MEXICAN LABOR COMPETITION

Of utmost importance to the thousands of Negro laborers employed in the cotton fields, on the railroads, at the docks and in diversified common labor occupations, particularly in the southwestern localities semi-adjacent to the Mexican border, is the Immigration Bill just introduced by Senator James E. Watson, Republican, of Indiana.

CRIME IN HIGH PLACES

It is mighty great shame for any decent citizens of Oregon, Portland in particular, to have to confess to the world that a number of their business and professional men had been arrested, and some had confessed to having committed one of the most diabolical crimes known in annals of criminal history.

WHAT HAS RELIGION TO DO WITH IT

By Dr. Francis H. Rowley in "OUR DUMB ANIMALS" One cannot help wondering why the churches which stand for the religion of the sovereign religious teacher of all time so seldom have anything to say about their adherents' relation to that vast world of animal life around them, above them, below them, capable with them of pain and pleasure, sensitive to suffering, placed here upon the earth by the same creative power that placed us here, made of the same elements of which we are made, bone of our bone, flesh of our flesh, in many ways wiser than we are, with faculties often far beyond our own, giving us in innumerable instances a friendship, companionship, devotion, enriching, blessing, gladdening our lives.

REGISTER AND VOTE

The registration books are open now at the Court House. If you are not already registered, go and do so. Think of the numbers of our people in the Southern states who are denied the right of franchise. Do you want that right taken away from you? It is possible if a large number of people persist in refusing to exercise this privilege and duty. It is an outrageous charge against the understanding and intelligence of the voters of this state that less than one-half of the people who can, will not vote. If this is true, which is not doubted, we have no right to kick against the type of men who are elected to public office. Unless you go to the polls and cast your ballot at every election, you should have nothing to say. Some people, when asked why they fail to vote usually reply, "it won't do any good - one or two votes don't count for anything. Such silly talk in a close election such as have been held in Oregon and in other states. One or two votes have been known to elect unfit candidate. There are enough colored votes in Oregon, Portland in particular, if cast for a particular candidate, could put him in office. But many of the voters fail to do their duty, and yet they are the ones who usually do the most hollering about the colored people not having any representation in the City, County nor State government. It is the duty of every citizen to vote and we urge our group not to neglect that duty. But in order to be prepared to vote, go to the Court House and register. The registration books close April 17th just one month prior to the Primary election.

POLITICAL NOTES

Speaking editorially of the Democratic party's National Convention which will be held in Houston, Tex., The Daily Sentinel, among other things has the following to say about colored people:

PASSING OF PIONEERS

Three of our pioneer citizens within the past two months, have passed into the Great Beyond. First, Mrs. J. E. Watson, then Mrs. A. E. Flowers and lastly Mr. Johnson. All were good citizens who played their parts as best they could in the uplift of the community. We miss them and the church and the community at large sustain a great loss in their passing.

SEEING AND NOT SEEING

Some people we know will see an hundred good things in The Advocate and never mention them. But when they see some criticism or a rebuke they don't like or agree with, they will "squel like a stuck pig". The boarding house-keeper puts many dishes of food on the table, and yet one is not compelled to eat what they don't want but it's up to each guest to partake of those things that they do like. The newspaper editor does the same thing in editing his paper and he may write some things that don't appeal to your think tank, while at the same time, some other reader will think it's the real goods and will say, "bully for him". Still other will damn the editor and stop his paper and sometimes refuse to pay for the time he did take it.

THE DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION AND THE RACE

ZION A. M. E. CHURCH NOTES

On last Sunday we enjoyed a day of feasting. The pastor seemed to be at his best on both of the two very popular subjects announced: "The Fatal Power of Inattention", the morning subject was taken from the text, "In Hell he lifted up his eyes; being in torment"; Luke 16:23. Rev. Moreland spoke of the great painting by Gustave Dore which portrays this parable of the rich man and the beggar. He said Dives was not consciously and deliberately cruel, he was only totally and helplessly indifferent. What wrought the ruin of that peasure-lover was not so much inhumanity, but inattention.

of field and wood. of jungle and marsh, of arctic seas and tropic wilds. So men once thought of certain of our fellows, that they were born to be their slaves, their hewers of wood and drawers of water, because their skin was black or red, or yellow, or because there was power with the strong to crush the weak.

BETHEL A. M. E. CHURCH NOTES

Sunday night was "Children's Party Night" at Bethel. The program consisted of a solo, "Drink to me only with thine eyes", sung by little Miss Maud Booker, accompanied on the piano by her mother, Mrs. Elbert Booker; Readings: Paul Laurence Dunbar's "Jilted" and "Jealous" by little Miss Avia Booker who recently won much praise for her fine rendition of the same numbers at a white church, and a piano solo, "Nearer My God O Thee" with variations, by Master Philip Moore, sno of Mr. and Mrs. George P. Moore of 494 E. 47th St. North.

HOTEL NOTES

Wednesday evening of last week, President Boyce of The Portland, had the hundred or more of his employees to assemble in the main parlor where he gave them a very timely lecture on department and service. The renowned Mr. Stanley, was chairman of the meeting, head porter. After a number of the little fish had orated concerning one thing or another, and a committee appointed to arrange for a show, the climax of the meeting was reached by the reading of a selection by Mr. Boyce and partaking of a bountiful supply of sandwiches and ice-cream.
