

Meet Her Majesty-- Milady of the Chorus

have advanced far enough to confirm it, may advance a little money in small amounts, just enough for mere sustenance. This is charged against the payrolls to be; and, sometimes for many weeks after a show has begun its season, the girls receive just enough to pay their current expenses, while the management recoups the advances made during rehearsals.

For all this the chorus girl receives from $18.00 to $45.00 per week. Some of the especially high-priced shows pay as much as $70.00 for exceptional choral talent, but the requirements are exacting and such openings are few. The majority of them draw thirty dollars each Monday, if the "ghost walks" at all. Costumes are supplied, transportation is paid, and that is all they have provided, except the privilege of being called for additional rehearsals every time a new number is added to the cast or chorus; or when the producer may determine to change an old song for a different one in any spot in the show.

This routine of hard work is perhaps the greatest refutation of the blase stories one so often hears concerning the ladies of the ensemble.
No one who cared for the easy road that "gold digging" connotes would work as hard as these little ladies do for the meagre reward that comes to them. They are first real devotees to the art of terpsichore; and what is more prosaic, they are honest-to-goodness working people.

Don't misjudge the chorister. She is a bit worldly wise. So is every other person who has the benefit of travel and contact with the world.

It is that same sophistication that keeps her a clean, decent sort of being who works and saves her surplus.
She anticipates the tricks of men, capitalizes them for such benefits as a dinner, a present or two; and leaves the poor yokel—"Towner" she calls him in general, or "John"—wondering just how she lipped out with the excuse of a headache a rehearsal, or early train, just when he would have bet his last dollar that he had made a "catch."

She may seem "hard boiled" but have you ever seen a benefit for charity that was not made worth while by the presence of all the show girls in town, some working, but most of them spending?

I wish you could have seen as often as has the writer, the little collection taken up from dressing room to dressing room, or on the stage for anyone among their number who was suffering misfortune; or that you might have seen some of the ever recurring instances of self sacrifice that a fellow thespian might have food and shelter in time of need.

The many benefits for the Red Cross fund or other charity happenings in almost every city in the land tell where chorus girls' hearts lie.

It is a safe wager that more than one chorus is supporting a star at an extra performance for which the star receives oodles of publicity while the tired girls get but an extra performance.

It's a gay life if one doesn't weaken. It's a game in which youth only takes a hand and comes out winner.

Week-End Suggestions and Recipes

THE FRUIT CUP HABIT

Add to the health of your family by adopting the habit of serving a fruit cup once a day. The contents may vary as the seasons succeed each other, but serve a fruit cup of some kind from January until December.

Fortunately, oranges may be used as one of the fruits, all the year.
They add to the flavor, are decidedly alkaline in their reaction, and combine with any other fruit used. Lemon juice should be also added, to give additional piquancy to the fruit cup as a whole.

Usually you will have sufficient juice from the fruits and the lemons used to properly serve each fruit cup. If not, squeeze the juice from two or three oranges and one lemon, dissolve sugar in this, and use as a syrup. Occasionally a bit of cold water may be added. Serve the fruit cup ice cold preferably in a bed of crushed ice.

Green Tomato Preserves

3 pounds sugar
4 pounds green tomatoes 3 lemons
1/2 tablespoon preserved ginger

The above table merely gives the correct proportions. Most women will desire to prepare several times this amount at a time. Wash the tomatoes, remove any dark spots about the stems, and weigh. Cover with boiling water, let stand five minutes, drain and slice into a preserving-kettle, placing a layer of tomatoes, one of sliced lemon, then the sugar with the ginger sprinkled over it. Let the mixture stand overnight.
Drain and boil the syrup for ten minutes. Skim, add the tomatoes and cook rapidly until they are clear.
Pour into clean, hot jars and seal.

TWO EMERGENCY SALADS

Cabbage Fruit

Peel oranges, removing all white skin. Cut into one-fourth inch slices and then into segments. Cover salad plates with finely-shredded cabbage.
Sprinkle with orange segments.
Serve with French dressing.

Cheese Ball Salad

Peel oranges and divide into segments, rejecting all white inner skin.
Arrange on salad plates covered with lettuce. Garnish with balls of cream cheese rolled in grated orange rind.

PRESERVING VEGETABLES

Many think of preserving as applied to fruit alone. Some vegetables, however, make such delicious preserves that many jars should be stored away by the wife of each man fortunate enough to own a garden.

Dr. Bunker's Handwriting Analysis

He has a good sense of humor. This will help him for a grouch never has many friends. This man will be able to see a joke, even when it is on himself, and such a fellow is always popular.

While all of this is true, it is also a fact that this man will be honest and fair with the people with whom he deals. He is not a shyster, nor dishonest. His pride will never permit him to be anything of the kind.

You may not want to be a lawyer, but no matter whether you want to enter a profession or become a skilled mechanic or a builder of houses, you have some talent. You can make a success of your life. You owe it to your friends to make the right start—to get onto the road that will give them reason to be proud of you. Your writing shows this road. The way you cross your t's and dot your i's may not seem important to you, but in just such things you tell the truth about yourself. You paint a full-length picture of yourself on the paper as you write your name, or write your friend a letter.

You may have a personal report made of your handwriting if you will write a page, using pen and ink. Sign your name, send letter to Dr. M. N. Bunker, in care of this newspaper, with a stamped and self-addressed envelope for reply. Be sure to enclose the stamped envelope, for letters without this will be discarded.
