The corporation tax bill is simply another opportunity for the corporation to pass on to the comsumer, his corporation tax regardless of all that C. C. Chapman says in favor of it. Any one fortunate to have saved up money enough to buy a few bonds, must pay 3 per cent on them. Then along comes the income tax which catches all the poor devils who are in neither of the first two classes. What's the use of trying to save up anything for old age- - along comes a tax of some kind to take it all away from you. Me for a regular spending orgy of all I've saved and then I'll move to a state where they have an old age pension. No choice left, after I get thru paying my share of the extra cost of living piled on by the corporation tax, then the tax on the two five hundred dollar bonds it took me five years to save up to buy, then the tax on my 50x100 lot with a $2,500 house on it, then the taxes to neet the bond issues of the city and those of the county and state and then if there is anything left that can be covered by the income tax, that will catch whatever pennies have been left. And Mrs. Lee wants me to trust her judgment on those tax bills I think it is about time for poor people to look the United States over and try to find a state that does not compel its citizens to wear out their lives paying taxes. No wonder settlers won't settle in Oregon

And they are paying Frank Branch Riley $25,000 to use his eloquence and to exploit Oregon's scenery to coax people to come out here to live. I wonder if he will throw on the screen, a list of the taxes the state expects them to pay. And then for these legislators of superior judgment to refuse to save the taxpayers money by allowing this referendum on the bill. The insolence of such actions can only bear one kind of fruit-the defeat of the measure. That alone
