REPRIEVE GRANTED "YELLOW CHARLESTON"

GOVERNOR SMITH REPRIEVES "YELLOW CHARLESTON" ON LAST FRIDAY

Slayer Of Baron Wilkins Granted Stay Of Execution Six Hours Before Execution Time

Preston News Service

Albany, N. Y. Sept. 11-- "Yellow Charleston" the convicted slayer of Barron Wilkins, was granted a reprieve by Governor Al Smith six hrs. before time for his execution. The reprieve is effective until September 17. Warden Laws at Sing Sing received a telephone message from Gov. Smith at 5 o'clock, and Julius Miller, alias "Yellow Charleston" was prepared to go to the chair at 11 o'clock.

It is said that Miller was dressed in the death suit of black and was resigned to the death penalty. He had requested that he be allowed to wear a tuxedo suit, but this had been denied him. When he received the news of his short lease on life, he cried, "Thank God", then broke down and wept, prison attendants said.

His wife and two daughters, seven and eight, were visting him when the news came. Miller had been nervous all day, prison attendants say. Keeper Sheehy said that when he visited Miller's cell in the forenoon, Miller jumped and shouted, "Have mercy on me".

It is said that the reprieve was granted through a direct request to Gov. Smith by District Attorney Benton. Mr. Benton says there is new evidence which may show that Miller is not guilty. The evidence was obtained through Earl Carroll, it is said.

Mrs. Harris Williams of El Paso, Texas, was the guest of Mrs. W. H. Myles, 290 Larrabee Street, Tuesday, the 8th. Mrs. Williams has been visiting in Seattle. She was beautifully entertained in the home of Mrs. G. N. White, 65 E. 10th Street at a delightful breakfast, after which she enjoyed a trip over the Highway. Mrs. Williams finds herself favourably impressed with Portand and intends to make the "city of roses" her home in less than a year. She left for her home in El Paso, Tuesday evening.

ASSOCIATE EDITOR OF THE ADVOCATE SPEAKS IN LONGVIEW, WASH.

Branch Of The National Association For The Advancement Of Colored People Organized

By Mrs. E. D. C.

Leaving Portland at noon Saturday, accompanied by my two sons, George and Ivan Canady and their little friend, Bobby Allen, and Mesdames Emily Austin and Matilda Bradley I arrived in Kelso, Wash., two hours later. We spent a few minutes visiting Mrs. William Gildon who resides in Kelso. Mr. and Mrs. Gildon formerly resided in Portland. Leaving the boys with Mrs. Gildon, we drove over to Longview where we were met by R. H. Johnson a pioneer colored man of Longview. Mr. Johnson escorted us to the home of Mrs. Paul W. Copeland, a leader among the white club women of the state. We found Mrs. Copeland a very interesting and well informed woman, possessing a fine spirit of fair-play towards the colored racial group in Longview. Upon learning we had not been to lunch, Mrs. Copeland immediately repaired to her kitchen, and, with her assistant, soon had a delicious lunch spread before us. Before taking our leave, Mrs. Copeland said she would be glad to go over into the colored neighborhood and do what she could to assist the colored women in their community work. She also is going to arrange to have me return and address the women of her group who reside there.

From Mrs. Copeland's, Mr. Johnson took us to see Rev. Gebbert, pastor of the white community church. We found Mr. Gebbert indisposed from a recent operation for removal of his tonsils. We had an interesting visit together and he invited me to fill his pulpit at an early date. Rev. Gebbert has a membership of approximately 2500 people. He also promised to assist Rev. Gardener with his work in the colored community church.

Leaving Rev. Gebbert's we went to the colored neighborhood. Here we found an area of about two square blocks with two rows of four-room cottages and one row of two-room shacks. We found some delightful people here: the Bates, Williams, Pinkstons, Freemans, Fointnois, Gadskins, Randolphs, Browns, Adams, Hicks, Johnsons and others whose names I do not recall. We personally called at every house in the place and talked with the people. Some of the homes were nicely furnished and well kept, no "more than is expected of intelligent people anywhere. But on the other hand, some are poorly furnished and worse kept. There is no sanitary sewerage system in this section; no paved sidewalks, no paved streets, no street lights, no telephones! They have a pretty little frame church building over which Rev. G. G. Gardener of Portland successfully presides. It is nicely painted on the outside and ready for interior decorations. I understand that the colored people cannot buy any property for residential purposes in the town and they pay rent for the church, not being permitted to purchase same.

The four-room houses rent for $17.00 per month and the two-room houses for $7.00 per month. The local Branch of the N. A. A. C. P. will no doubt take up the matter of some of the most urgent needs of the colord district. I also understand that on account of objections of some of the white citizens colored children are not permitted to attend the regular public schools and so far no arrangement has been made for them to go to school this year.

It is hoped that through their sense of fairplay and justice, the intelligent white citizens will see that no discriminaton is made against the colored children of Logview, whom we found to be lovely and well trained and well behaved.

Sunday morning, we all attended Sunday School at Rev. Gardener's church, taking part in the discussion of the lesson. At the close of the lesson,George and Ivan Cannady, Bobby Allen and Mesdames Austin and Bradley responded to a request to say a few words. I also gave the children a little talk, emphasizing the need of studying the lives of our own leaders.

At three o'clock in the afternoon I delivered my scheduled address to a fair sized audience, at the close of which, Mrs. Maud Bates sang a solo accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Pinkston. Mrs. Bates is a talented musician. Upon inquiry, every hand in the audience went up as desiring a branch of the N. A. A. C. P. I then proceeded to organize. The following officers were elected and installed: William Gildon, President; Mrs. Maud Bates, Vice Pres.; Mrs. B. F. Williams, Sec.; H. A. Williams, Tres. The executive board : R. H. Johnsson, Miss Maggie Williams, Rev. G. G. Gardner, M. C. Erricks and Mrs. Lula Gaskins.

The ladies of the Missionary Society served delicious refreshments.

We were pleased to note in the audience Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Ashford, Mrs. McClure and Mrs. Leftridge of Portland.

While there, we were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Gildon at their residence in Kelso. They entertained us royally, and we are indebted to them for much of the success of our visit. Rev. Gardener has the confidence of both colored and white citizens and he is destined to do a great work in that fast growing community.

A few of the colored men are employed as janitors, bootblacks and porters in the beautiful town of Longview while others are employed constructing railroads for the Long-Belt Lumber Company.

Every one seemed pleased with the work we did there and we enjoyed our visit immensely and look forward with pleasure to the date of our return to Longview.

Dear Mr. and Mrs. Cannady:- will I be forgiven if I send in only short paragraphs this week? Dawes and Billy Sunday both in the same week have been too much for me. I'm so terribly depressed - with political dyspepsia on the one hand and spiritual nausea on the other that any plain ordinary outlook on life just at present is impossble.

Hully gee, aren't the army and navy chiefs in a tight place! And all because a mere underling named Mitchell has a notion that he can be an American citizen and wear a U. S. uniform at the same time. People usualy say good-bye to their citizenship rights of free speech when they put on uniforms. Some one else does all the thinking and talking. "Yours only to obey". Yep, regular old Prussian doctrine!

Isn't it lovely to have some newspaper correspondent point the way out - like Mark Sullivan the Washington correspondent, who says that Col. Mitchell's criticisms are an exhibition of the temperament of the airman - ala prima donna". And from holy of holies on 6th and Alder Sts., comes an editorial suggesting an inquiry by a committee composed of "business men of sound judgment a-save the qualifications necessary in cle.in the Sunday Oregonian which read such silly twaddle as that artiRegents of the U of O. Did you ever of "the spokesman" of the Board of well deserved rebuke of the utterances courage to print in his magazine, a of the Oregon Voter who has the And now comes one C. C. Chapman find them.

men can be found but I predict that a Coolidge Congress wont be able to know where such a lot of business civilly biased". Well, Mr. Piper may of army and navy men would be "above the average"; because any group a candidate who would aspire to the presidency of the University. Several things were omitted and I was surprised that Chapman overlooked them.

One very important thing - was he to be married? And what kind of a wife must he have, a blonde or a brunette, tall or short, bobbed or unbobbed, ofcourse she must be a College graduate,- none without a degree could be permitted to live within the sacred precincts of the campus. The initials tacked onto one's name make one so much more useful in the world, you know. All the rest of us are just common fry, fit only to do the ugly, necessary work of the world. Please, Chapman, in your next issue, carry an expression from the "spokesman" on this point: must the candidate be married and is there any limit to the number of children he can have?

Now that gives me an idea! If it can be required that at least one child be under the age of 12 months, it can be arranged that this child shall be loaned to the practice house at the O. A. C. Thus will be begun the process of co-operation between the two colleges which is so much to be desired and about which Rabbi Wise had so much to say.

By the way, why didn't he say that a long time ago instead of waiting until train time? We needed just such a leader as he was - a Moses pointing the way out of the wilderness so to speak. But I want to go back to the presidency question and I want to ask another - is there no person in Oregon big enough to fill that chair? Why is it that when a position as is a real position, bobs up in Oregon, we've got to get somebody from from somewhere else to fill it? Our Oregon men and women spend years and all the money they can scrape together to fit themselves for work, and when the opportunity developes right here at home, the job takes wings over the mountains. WHY?

G. W. Turnham, a Spokane pioneer and a retired barber is visiting at the home of his brother, W. G. Turnham 471 Williams Ave. Mr. Turnham is taking Actinic Sun Ray treatments for his eyes at the Goodsight Institute in Portland. He has fond hopes of recovering his eyesight very soon.

WHITE CITIZENS OF LYNCHBURG VIRGINIA UNDERWRITE GIRLS SCHOOL

City Council And Chamber Of Commerce Guarantee Large Amount Of Money To Help

(Preston News)

Lynchburg, Va.--Sept. 11, At a conference in this city of the officials and leaders for Lynchburg and its Chamber of Commerce, Secretary I. Garland Penn, Cincinnati, Ohio outlined the plans of the Woman's Home Missionary Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church for the establishment of a Seminary for colored women at some point in the South, preferably Lynchburg.

As an inducement to locate the Seminary here, the City Council and Chamber of Commerce agreed to guarantee $25,000.

Five years ago the Society at its National Council in Detroit, Michigan, agreed upon Lynchburg. As the city and business interests are now ready to make good guarantees, it is expected that the National Council at its meeting in First Methodist Episcopal church, Pasadena, Cal., in October, will re-affirm the action taken at Detroit.

The Seminary is to be a select college for Colored girls, offering degrees and open to students from any section of the United States. Its main support will come from the Woman's Home Missionary Society which is the organiation of leading white and colored women of the Methodist Episcopal church. This organization had an income last year of over two million dollars.

Cocerning the guarantees made by the business men of Lynchburg, Sec., Penn said, on leaving the city for Cincinnati, that it was another evidence of the growing interest of white leaders in the south in higher education of the colored people, and another step in promoting more cordial and friendly inter-race relationships. The Seminary is to be known as The Carrie Barge Seminary, after Miss Carrie Barge, a noted and consecrated white woman and official of the Woman's Home Missionary Society living in Delaware, Ohio.

One thousand dollars will be expended on the first unit and the institution is expected to open for the scholastic year 1926-27. Already students have applied for entrance and are on the waiting list, as far away as Arizona.

Mrs. Cannady went to see the Governor who had granted her an audience on a very important matter. They also discussed many questions other than the business matter. The Governor has quite a collection of choice poetry and other literary gems, some of which he recited for us. He also presented Mrs. Cannady with an autographed photograph of himself. After a delightful hour or more with the Governor, the party spent the remainder of the afternoon and a part of the evening at the home of Mrs. Charles H. Maxwell, where they enjoyed music on the piano furnished by little Jeanneatte, the three year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Maxwell. Later Mrs. Maxwell served a delicious dinner. At seven o'clock we started for home.
