Mrs. Sadie E. Holtzner

Have You a Daughter?

If You Have, This Woman's Advice Is of Vital Interest to You

Seattle, Wash.—"In my girlhood, I suffered with severe backaches and pain and had a catarrhal condition. These disagreeable sensations were completely eradicated and I developed into a strong and healthy womanhood because my mother gave me Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. As my own daughters were developing I gave them Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and in that way prevented their having any form of inward weakness. My daughters developed naturally into womanhood and I am sure it was because I had them take the 'Prescription' at that critical period."—Mrs. Sadie E. Holtzner, 2124 North 52d St.

Go to your neighborhood drug store today and get this prescription in tablets or liquid, or write Dr. Pierce, President 'Invalids' Hotel, in Buffalo, N. Y., for medical advice, free and confidential.

North Pole and Broadway.

Pearly discovered the North pole, undergoing untold rigors and privations in the course of his tremendous task. Three years later, at an explorers' club dinner, he complained vexedly to me that he had just caught a dangerous cold from walking down Broadway in the slush without his rubbers.—Albert Payson Terhune, in Hearst's International-Cosmopolitan.

Oddly United.

An old Japanese by the name of Seochiro Ishikawa was desperately hungry. He strolled into a little restaurant and tried to run away without paying his bill. The restaurant keeper started after him and a scuffle ensued. He then dragged the old man to the police station, where he found that the hungry man was his father, whom he had not seen for 20 years.

Contentment.

The fountain of content must spring up in a man's own mind; and he who has so little knowledge of human nature as to seek happiness by changing anything but his disposition will waste his life in fruitless efforts, and multiply the griefs which he proposes to remove.—Samuel Johnson.

Baby Weighs Three Pounds.

Weighing only three pounds at birth, a baby was placed in an incubator at Bath, Eng., and fed a teaspoonful of milk every hour. It gained weight rapidly.

To Accelerate Plaster.

A porous plaster will sometimes remove the efforts of a strain or wrench, but you'd better kept the wrench to aid in removing the porous plaster.—Chicago News.

The Wonderful Alps.

The Alps have about 180 prominent peaks that vary in height from 4,000 to 15,732 feet, this last being the height of Mount Blanc, the loftiest eminence in Europe. Perpetual snow lies above 8,200 feet.

Donkeys Draw Water.

Only two wells from which water is pulled up by donkeys remain in England. One at Kenworth has been in use since 1660.

Oranges Eastern Product.

Orange trees were found growing wild in Florida when the state was settled, but it is supposed that they were introduced in the early days by the Spaniards. It is presumed that their native home was southeastern Asia.

Looking Forward.

In writing love letters it is difficult but advisable to keep in mind how they will strike the jury.—Roanoke Times.

POULTRY

TAKING ADVANTAGE OF HIGHER PRICES

The high egg market last fall was in the latter part of November. The records indicate that the tendency is for the high spot in the market to advance earlier in the fall. The problem of the person who is interested in making his poultry pay, is how to prepare to take advantage of these high prices.

Pullets which began laying late in October frequently lay during the entire winter. Pullets which are developed too early begin laying early in October and then begin to molt, and unless they are exceptionally well fed they will not begin laying again until spring.

If Leghorns are hatched before April 1 and are well grown they will likely start laying early in October. Under good growing rations a Leghorn will mature in about 200 days. Some growers can carry their early hatched pullets along more slowly and prevent them from laying much before the first of November. In order to do this they feed very little meat scrap and other high protein feeds and feed considerable ground oats and other bulky feeds which grow a good frame but which do not hasten the maturity of the birds.

The heavy breeds which are slower maturing will lay better in the fall if hatched earlier than April. February and March pullets of the breeds such as Plymouth Rocks, Rhode Island Reds and Wyandottes will be about the right stage of maturity for November eggs if they are grown on a good ration.

One trouble with a good many producers is that they do not feed their pullets so that they mature quickly enough so as to start laying in the fall. In other words you have two sources of trouble in getting pullets to lay in November. One is the hatching of Leghorns too early and thereby having them go into a molt, thereby losing production in the winter from that source. The other trouble is on account of late chicks and slow development which results in the pullets not laying until the greater part of the winter is over and the period of high egg prices has passed.

Hens Should Be Fed So That They Molt Quickly

The old hens should be fed so that they will molt quickly. Eggs will be high in price this fall and winter and we should feed the flock so as to obtain every possible egg, suggests D. H. Hall, extension poultry husbandman at Clemson college.

The molt is a natural thing and the hen must be allowed time enough for it. We can help them through the molting stage by feeding. The mash feeds are very beneficial in growing feathers, therefore, these hens should have all the mash they want. A pound of sulphur added to each 100 pounds of mash will also aid the hens in growing new feathers. Sulphur is also a mild tonic and aids in keeping the hen's body in condition.

During the molting period, the hens need a large amount of grain feed for the upkeep of the body. The molt is a severe drain on the hen and a good strong body, with plenty of extra energy should be kept by the hen. The hen is also laying up surplus energy for next year's laying. The best feed, care, and attention should be given them at this time. It will always pay you to send your hens to roost with a full crop each night.

Potassium Permanganate

Good as Water Purifier

Dr. S. Erickson of the Mountain Garrie (Mo.) experiment station has carried on experiments to determine the value of permanganate of potash as a purifier of water for poultry, and has found that it is very efficient. The germs of cholera and of other intestinal diseases are destroyed in a few hours. The quantity to use is 14 grains per gallon of water. This quantity can be measured with sufficient accuracy with a ten-cent piece as measure, about 14 grains being carried on it. Permanganate soon loses its strength, which is indicated by loss of the purple color. When this occurs a new solution should be made up. Erickson's experiments show that small chicks are not injured by drinking permanganate water over a period of nine weeks. It can be safely used when sour milk is being fed, but it is not recommended to be added to milk.

Poultry raisers should not place dependence on permanganate as a cure for any disease. Its use is not intended as a cure but as a destroyer of germs that gain entrance to the drinking water from sick birds, thereby lessening the chance of the disease spreading in the flock.

Egg-Eating Habit

The habit or vice of egg eating is difficult to break, once it has been established. It usually starts from the birds getting a taste of a fresh egg when it is broken. Sometimes fresh egg shells thrown to the chicks without being heated gives them a taste of the raw, fresh egg. Darkened, large, roomy nests, the frequent removal of eggs and the immediate removal of any broken shells are the most dependable methods for breaking up this trouble.

Aylesbury Ducks

The Aylesbury duck is considered second only to the Pekin duck for farm purposes. It is very much like the Pekin but has never become so popular in this country. In England it is a very popular breed. It has the same standard weights and general shape as the Pekin and resembles it in many other ways. The color which is the only difference is the color which is pure white as compared to the creamy white of the Pekin.

Secret of Comfort. The chief secret of comfort lies in not suffering trifles to vex one, and in prudently cultivating an undergrowth of small pleasures, since very great ones are of long continuance. And in this is the happy life, to rejoice to these, of these, for these; this it is, and there is no other. For they who think there is another, pursue some other and not the true joy.—Augustine.

New Mexico Mystery Land. New Mexico is the Egypt of America. There is more mystery, enchantment and unusualness to the square foot of New Mexico soil than anywhere else. Egypt has been in the forefront of archeology for the last two or three years, but here in our own country, in New Mexico, there is quite as much romance and mystery.

Lower Animals' Instinct. Mice and gophers and other animals store food and it is said that, if the winter proves to be a long, severe one, their store of food is larger than if it is short and mild. Who can tell how the animals know in advance what the winter will be? Man does not have such foreknowledge.—Our Dumb Animals.

Vexations of Life. All the little vexations of life have their use as a part of our moral discipline. They afford the best trial of character. Many a man who could bow with resignation if told that he was to die is thrown off his guard and out of temper by the slightest opposition to his opinions or his projects.—Family Herald.

"Painting" With Light. "Painting" buildings with light is an inexpensive and effective method invented by engineers of Fresno, Cal., says Popular Science Monthly. The walls are made of cream-tinted terra cotta and pressed brick and flood-lighted with colors such as soft magenta, ruby or emerald.

Horses and Lightning. Horses do not draw lightning any more than any other animals. The fact that horses are struck so frequently is probably due to these animals seeking protection from rain under trees. If they hover near fences they are also more likely to be struck.

Land of Bright Colors. Among the innumerable varieties of Florida flowers are the hibiscus, the poinsettia, oleander, bougainvillea, alama, crepe myrtle, flame vine, Mexican coral vine, orchid, hyacinth, lily, canna and iris.

Early American Strategy. The invasion of Canada by the American forces in 1775 was merely a piece of strategy to dissuade the British from making use of Canada for a supply station and a camp for reserve forces.

Nobility of True Love. Not every love is generous or noble or merits high encomium but that love which prompts and impels man to live generously and to act nobly.—Plato.

Virtue's Support. A Bible and a newspaper in every house; a good school in every district—all studied and appreciated as they merit—are the principal support of virtue, morality and civil liberty.—Franklin.

Sound and Emptiness. The insignificant, the empty, is usually the loud, and after the manner of a drum, is louder even because of its emptiness.—Carlyle.

Encouraging. One trouble with the world is that laziness is so seldom fatal.—Duluth Herald.

Declined Poetical Honor. Thomas Gray and Sir Walter Scott declined an offer of the English poet laureateship. Wordsworth also refused the post, but afterward was induced to change his mind.

Sorrowful Truth. Most of the world's big jobs are handled by men who don't know what kind of a tie is becoming to them.—Santa Barbara News.

Feel No Remorse. Deliberate murderers do not feel remorse after they commit their crimes, the Medical Press and Circular says.

Hard on the Fireflies. "Oh, the poor fireflies!" cried sympathetic little Amy. "They've no sooner got their lamps lit when the wind blows 'em all out."

Few and Simple. The pedestrian's problem is to prevent his "rights" from turning into "rites."—Boston Transcript.

We Should Be Tickled. Headline—"Hotel Burns. Two Hundred Guests Escape Half Glad."—Boston Transcript.
