Hotel Notes

Colored waiters will be kept on the Great Northern dining cars according to President Budd. He said that the rumor about white girls displacing colored waiters is all bunk. He further stated that he thought the colored waiters were far superior to any other dining car service, so there you have it!

"Queen Bonnie", the smiling checker at The Portland, took us to task because her name was misspelled in last week's issue. Alright, Queen Bonnie, we will be good the next time you are put on the throne.

Colored waiters in the Hyde Park Hotel in Kansas City, Mo., were dismissed last week without notice, also the colored cooks, porters and bell boys. They were handed their check and told simply that their services were no longer wanted. The cause for the wholesale discharge is not known.

Moore Ready to Give Away Weight to Prove Boy's Worth
Amsterdam News

George Dixon, the middleweight, who looks like a fine prospect, today stands on his promise to meet any ringman weighing not more than 160 pounds. He made that declaration after knocking out Jimmy O'Dow of Salt Lake City in two torrid rounds at the Arcadia pavilion last week. George Moore, Dixon's manager, even offered the Ace a few pounds advantage just to get the battle.

O'Dow made a plucky fight, but the same mistake as Jock Malone. Malone opened up and attempted to slug with Dixon. Malone was knocked out, technically. O'Dow threw punches with the crack colored fighter, but Dixon put him on the floor in the opening of the second round, then coolly measured him for the count of 10.

O'Dow was still full of fight despite the knockout. He attempted to battle Dixon's big second, Denver Ed Martin, who helped carry him to his corner.

O'Dow made the best of his chance last week. He had just about an even break in the going for the first round. He scored with rights to the head and partly discolored Dixon's eye. Dixon closed strong at the finish of the opening round. It was about even.

In the second round Dixon changed his style completely. Whereas O'Dow came out to make an open fight, Dixon was cagey. When O'Dow came in to trade punches, Dixon was all set. Both let fly. A left to the stomach made O'Dow wince. Then a right to the chin put him down Dixon then measured him for the full count.
