

Becoming a Perfect Hostess

Do you ever keep a list of foods liked and disliked by the friends who dine regularly with you? You will find this an excellent thing to do. For example, you might have a card for "Mrs. Patton" on which you note that she loves chicken, has little use for liver, and is more or less lukewarm about corned beef and cabbage. Later on you find that she loves stewed carrots, never eats spinach and does not care for a second helping of turnips.

In your file you have the likes and dislikes of dozens of your friends listed. Then, when two, four or even more are to be invited to dinner, you look over the various cards and can prepare a meal that will make everyone go into raptures of delight, and leave feeling sure that you are a wonderful cook and the best hostess imaginable.

It takes very little time, and costs nothing at all to learn about your friends' likes and dislikes and to build a meal up with these things in mind. But oh, what a reputation it gives you as a hostess!

OLD SORES AND ULCERS CAN BE HEALED

"This sincere letter," says Peterson "gave me another happy day and as nearly every mail brings praise for Peterson's Ointment, is it any wonder that I keep cheerful all the time?"

"Dear Sirs: I had a bad leg for 20 years tried everything but no benefit. I tried Peterson's Ointment and five 35 cent boxes healed my leg. I can never praise it enough. My leg was so painful at first that I had to put fresh ointment on every two hours, night and day. It stopped the pain at once. Mrs. Mark Richards Lake Linden, Mich."

Besides running old sores and ulcers, Peterson's Ointment is just as good for piles, eczema, itching skin, sore feet, prickly heat, sunburn, chafing, cuts, burns, sprains, scalds and sores of other ailments as any druggist anywhere will tell you. A generous box, 35 cents.

Mystery of the Lost Beauty

spectable rooming house on Cumberland street and went to work for Mrs. Rumford in the section of the city known as Ghent. For the next year she lived an exemplary life as far as is known.

This statement is based on the fact that Margaret worked for the Rumfords from December 10, 1911, to January 6, 1913.

While working in Ghent, Margaret became acquainted with, and confided extensively in, a next door servant girl by the name of Mattie Hendrickson. This woman—she is Mrs. L. B. Grant now—has lived to pay excellent tribute to her character and manner of living during those last months of her known existence. Also she ridicules the theory that her chum was weak mentally.

Three weeks before Margaret's miraculous disappearance, she did something which it is feared will always remain unexplained. She purchased an old revolver, a pen-knife and a black shawl. For what?

On January 6, 1913, Margaret failed to appear at her place of employment. Mrs. Rumford, thinking that she might be ill, arranged with Miss Hendrickson's employer to let her off long enough to go to Margaret's home and find out about her. Glad to be out in the air a few minutes, Miss Hendrickson left immediately and arrived at Margaret's rooming house about ten o'clock in the morning. She knocked and was admitted by the landlady herself, after which something like the following conversation took place:

"Good morning, Mrs. Harris, I came to see what's wrong with Margaret."

"Wrong? Margaret? Why, she's at work, child!"

"Oh, no she isn't. Mrs. Rumford sent me to—"

"But she must be!" cried the old lady. "Why, her room door has been wide open all morning!"

Upstairs, they found an empty room, save for Margaret's clothes and things. The bed had apparently not been disturbed during the night. On the floor they found torn to bits, a picture of her dead baby. Out in the yard, was found a picture of her dead mother. And wait! Underneath the bed, rolled up in a black shawl, was found an old revolver, some cartridges, and a pen-knife!

You will say that Margaret Pagan went mad, but is it reasonable, is it logical, to believe that a demented woman could elude the police for sixteen years?

THE END.

Arline Cisco Has The Prettiest Bob

Ambitious girls like Miss Cisco, one of the big reasons for the success of "Connie's Hot Chocolates," the New York musical hit conceived by Leonard Harper, don't neglect a thing to keep themselves looking good all the time. You never know who is going to see you.

When people tell her how marvelously lustrous and smooth her hair is, Miss Cisco tells them — "My hair is not different from the rest of us. I change it to the condition you see it in now by simply working a little La-Em-Strait hair dressing into it before I brush it. Instantly it's so soft and smooth it feels like so much silk, and stays the way I like it."

La-Em-Strait is now the most popular hair dressing ever made. Men like it even better than do the girls. Any druggist will tell you it is the best you can use. Takes 30 seconds to use. Isn't greasy and costs only

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Send coupon for free sample.

A friend of mine told me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I am now on the third bottle and I cannot say enough for what it has done for me. I will answer any letters from women asking about it."—Mrs. H. S. Wines, 1820 Jasper St., Birmingham, Ala.

From Mother of Seven

"I am the busy mother of seven children. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound before my last baby was born. She is a fine little girl and I am still taking the medicine to keep up my strength. I intend to give it to my oldest girl when she matures, just as my mother gave it to me when I was young. We know how good the Compound is for mothers and daughters."—Mrs. Sadie Butler, 2 Tyler St., Providence, R. I.
