C. GEE WO CHINESE
MEDICINE CO.

C. GEE WO, the well known Herbalist, has made a life study of the curative properties possessed by Oriental Herbs, Roots, Barks
and other medicinal plants. His researches have resulted in the discovery of many new and powerful remedies. In their preparation, no poisons or narcotics are used;
and the results are entirely natural and safe. He has a large stock of all the best Oriental Herbs, Roots, Barks, and other medicinal plants, and is prepared to supply them in any quantity at reasonable prices.
He also prepares specialized formulas for the treatment of all kinds of chronic diseases, such as asthma, bronchitis, neuritis, etc. His formulas are based on the principles of the ancient Chinese physicians, and are guaranteed to give satisfactory results.

When you oil the clock be sure to get the purest olive oil and this should be cleaned by adding a cupful of lime water to each quart of oil. Shake well and let it stand three or four days.
Then carefully pour off the oil from the sediment, straining it through silk or filter paper before using it.

While the largest ocean freighters cannot pass through the Welland canal, smaller vessels do make the trip across the ocean, then through the Gulf of St. Lawrence, St. Lawrence river and canals, Lake Ontario, other lakes as desired.

The more important Roman roads had a paved width of 16 feet. During the Middle Ages the paving of roads practically ceased, and the spread of epidemics during this time was doubtless due to the condition of the traveled roads.

The love which is often poetically described as a spring "malady" has now been given a prosaic explanation.
We are told that it is the additional moisture of the seasons that causes people to write poems, fall in love and shun work.

The mineral mixture consisted of 22 pounds of steamed bone meal, 24 pounds of finely ground limestone and 15 pounds of salt. The addition of mineral matter is necessary to prevent a great growth of fat.

The United States Department of Agriculture considers soy-bean oil meal an excellent feed for growth and egg production.

Quite a number of farm poultry raisers make the error of housing too many hens and pullets together during cold weather. Hens will lay as well if yarded and well cared for as if free range. But they are not crowded when they are confined.

If the hens are being fed and forced for egg yield alone, we must get them into winter quarters in their pens early in the fall and keep them there without changing them about. Introducing new hens into the flock of laying birds always causes more or less confusion, and this helps in decreas-ing the number of eggs laid.

Old corn fed partly whole and partly cooked, with boiled potatoes, and thickened into a mash with meal, is one of the best fatteners for turkeys.
Give the mash in the morning and the whole corn at night. Do not confine them. If new corn is given, the tendency is to have bowel trouble. For this give liced milk. Turkeys will be so high this year that each carcass should be made to bear as much flesh as possible.

Bitter taste in cream comes sometimes from the feed, but more often from allowing cream to stand too long in winter or cold temperatures. Cream that is churned twice a week rarely has a bitter taste. Making butter from one cow in the winter time, where the cream must be held a long time for enough to accumulate to make a churning is usually where the bitter cream is found. The only remedy is to churn often.

WELL-MERITED SUCCESS

A distinguished citizen, honored politically and professionally, Dr. R. V.
Pierce, whose picture appears above, made a success few have equalled. His pure herbal remedies which have stood the test for fifty years are still among the "best sellers." Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is a blood medicine and stomach alterative. It clears the skin, beautifies it, increases the blood supply and the circulation, and pimples and eruptions vanish quickly. Beauty is but skin deep and good blood is beneath both. For your blood to be good, your stomach must be in condition, your liver active. This Discovery of Doctor Pierce's puts you in fine condition, with all the organs active. Ask your nearest druggist for Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, in tablet or liquid form, or send 10 cents for trial package of tablets to Dr. Pierce's Invalids Hotel in Buffalo, N. Y.

POULTRY
FACTS

FATTENED POULTRY
BEST FOR MARKET

It is well known that during the fall months there is relatively little fresh-skilled young poultry on the market, because the season for broilers has passed and the great bulk of the roast-ers has not yet reached the market.
Therefore, prices for well-fattened young stock are excellent.

Farmers and commercial poultrymen should never think of disposing of their market poultry in an unfattened condition, says the Department of Agriculture. This is true whether the birds are sold live or dressed, and is apparent since much better prices are paid for well fattened stock than where the stock is taken directly off the range. Farmers throughout the country lose many thousands of dollars through not properly fattening their stock. The birds to be fattened should either be placed in boxes, stalls, open pens or in fattening crates where they are kept for a period of two or three weeks. The size of the birds is an important factor, because a bird that weighs from three to four pounds usually fattens more readily than the smaller bird. The larger the bird when the fattening period starts, the shorter the time required for fattening. A three-pound bird can be fattened quite well in three weeks, whereas a bird weighing four pounds when put in the fattening crate, could probably be fattened in about two weeks.

Birds are best fattened on moistened ground grains. Several good fattening rations have been used, one of which is as follows: Equal parts, by weight, of cornmeal, ground buckwheat and middlings. Another good fattening ration is composed of two parts cornmeal, one part crushed oats and one part middlings. A variety of grains is a good thing, although cornmeal is particularly valuable for fattening purposes. Whatever fattening mixture is used, it certainly should be moistened with sour skim milk, using enough milk to make the mash into a thin batter which will run out of the pail when the birds are being fed. Milk not only improves the palatability of the mash, which induces greater consumption, but it also improves the quality of the flesh. It should be used whenever possible, for it not only has good fattening properties but also tends to keep the birds in good health.

When the birds are properly fattened they should each gain about one pound in weight; therefore, there is not only a larger bird for market but the price per pound will be considerably higher than where the birds are not fattened.
There is no excuse, therefore, for not fattening cockerels and culled pullets, and this year it should be done early because of the increase in grain prices.

Tough Chicken.
The minister had come to Sunday dinner, which necessitated the killing of a hen on short notice. After dinner, while sitting on the lawn, a brood of chicks kept coming up, cheeping plaintively, and time and again the small boy of the family and again the small boy of the family drove them away. Finally, exasperated, he gave them a big shoo and added: "You needn't come around me cheeping.
There sets the man that et yer maw!"
—Capper's Weekly.

Be Sure of Title.
Title to property should be guaranliminary agreement have it incorporated into the contract that a guaranteed title should be delivered and title insurance backed by a responsible company furnished.

Let's See the Menu Again.
Some guests at a hotel in Ajaccio were looking through the menu when a polite waiter came to their assistance. "The ham is not, and the chicken never was," he explained, "so will you have your eggs tight or loose?" —London Morning Post.

Something Seems Lacking.
A small boy was looking at the bust of his late grandfather—abust mount-asked his mother if his grandpa was very wise and good, he added:

"And was that all there was of grandpa?"
