Pattering trout by the light of electric bulbs is the novel idea of Charles Wolf, caretaker of a large hatchery on Lake Chetek, Wis. Wires have been strung over the numerous trout pools on the hatchery and to these are attached electric bulbs, which, when lighted, attract moths and flies, enabling the trout to leap at them from the water.

An offer guaranteeing the government against loss up to $500,000 if congress should enact the Curtis-Aswell bill providing for a national farm marketing system, owned, controlled and directed by the farmers, was made Sunday by B. DRY AGENTS FREE TO SEARCH Warrant Not Required in Stopping Autos Says Supreme Court.

Washington, D. C.—Federal prohibition agents may lawfully stop automobiles and other vehicles and search them for contraband liquor without a warrant, the supreme court decided Monday in a case from Michigan, brought by George Carroll and John Kiro.

In another liquor case decision, brought from Georgia by Sig Samuels, the court held that states may, under the constitution, make unlawful the possession of liquor acquired legally before enactment of the federal prohibition act.

Chief Justice Taft delivered the opinions in both cases, Justices McReynolds and Sutherland dissenting in the former, and Justice Butler in the latter.

Declaring that "it would be intolerable and unreasonable if a prohibition agent were authorized to stop every automobile on the chance of finding liquor, and thus subject all persons lawfully using the highways to the inconvenience and indignity of such a search," Chief Justice Taft asserted that "those lawful, within the country entitled to use the public highways have a right to free passage without interruption or search unless there is known to a competent official, authorized to search, probable cause for belief that vehicles are carrying contraband or illegal merchandise."

It was the intent of congress, however, to make a distinction between the necessity for a search warrant in the searching of private dwellings and of automobiles, the chief justice stated, and that distinction was constitutional. There is no provision in the constitution which denounces all searches or seizures without a warrant, he said, adding that it prohibits only "unreasonable searches or seizures."

"The guaranty of freedom from unreasonable searches and seizures has been construed practically since the beginning of the government," he explained, "as recognizing a necessary difference between a search of a store, dwelling house or other structure in respect of which a proper official warrant readily may be obtained, and a search of a ship, motorboat, wagon or automobile for contraband goods, where it is not practicable to secure a warrant because the vehicle can be quickly moved out of the locality or jurisdiction in which the warrant must be sought."

Pacific Trade Growing.

New York.—America's trade with Asia, Oceania and Latin-America has increased largely in the last 10 years, statistics compiled by the National City bank showing that imports from Asia and Oceania had expanded to $580,000,000 in 1924 compared with $329,000,000 in 1914 and from South America $466,000,000 against $223,000,000.

Exports to these countries also showed striking gains, those to Asia and Oceania being $671,000,000 in 1924 in contrast to $197,000,000 in 1914, and to South America $315,000,000 against $125,000,000. Demand for silk, wool, jute and hides swelled the imports.

Portland Gets Veterans' Hospital.

Washington, D. C.—A bill to appropriate an additional $10,000,000 for hospital facilities for world war veterans was passed Monday by the house and sent to the senate, which later passed the measure.

In urging passage the house veterans' committee pointed out that approximately $45,000,000 thus far had been expended for hospital facilities for veterans of the world war. Director Hines of the veterans' bureau requested an additional appropriation of $14,887,500. Selection of sites would be left to the veterans' bureau director.

Coolidge Order Upheld.

Washington, D. C.—The president has authority under the constitution to pardon persons held in contempt of court in criminal cases, the supreme court held Monday in a decision upholding the pardon granted by President Coolidge to Philip Grossman of Chicago. The court ordered Grossman discharged from the Chicago house of correction. He already is out on bond, granted by the court pending the decision.

Linen Mill Contracted.

Salem, Or.—The contract for the construction of the new B. C. Miles linen mill to be located near the state fair grounds was awarded Monday to A. A. Siewert. INAUGURAL RITES END MANY TERMS

Government Personnel Change to Be Marked.

NEW FACES APPEAR

Attorney-General Sworn In as Member of Supreme Court—Kellogg Assumes State Portfolio.

Washington, D. C.—President Coolidge will go to the capitol to take the oath of office on Wednesday at noon, and the manifold activities necessary to the change of administrations in Washington already are in full swing.

To Mr. Coolidge the program on March 4 means merely the dropping of the role he has played in carrying through the Harding-Coolidge administration and the taking up of the presidency in his own right, but to many, including cabinet officers, members of the senate and house and others, it marks their definite departure from the life of the capitol.

In government departments where new cabinet heads take office the work of gathering up loose ends is in progress, so that the incoming secretaries may find themselves with clean slates. Secretary Hughes, who relinquished the helm at the state department, is planning a vacation, and the way is being prepared for the installation in his place of Frank B. Kellogg, ambassador to Great Britain.

Harlan F. Stone, the retiring attorney-general, will go to the chambers of the supreme court to take the oath as an associate justice, and Howard M. Gore, secretary of agriculture, relinquished his post to take over that of governor of West Virginia. With the exception of these three, no cabinet changes took place.

At the capitol offices are prepared for Charles G. Dawes, who as vice-president, will preside over the senate, but according to present indications he will not be called for duty in that capacity for many months. President Coolidge has indicated no intention of calling congress into an extended extra session, and Washington faces the prospect of the longest summer recess since pre-war days.

Both in the senate and house the usual frantic rush was on in the last two days to clear the legislative crush which always accompanies the end of a congress. Members who had built hopes on certain pet legislation have been busy for weeks in efforts to obtain consideration for their measures.

In the legislative branch of the government as well as in the administrative, saw some notable retirements from political activity. The 68th congress, whose record in investigations has been unequalled, already has lost by death a number of its leaders, including Senator Lodge of Massachusetts. With the fall of the final gavel, others who have figured prominently in public life retired.

Included in those who will not return when the next congress convenes is Magnus Johnson, the picturesque farmer-labor senator from Minnesota. New members of the senate will include Frederic H. Gillett of Massachusetts, who relinquished the speakership of the house to enter the senate, and Cole L. Blaeser, the fiery South Carolina democrat.

The house rolls carries a long list of familiar figures who will not return, including General Isaac Sherwood, democrat, of Ohio, who entered congress first more than 50 years ago; Representative Winslow of Massachusetts, who has served as chairman of the powerful commerce committee, and Representative Sanders of Indiana, who is retiring to take up the duties of secretary to the president, succeeding C. Bascom Slemm.

Stone to Take Office.

Washington, D. C.—Harlan Fiske Stone of New York city put on the robes of office Monday as a member of the supreme court of the United States. He is the third attorney-general in recent years to go upon the bench of the highest court, filling the vacancy caused by the voluntary retirement of Justice McKenna, a former attorney-general, and joining Justice McReynolds, likewise promoted from the department of justice.

Old Custom Brought Up.

Norfolk, Va.—The traditional naval custom that officers must be present when their cabins ashore are searched was brought up at an inquiry here into the discovery of liquor aboard a navy transport. Counsel for defendants raised the point, and Captain Wilbert Smith, who directed the raid on the ship, declared he did not insist on the custom because he was "more interested in a quick search of the vessel."

Build Bridge in Rush.

A railroad bridge with a span of 137 feet was put in the place of an old one within 24 hours in England recently.
