John H. Morris, farmer of the Ping Gulch district for 24 years, and foreman of a county road crew, was blown to pieces by the accidental discharge of dynamite at Pomeroy, Wash., Saturday. Mr. Morris was preparing to blow a hole and it is believed the explosion resulted from the cramping of a cap on the fuse with his teeth.

The entire Roald Amundsen north pole expedition arrived safely in Spitzbergen in one plane. The party did not return to Kings bay by plane, but was picked up by a fishing boat and conveyed there. It is reported that the expedition reached north latitude 87 degrees 44 minutes, or about 200 miles from the north pole.

Wisconsin paid impressive tribute Sunday to Bob La Follette as his body lay in state under the great vaulted dome of the capitol at Madison, Wis. From high noon until the lengthening shadows of night had wrapped his homeland, persons from every walk of life, the humble shoulder to shoulder with the mighty, came for a last look upon the features of the man who had dedicated his life to their service.

5 Nations Pay on Debts.

Washington, D. C. — The treasury Monday received payments from Great Britain, Finland, Hungary, Lithuania and Poland. The payments were on account of their funded indebtedness to the United States.

PLANS ANOTHER TAX CUT

President Thinks Further $300,000,000 Reduction Possible.

Washington, D. C. — President Coolidge Monday night officially announced the possibility of an immediate reduction in income taxes of $300,000,000 or more on the basis of economies already effected and called for a further reduction in the cost of government which will make possible still further tax lowering.

This welcome news to all who pay taxes, directly or indirectly, was contained in a 25-minute talk which Mr. Coolidge, as head of the business—the business of governing this country of ours—made to several hundred department and bureau chiefs, telling them how to manage the affairs of the national corporation so as to yield the highest dividends of prosperity and welfare to the 115,000,000 stockholders.

While the government administrators must do all that is possible to cut down the cost of government, the biggest economies that could be effected lie with the people, Mr. Coolidge said, referring to the encroachment of the federal government upon local self-government, resulting in "a double burden of taxation"—federal taxes for donations to the states and state taxes "to meet the extravagance of state expenditures which are included by the federal donations."

Total public expenditures in this fiscal year, ending June 30, next, are $3,035,000,000, compared with $5,116,000,000 in 1921, while the public debt has been reduced from $23,977,000,000 to $20,551,000,000. That retrenchment the president pronounced unparalleled in history. It has made it possible to lighten the tax burden materially already, and yet it cannot be said that taxes have ceased to be a burden, the president said.

The aim of the government, Mr. Coolidge declared, must be to reach the point where taxes cease to be a burden. He estimated the surplus for this fiscal year at $200,000,000 and for the next fiscal year at $290,000,000, and said he would recommend to congress a reduction of taxes.

The orderly funding and rapid retirement of our war debt were dwelt on by the president. He pointed out that we are now paying $130,000,000 less interest than four years ago and of this amount $30,000,000 is due to the lower interest rates we now pay on borrowings as the result of improving our credit. "Pretty good pay for a sound policy," Mr. Coolidge dryly remarked of that $130,000,000.

Log Rate Probe Likely.

Washington, D. C. — The United States tariff commission will continue its consideration of a proposal that it send a committee to either Seattle or Portland to hear the views of lumber interests of the northwest upon a proposed change of the tariff on logs. With the announcement that the commission was considering the question of hearings on the log tariff, it became known here that northwest lumber mills are in sharp conflict over duties now in effect. A number of lumber companies which depend upon Canada for their logs are demanding a lower rate of duty, while those still drawing on considerable stands of timber in the United States are asking more protection.

Rattler Bites Woman.

Roseburg, Or. — Mrs. James Martin, who resides 20 miles west of Roseburg, was brought to this city Monday after being bitten three times by a rattler. Mrs. Martin will recover, physician stated. While after the cows she stepped on the reptile, which coiled about her ankle and struck her three times. She knocked the snake off with a small stick, tore a strip of her clothing and fashioned a tourniquet about the bites.

Boy and Rescuer Drown.

Seattle, Wash. — Mack McDougall, 60, was drowned here Monday, when he attempted to rescue Richard Long, 12, who also lost his life. McDougall saw the boy struggling in the Duwamish river and plunged into the water to save him, but was unable to bring him to shore. A number of persons witnessed the tragedy. The boy's body was recovered and volunteers strove to find the body of the man.

Meat Sanitation Is Hit.

Washington, D. C. — The need of better sanitary practices in the meat industry and the elimination of misleading advertising were urged by the department of agriculture Monday in a report covering the study of conditions in a score of cities.

While the investigators found most of the cities had adequate sanitary regulations for retail food distribution, they said few had effective enforcement.

J. N. Darling Is Honored.

Beloit, Wis. — J. N. Darling, whose cartoons signed "Ding" have grown famous, Monday received an honorary degree from Beloit college. Years ago, while an undergraduate there, he was suspended for drawing caricatures of the faculty. The honorary degree was doctor of letters.

Amundsen Plans in Air.

London. — A dispatch to the Morning Post from Oslo said nothing had yet been decided concerning Amundsen's return to Norway—whether he would fly back or come on board the government vessel Heimdal. The return of the explorer was not expected until about July 1, the dispatch added.

SINCLAIR VICTOR IN OIL LEASE SUIT

Teapot Dome Fraud Declared Unproved.

DENBY'S ACTION O. K.

Every Major Charge of Government Crushed. Fall Loan "Suspicious" Judge Holds

Cheyenne, Wyo. — Teapot Dome rightfully belongs to Harry F. Sinclair's Mammoth Oil company, T. Blake Kennedy, United States district judge, decided here Friday.

Government charges of collusion, scandal and fraud in the leasing of the dome by Secretary of the Interior Fall to the Mammoth company were buried deep under a voluminous legal decision, when Judge Kennedy completely upheld every act in the process which resulted in the granting of the big Wyoming oil field concession to Sinclair.

Beaten, but not ready to quit, counsel for the government, Albert D. Walton, United States district attorney, announced after the decision that an appeal would be taken.

Judge Kennedy's decision contended:

That the executive order signed May 31, 1921, by President Harding transferring the naval oil reserves from the jurisdiction of the navy department to that of the interior department was legal and not obtained from the chief executive by fraud.

That an act of congress of June 4, 1920, under which the lease and other negotiations were consummated, clothed the secretary of the navy with full power to do everything that was done in negotiating the naval oil leases.

That the "loan" of $25,000 by Sinclair to Fall in June, 1923, was a "suspicious circumstance," but that the ready explanation given by Sinclair's attorney, J. W. Zevely, to a senate investigation committee and the lack of evidence that any attempt at secrecy was made over the transaction gave it the badge of a legitimate transaction. That the government's allegations of fraud had not been sustained.

Every major allegation made by the government was crushed under the decision. Judge Kennedy near the end of the decision said:

"In reaching a conclusion in this case, we fully realize the degree of unpopularity with which it will be received. This is true in the nature of things, because the great general public is reached only with the sensational features surrounding the transactions involved, and is largely in the dark to all the other multitude of circumstances with which the case is surrounded and knows perhaps less of the great legal principles which the experience of the ages has taught mankind must control in dealing with the rights of persons and property."

LA FOLLETTE DIES OF HEART ATTACK

Washington, D. C. — Death brought to an end Thursday the daring and stormy political career of Robert M. La Follette of Wisconsin.

Peacefully, the Wisconsin senator, last year an independent candidate for president, passed away at his home here, a victim of heart attacks, from which he had been a sufferer for a decade, bronchitis and bronchial asthma.

To the last Mr. La Follette sought to ward off death's thrust, as he had done on several occasions in recent years, but when he realized that the fight was a losing one he called his son Robert to his bedside, and in an almost inaudible voice gave this last message to the public:

"I am at peace with all the world, but there is a lot of work I could still do. I don't know how the people will feel toward me, but I shall take to the grave my love for them which has sustained me through life."

Mexico City. — Addressing a gathering in Mexico City, Secretary of Industry and Commerce Louis N. Morones appealed for confidence in the government of President Calles. The address was delivered at the American chamber of commerce. He declared that Mexico knew she had rights to fulfill toward other countries, but also that she had certain rights as a self-respecting country, for which she would dig her own grave if necessary.

New York. — The New York American said Sunday that John E. Andrus of Yonkers, known as the "Millionaire Straphanger" because of his habit of using the subway to go to his office, would establish a huge trust fund for the care of sickly infants of the poor.

Mr. Andrus' wealth has been estimated at from $5,000,000 to $70,000,000, the first dollar of which was made by selling trout to Horace Greeley 75 years ago.
