colored people. Among those who received invitations in Portland to the wedding was The Advocate. One thousand invitations were personal and eight thousand issued to the Mrs. Walker agents.
