chorus and quartettes will be engaged in numerous concerts in the larger churches of the community where appeals will be made for support.

While the details of the campaign have been worked out by the pastor of the church and his committee of officers a large advisory committee has been selected as follows: Rabbi Henry Berkowitz; Col. N. J. Blagen; Dr. Harold L. Bowman; Mr. H. W. Stone; Dr. T. J. Villers; Dr. E. C. Farnham; Dr. Perry Hopper; Dr. O. C. Wright; Dr. Wilbert Cowson; Hon. E. S. Collins; Dr. J. C. Harrison; Atty. John W. Kaste.

"We are making this drive for funds so that we might end all appeals from this source in the future", says the pastor. "No one dislikes any more than we to have to make an annual appeal on this old debt and our membership has decided that by an intensive effort on our part and the liberal support of our friends, we shall be able to completely wipe it out."

A large clock face is to be erected on the exterior of the church to indicate the progress of the campaign as well as five battalion boards erected in the interior.

All solicitors of the church have been given books in which there is an authorization signed by the pastor of the church and have been supplied with badges. Persons who contribute to this fund are asked to require of The headquarters of the campaign are WALnut 1133. All checks should be made payable to the Mount Olivet Debt Fund.

Dr. J. L. Caston is pastor of the church.

SEEK AIR POLICE FOR MANHATTAN

New York, (CNS)—Sept. 19—Two airplane accidents in which bathers and fishermen have been killed or injured by planes swooping down upon them unexpectedly resulted in Police Commissioner Grover A. Whalen requesting the Board of Estimate for an appropriation for a squadron of air police who will patrol the city's places of amusement.

There will of course be no "stop and for the present no speed limit. There is at present no plan to establish a "Heavens Traffic Court".

"SNOQUALMIE"

The modern word "Him" was originally spelled "Eim," from which the ancient word "Emmanuel" and the modern word "Emmanuel" are derived.

When spoken by Manons, the word "Einnamuel" sounded as "Emmanuel."

The last syllable of Snoqualmie is the word "Eim" reversed, and means "Individual, or Small Portion."

The remainder of Snoqualmie reversed forms the word "Lauqone," and is the name that was applied to skin and skull collecting cannibals with whom tropical America and Manon were at war.

The letter "W" originates from the use of the double "UU" and the original pronunciation of "Lauqons" is "Lawqons."

The Lawqons are sometimes referred to as the "Kitchen Midden Indians."

Kitchen Midden means "Glutton, or Stomach Worship." The name "Negro" that is now applied to Manons, is derived from the appellation "Knee Goers," meaning people who go to their knees when seeking Divine favor.

Before the Revolutionary War, what is now Rogue River was known as Rough River. That name was too radical to suit some of the new arrivals, and they called it Rude River, which the Indians pronounced "Rod" and the stream was known as "Rod River" for a number of years. But the thieves soon gained the majority and the present name "Rogue" was applied, which is less desirable than the name "Rough" that was applied to the stream by the French Missionaries, whose line of communication was cut by the Revolutionary War.

A HIGH WAISTLINE

Your figure and your face are the fashion. It's smart to wear a hat that allows the world to know you have a forehead, and it's even smarter to wear a frock that reveals the fact that you have a waistline. The newest frocks follow princess lines, with a fitted bodice and a skirt which flares out in true princess style. The waistline is high and is accented by a belt—patent leather belts are particularly in vogue. To prove further its fashion-rightness, the little frock is button-trimmed, in the manner championed by Jane Remy, a leading couturier. Excella Pattern No. 2881. Sizes 14 to 38, 25 cents.
