"SNOQUALMIE"

The modern word "Him" was originally spelled "Eim," from which the ancient word "Eimmanuel" and the modern word "Emmanuel" are derived.

When spoken by Manons, the word "Eimmanuel" sounded as "Eimmanon."

The last syllable of Snoqualmie is the word "Eim" reversed, and means "Individual, or Small Portion."

The remainder of Snoqualmie reversed forms the word "Lauqous," and is the name that was applied to skin and skull collecting cannibals with whom tropical America and Manon were at war.

The letter "W" originates from the use of the double "UU" and the original pronunciation of "Laukous" is "Lawqous."

The Lawqous are sometimes referred to as the "Kitchen Midden Indians."

Kitchen Midden means "Glutton, or Stomach Worship." The name "Negro" that is now applied to Manons, is derived from the appellation "Knee Goers," meaning people who go to their knees when seeking Divine favor.

Before the Revolutionary War, what is now Rogue River was known as Rough River. That name was too radical to suit some of the new arrivals, and they called it Rude River, which the Indians pronounced "Rodi" and the stream was known as "Rod River" for a number of years. But the thieves soon gained the majority and the present name "Rogue" was applied, which is less desirable than the name "Rough" that was applied to the stream by the French Missionaries, whose line of communication was cut by the Revolutionary War.

On Its Twenty-Sixth Birthday!

Mrs. Peek Active Tho A Shut-in

Mrs. Warren Richard Peek, of 410 N. Twenty-First Street, is one of the oldest residents of Portland, and for many years she operated a dressmaking establishment in the Raleigh Building, where she gave employment to six or more of her people. She was, for many years, the prime mover in the establishment of St. Phillip's Mission, and was also active in club work generally, before she became the victim of rheumatism, which has kept her a shut-in for many years. While she is not able to get about amongst her many friends as in the past, she has a telephone on her desk that she uses frequently to chat with them.

Mrs. Peek has maintained an unusual interest in all things pertaining to the growth, development and welfare of both her community and race, and it is often remarked by visitors how beautiful and sweet she has been through her long indoors confinement. She and her splendid husband own a beautiful home, and several "rent" houses.
Mrs. Peek has been a constant reader of The Advocate since its first issue, and for some time acted as society reporter to same. And she takes pleasure in congratulating The Advocate upon its Twenty-Sixth Birthday Anniversary.

The artistic hand-painted invitations bidding guests to a reception, honoring the birthday anniversary of Mrs. Ada McGill, were responded to by the half hundred guests included. The affair, which was one of the prettiest and most novel held this season, was on the Battleship Oregon, on Thursday evening, September 5. Mrs. McGill and J. W. Curry were joint hosts and it was also in compliment to Miss Chlotilde Curry, young school ma'am of Los Angeles, who was here visiting her father, Mr. Curry.
The main diversion was dancing to the beautiful music furnished by a local orchestra until 12 o'clock. At that hour, the guests repaired to the lovely home of Mrs. McGill, 641 Union Avenue North, where they enjoyed a delicious and elaborate buffet dinner until the wee sma' hours. The guests all declared the hosts ideal ones.

Mrs. A. Gary and her son have returned from their trip to Alaska. Mrs. Gary kindly remembered a large number of her friends with souvenirs from Alaska.

Mrs. E. D. Cannady enjoyed an airplane ride recently when she flew in a Waco plane from Vancouver to Portland.

Miss Geneva Turner, 1201 East Grant street spent last week visiting her aunt, Mrs. John E. Mapps, in Spokane, Washington.

Mrs. Mapps sent her love to Portland friends. Miss Turner reports a very pleasant trip.

A group of young people met informally at the home of Mrs. McGill, 641 Union Avenue North, on Sunday evening to bid goodbye to Miss Chlotilde Curry who left Tuesday morning for her home in Los Angeles.

Mrs. I. F. Schweich was hostess to a very delicious luncheon Thursday afternoon honoring Mesdames Bertha L. Turner and Sadie Holt of Pasadena, California. Covers were laid for twelve.

The Culture Club meets Friday at the Williams Avenue Y. W. C. A.

Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Ashberry were hosts at dinner Sunday in Tacoma for Mrs. E. D. Cannady, Alfreda, Nellie and Yancy Franklin, George Cannady, Violet and Gwendolyn Hooker.

Mrs. E. L. Carden and son Gene, accompanied by Miss Alberta Mays motored to Vancouver, B. C. Sunday.

Miss Chlotilde Curry was the guest of Mrs. W. F. Smith Sunday at breakfast.

Mrs. Nelson Bradford of Winlock, Wash., was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. G. N. White at the Conference at Tacoma.

Mrs. L. L. Parker is here, visiting her sister, Mrs. Allen, 26 Cook avenue. She is from Beaumont, Texas.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Rideout and Mr. and Mrs. B. Rucker of Tacoma, Wash., were the house guests of Mrs. Gilmer over the past week-end.

The Esperanto Breakfast Club met Tuesday morning with Mrs. Nona Deiz at her home, 436 Marguerite Avenue. After enjoying a delicious two-course breakfast, the president of the club, Mrs. Elise Reynolds, called the meeting to order. Following a brief business session, the members spent the customary time in the study of Esperanto. The lesson being so interesting and all-absorbing, the whole time was devoted to it. Several of the members had written letters to each other in esperanto which were very interesting. They were read and translated by the members. Mrs. Butt was a visitor and gave brief helpful remarks. Mrs. Lynch Brown of Longview, Wash., a charter member of the club, motored down to the meeting. The next meeting will be held with Mrs. Rachael Bellard on Going Street and the following one will be with Mrs. Brown in Longview.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Crosswhite entertained twenty-one persons at a most delicious Wear-Ever Aluminum demonstration dinner Tuesday evening. The foods were perfect—and the most appetizing that anyone could wish for. Mrs. Haughey and Mr. Keeler were the local demonstrators. Movies and a health lecture followed the dinner.

Miss Maxine Maxwell spent three days this week in the city, the guest of her sister, Miss Chrystalee. She came down to say good-bye to her friends before leaving for Eugene, where she will enter the U. of O.

Saturday night brought one of the prettiest social affairs held this season when Mesdames W. F. Smith, Clara Anderson, H. D. Fuller, A. J. Franklin, Wm Abernathy and Ada McGill, entertained at a beautiful reception and dance at Hibernia Hall, 340 Russell street, in compliment to Misses Chlotilde Curry, Nellie Allen, Nellie Franklin, Dolores Burdine, of Yakima, and Geraldine Turner; Mesdames Ida Galloway, Cora Bunch and M. J. Stubblefield, the latter of Oakland, Cal.

The large hall was artistically decorated with a profusion of green stuffs and late garden flowers. It furnished a very pretty setting for the gorgeously gowned ladies and their escorts. The reception hours were from 8 until 10 o'clock and from 10 until 12, dancing was enjoyed. The reception was attended by many who did not remain for the latter part of the evening, although the large hall was quite filled with those who remained throughout the evening. Music was furnished by members of Dixie and his Melody Boys orchestra.

Warm welcome is being extended Miss Madeline Duncan, formerly of Twin Falls, Iowa, who is to remain here through the winter. Miss Rosalie Bird was hostess at an impromptu dinner at her home on last Saturday evening in honor of Miss Duncan. Covers were placed for Mrs. Keren Mills Collins, Misses Jennie Grayson, Hellena Harper, Nellie Allen, Chlotilde Curry, Lenora Henderson. The ladies continued the evening at the reception for Portland visitors given at Hibernia hall.
