THE CASE OF DOCTOR SWEET WHAT WILL YOU DO TO HELP?

The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People has always been found in the forefront in the defense of our race where unjust and unfair deals are given them, as in the case of Dr. O. H. Sweet of Detroit, Michigan who is being held, together with nine other colored men and Dr. Sweet's wife for defending Dr. Sweet's home against a mob of 2,000 white people a few weeks ago.

Every colored man and woman, no matter where they live, must realize that this fight is their fight; that while they may live thousands of miles from Detroit, the same thing could take place here in Portland, Oregon.

For, whatever the Supreme Court rules (if it goes that far, and it will be carried to the end) will effect us in every village, town and city in the U. S. Thinking people, black and white will do all in their power to help the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People win this case. Do we want our homes stoned, broken and bombed by mobs? Do we want to be afraid to allow our children to go upon the public streets? Do we want our men prevented from protecting their families and their homes? Do we want it so that a colored person is not safe in his home if there are those who do not want him to enjoy it? Of course we do not. The only way to prevent such a condition in any where else is to help the N. A. A. C. P. in its fight for justice in the Dr. Sweet case.

The Portland Branch of the N. A. A. C. P. is receiving donations to send to the National office in New York City. Clarence Darrow heads the list of well known attorneys whom the National Association has retained for the defense. Let every one who believes in justice and fairness and the right of a man to protect his home and family give something to help the cause. How much will you give? Following is a list of the donors to date:

IF HE HAD STOLEN $100,000.00

A few days ago we picked up the following news story. It was on the front page of one of America's greatest newspapers, "The New York World." We reproduce it just as it appeared.

GOLD TO LITTLE FRIENDS

Negro Leaves $100,000 to Help Those Who Bought His Candy... Underhill, an aged Negro, owner of a two room shack, where he lived and sold candy to the school children, was filed for probate in Moys Landing, N. J., yesterday, it was found he had an estate of more than $100,000 and that he left it all to be used in helping the school children.

The money was left to the local school board with the simple instructions: "Spend it so that the children may enjoy the fruits of my years of labor."

Underhill took the profits from his candy business and made many lucky real estate speculations, but never gave up his shack, even when he was wealthy. There used to be a time, which is all too much the case now, when if a Negro did any thing worth while, one needed a microscope to discover it anywhere in the paper; and when he did find it, the account would be buried far on the inside. If he snatched a white woman's pocket-book through all the daily papers would give him the front page headline. A prominent colored man of high financial standing once told us of having gone into the "New York Times" to see the editor. When interviewed, he told the "Times" editor that he would like to get his name and a story into that paper. Whereupon the "Times" editor, who was a white man, said, "All right, Mr. Colored Gentleman, go out here and steal something."

A change so exceptional in the policy of a newspaper naturally requires time. At least we recognize the leadership which the "New York World" is taking in bringing achievement to its front page, even when a Negro is the author of that achievement. We are grateful for that. Still we are inclined to ask the question: If the same Negro had broken into a New York bank and stolen $100,000, instead of giving it for the education and enjoyment of school children—would not even the "New York World" have made it a front page headline? —Chicago, Ill.

W. K. Newell who has been appointed to the office of deputy State Probationist, is a splendid type of man, and if the higher-ups and bootleggers think he can be bribed or bluffed, they "have another thought coming."

POLITICS

Governor Al Smith of New York has named James Walker, over in Tuesday's election for mayor. The K. K. K. candidate for mayor of Detroit went down to defeat in Tuesday's election. The Republican Party candidates in Indiana, were all winners with only two exceptions.

MEN WANTED

Over the archway of every door in this country hangs this significant sign, though not always visible, "A Man Wanted." The world is always looking for men: men of character, men who are not for sale, men who can not be swayed from the path of right by the shouts of the mob, men who are true to the core.

A PROCLAMATION

PEOPLE ASKED TO GIVE THANKS

By The President Of The United States Of America

The season approaches when, in accordance with a long established and respected custom, a day is set apart to give thanks to Almighty God for the manifold blessings which His gracious and benevolent providence has bestowed upon us as a nation and as individuals.

We have been brought with safety and honor through another year and through the generosity of nature. He has blessed us with resources whose potentiality in wealth is almost incalculable; we are at peace at home and abroad; our harvests and our industries; our commerce spreads over the whole world, and labor has been rewarded for its remunerative service.

As we have grown and prospered in material things, so also should we progress in moral and spiritual things. We are God-fearing people, who should set our selves against evil and strive for righteousness in living; and observing the Golden Rule we should from our abundance, help and serve those less fortunately placed.

Now, therefore, I, Calvin Coolidge, President of the United States, do hereby set apart Thursday, the twenty-sixth day of November next, as a day of general thanksgiving and prayer, and I recommend that on that day the people shall cease from their daily work, and in their homes or in places of worship, devoutly give thanks to the Almighty for the many and great blessings they have received and to seek His guidance that they may deserve a continuance of His favor.

STYLES HAVE CHANGED

According to the latest approved styles, little boys wear long pants and big boys wear short pants. We note youngsters apparently not over four years old in long trousers just like their fathers, which have illuminated our pathways of life. Where would this old sinful world be today, without the illustrious martyrs? How dear to our hearts is the memory of John Brown, the more leaders like John Brown, like Frederick Douglass, like Sojourner Truth and like Mary B. Talbot. Leaders who have the range of vision to see opportunities, and to point them out to tottering mankind.

The Heebie Jeebies Magazine, published in Chicago, is a red-hot member in the journalistic fraternity. If any one doubts it, get a copy and let him see if he doesn't agree with us.

A NEW PAPER

The St. Paul Echo, of St. Paul Minn. has an interesting and thought-provoking public on Nov. 7th. It is a well gotten up journal and contains interesting reading matter. If its editor can keep up to the standard already set, he will make the Appeal, its competitor, hum to keep up.

MOVE! BUT WHERE? HOW?

If, merely because of prejudice, a black tenant can be made to move out of a city block, upon that same theory he can be made to move out of the city, out of the state, out of the country, leaving naught but debris of that once honored principle, that a man's home is his castle. Visionary though it may seem, this is just exactly what could happen to every one of us who, like Samuel A. Brown, of States Island, N. Y., are desirous of being in Baltimore, Md., as well as countless others, might seek to establish homes in accordance with the individual taste and desire of a man's own choice.

This type of prejudice, just like the bootlegging game lauds at both law and all the ethics of intelligent society. In Detroit, Mich., another race riot "caused," says the United (white) press, by the moving of a black family into a white neighborhood. But that is not the only case. Brown received another notice to "move out" from Castleton Hill, where he sought, with his family, to enjoy the rest returns of his honest toil in the public service. But that is not the only case. Brown received another notice to "move out" from Castleton Hill, where he sought, with his family, to enjoy the rest returns of his honest toil in the public service.

This home problem of the black man, who seeks to select his own home-site, is the "Gettysburg" of the race's social endeavor; and like the Gettysburg of Abraham Lincoln's time goes to the heart of the American question of whether a nation conceived in liberty and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal can long endure. The black man of America has lived and endured too long here amid America's joys and sorrows from Gettysburg to Flanders Field to now be pushed and kicked out of his block, out of the city, out of the state and out of the country. There must be a stopping-off place somewhere, and it might as well be in the block. Other wise, the Pacific or the Atlantic ocean seem to be the safety zone of our ultimate destination. Hence, it appears to be our move NOT TO MOVE and this GOES FOR STANTON ISLAND, BALTIMORE, DETROIT AND ANY OTHER LOCALITIES where guardians are too holy to observe the simple sacredness of a man's home-site, selected by himself as a tribute to intelligence and the lesson of civilization. Let us have the resources to uphold Lincoln's Gettysburg philosophies, lest some, instead of all, of the people prescribe the rules of Government and the boundary line of homes.

WELL KNOWN PHOTOGRAPHER ENTERS LAST LONG REST

J. S. Bell who came to Portland in 1909 and remained here until a year ago, died in Los Angeles on the 17th of October. The cause of his death, it is said by those who knew him best, was due to grief over the divorce and remarriage of his wife, formerly Miss Estella Jackson of Los Angeles, who is now married to a Hindu pop-corn vendor, and living in this city.

In addition to conducting a photography in the Goodnough Bldg., for a number of years, Mr. Bell worked as a waiter at the Portland. He was well liked and highly respected by all who knew him and expressions of sorrow are heard on all sides at his untimely departure. Peace be to his ashes.

MRS. ASBERRY'S ADDRESS

(Continued from page one) service in the United States, mainly for colored people; The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People and the National Association of Colored Women. Liberia may need our protection and assistance. We must stand ready to cooperate.

The last but not the least of opportunities, is the opportunity to love. The world is suffering today for lack of love. Love is the greatest thing in the world. It is God. Love is the power that links the hearts of the human family together.

You remember that the greatest teacher that the world ever had, taught the principles of love. He was the AMBASSADOR EXTRAORDINARY from a far off country. He came for the express purpose of bringing that message. After he went away, there was one who followed in his footsteps, and he said "If I have faith, so as to remove mountains, Earth have not love, I am nothing. And if I bestow all my goods to feed the poor, and if I give my body to be burned, but have not love, it profiteth me nothing. Love suffereth long and is kind. Love envieth not. My friends permit me to digress a moment.

I could write a book on that word, "envy." Envy is the cancer that is eating the heart out of our race. O, let us be too big to envy one another. There is implanted within each and every one of us a talent, which if cultivated would be as great as any. The Father hath not said which talent is the greatest. Love, envieth not. My friends permit me to digress a moment.

Or if our profession is to be a teacher, just be all and leave all that it is possible for her to assimilate. Or still, if we are gifted with the talent for music, and we are told that music hath charms to soothe the savage breast, to soothe the best composition that will live throughout all ages. Or if we are to be leaders, qualify along these lines, and lead stumbling humanity out of darkness. Let us never give up, tho' martyrdom stares us in the face. O, we do thank God for the noble men and women who have sacrificed their lives upon the altar of service and leadership. Their examples have been beacon lights, which have illumined our pathways of life. Where would this old sinful world be today, without the illustrious martyrs? How dear to our hearts is the memory of John Brown. We need more leaders like John Brown, like Frederick Douglass, like Sojourner Truth and like Mary B. Talbot. Leaders who have the range of vision to see opportunities, and to point them out to tottering mankind.

These characters were men and women who understood what Shakespeare meant when he said: "There is a tide in the affairs of men which when taken at the flood, leads on to fortune."

Let us go back to love. "Love vaunteth not itself, is not puffed up. Doth not behave unseemly. Seeketh not its own. Is not provoked; taketh not revenge. Rejoiceth not in unrighteousness, but rejoiceth with truth. Love beareth all things. Endureth all things. Love never faileth." Now, abeth faith, hope and Love. These three things, and the greatest of these is Love.

My friends, let us remember these truths. These golden opportunities. The opportunity to visualize. The opportunity to industrialize. The opportunity to educate. The opportunity to serve and the opportunity to love.

Then resolve and affirm: I CAN! I WILL! I SHALL!

THE END.

MORE ABOUT RHINELANDERS

(Continued from page one) "stammering nut." The Rhinelander millions, not Leonardo, but the Rhinelander's are back of this move," Davis shouted. "The defendant got in contact with a stammering nut and that's the one reason why they say you should release him from this girl. This little girl seduced his father's boy, according to Rhinelander's counsel. "They say she led this youth to the Hotel Marie Antoinette," Davis continued. "There Rhinelander began to get more into the picture. He wanted to sign as man and wife and because he remained with her for four or five days opposing counsel says you should release him. "But Jones, Rhinelander's counsel said she admitted to Rhinelander she had been the mistress of another man—although they say she deceived him. "Not enough that his son of wealth comes into an humble home and takes the girl, but his father gets across he drags her into the slime to get rid of her." Davis then pointed to Mrs. Jones, mother of the defendant. "Not a cent will I drag the girl in the dirt, they want to drag this lady with her," he said.

Mrs. Rhinelander broke into sobs. "Never in my twenty years at the local bar," declared Davis, "have I ever listened to a more vicious and senseless cruel outburst to the jury than that of Judge Mills yesterday. "The question now, gentlemen of the jury, is this: Did the defendant represent the plaintiff before marriage that she was pure white?"

CANDIDATE FOR U. S. SENATE SPEAKS ON LIQUOR QUESTION

Portland, Oregon, Nov. 10, 1925. To the Editor of The Advocate:— Having been asked as a candidate for U. S. Senator to declare myself as to my stand on law enforcement, and particularly in regard to the liquor question, I welcome the opportunity to make my position clear. The question of a man's attitude on any vital issue can best be answered and made known by referring to what has been done or accomplished by him during his terms of public office.

First and foremost I have always been in favor of prohibition and during the five sessions that I served in the Iowa State Senate from 1900 to 1908 I supported and voted for all prohibition measures, and I am personally in favor of the observance and enforcement of all laws.

Then when I was appointed U. S. Attorney for Alaska in 1908, with headquarters at Fairbanks, I found in that district 38 saloons, which were open twenty-four hours a day and seven days of the week and a "red light" district in the heart of the City of Fairbanks comprising about six city blocks enclosed by a sixteen foot plank stockade and vice and gambling rampant. The saloons in Alaska at that time were conducted under the liquor license system and the saloon districts and houses of prostitution were all under the same roof, and in the same building. By objecting to the issuance of renewal of licenses I succeeded in reducing the number of saloons from 388 to 97, abolished the dance halls, removed the saloons from their proximity to the mines and secured the abolition of the "red light" district, following which the stockade was opened up and the unfortunate women moved out. I also enforced Sunday closing of all saloons.

One of the difficult conditions to handle in Alaska was the bootlegger who sold liquor to the Indians and I found it almost impossible to curb the sale of liquor to Indians under the then existing laws as it constituted only a misdemeanor, but upon my report and recommendation to the Attorney General at Washington, D. C. a law was passed by Congress making the sale of liquor to Indians a felony and after securing several convictions and the violator sentenced to a term in the Federal Penitentiary at McNeil's Island, matters were decidedly improved and I was able to cope with the situation. Therefore, I am of the decided opinion that if the people of Oregon favor the retention of the 18th Amendment to the United States Constitution and the federal laws for the enforcement of prohibition, as I feel confident most people and law enforcement officers do, and they want the law observed as it should be, then we should put teeth into the law and make its violation a felony so that the professional moon-shiners, bootleggers and illicit importers of intoxicating liquors could upon conviction be sent to the penitentiary as that would certainly put a stop to the flagrant violation of the law such as we have today. This plan I would like to see enacted, nominated and elected to the U. S. Senate I would introduce a Bill providing for the amendment of the law making such violations a felony. Respectfully yours, James J. Crossley

Williams Ave., "Y" Notes

Members of the Crystal Club of the Girls Reserve will attend the Federation Party at Hillsboro Sunday evening. On last Sunday afternoon, Mr. Wm. Rombo spoke on "Conditions in the Near East" during Vesper. Miss Nellie Franklin rendered a piano solo. The Blue Triangle Club met at the home of Mrs. N. Maud Carr, the president, for a social evening. Rev. E. C. Dyer will be the speaker for Vespers next Sunday, Nov. 15 at five o'clock. Social hour will follow. Mrs. C. E. Cannon spoke on the Holy Land, Thur. evening, Nov. 12th. The Old Rose Club will hold an Apron Bazaar Wednesday evening, Nov. 18th at the "Y" and present the Chest to the lucky girl in the Hope Chest contest.

DOINGS OF THE ELKS

Introducing a new bill to the Portland bills, Rev. Moreland, pastor of Zion A. M. Church, who is a member of Puget Sound Lodge of Elks, of Seattle, Washington. Rose City Lodge will hold its semi-annual election of officers on Wednesday, December 9th. The election of officers has always been a very exciting event and the coming election will be no exception to the rule. Already two men are being urged to make the race for the office of E. R. F. H. Williams, the present incumbent, will, no doubt, attempt to hold on to the Chair. There will be no great contest for the other offices, namely: Leading Knight, Lecturing Knight and Worthy Patron. However the best thing that could happen, in the Elks lodge and all other lodges, would be to let the office seek the man and then let all hands get in and assist. Then our lodges would soon be able to do something more than help the sick and bury the dead. Mecco Harjo, chairman of the trustee board of Rose City Lodge of Elks, had fainting spells Monday, and fell prostrate in the street. It is thought not to be serious and that he will be out again in a few days.

HOJ'EL NOTES L. Griffin, former captain in the Portland Hotel dining room, called Thursday for the Orient, a member of one of the Oriental steamers. The Bellhops at the Portland have donned their Winter uniforms, but the fact that several of them have grown bigger during the Summer, the uniforms make them look very keen. The grill room at the Portland will soon be converted into a coffee shop.

COLORED MEN ROB BANK The Fraternal Bank of Ft. Worth Texas, a colored institution, was robbed on November 4th at the point of guns in the hands of two colored men who lined up Wm. M. McDonald, the president and four other employees and escaped with the funds, the amount of which was not given. They were soon captured and the money recovered.
