Resentment is a tree that bears only fruit of misery.—Chinese Philosophy.

A Three-Cornered Race

While the East swelters Oregon is cool in temperature. But politically Oregon is about as hot as any place in the nation. The nomination of Phil Metchan, recognized adherent to the old guard by the famous committee of 36, has apparently not settled matters already greatly confused by the death of George Joseph.

Turning a deaf ear to the public demand for a Joseph man, the republican state central committee, denying itself the right to make or endorse a platform, boldly threw overboard the Joseph platform, and adding insult, as some would make it appear, nominating a man, who by no stretch of imagination could be designated in accord with Joseph's ideals.

The net results will be the naming of an independent candidate for governor, probably Julius Meier or Rufus Holman, which means a three sided race that will not be settled until the night of the election. In spite of the efforts of the powerful Oregonian, not much warmth has been created over the nomination of the republican party, and there is a great demand for the independent candidate.

"Kluxing" De Priest

The Masac Templars of America moved their national convention from Birmingham, Ala., to Little Rock, Ark., because they feared bodily harm to their principal speaker, Hon. Oscar DePriest, representative in U.S. Congress from Illinois. The Klan had already burned in effigy DePriest as a means of protest against his visit to Alabama. Now the Templars are being called cowards by some who live far away from Alabama and who no doubt never heard of the old adage, "he who meets and runs away will live to meet another day."

"Red" Menace or "White"

Congressman Fish's idea of having a committee of congressmen investigate the activities of the Communist party in this country is a brilliant one. We can think of none more brilliant unless it is a committee to investigate the activities of "White Fascists", the "white menace" in the United States. The Communist party and the "Reds" can stir up no more trouble than has already been done by such representative white men as Senator Blease of South Carolina and his ilk. Senator Blease in a recent address at Union, S.C., asking the people of S.C. to return him to the U. S. Senate, boasted that when he was governor of the state he never tried to protect Negroes from mobs; he pictured the U. S. Constitution as endangering the virtue of white women and declared, "To hell with the Constitution." Indirectly he advocates continued lynching. And yet no representative has urged an investigation of the "White menace" in the United States.

The caplet was mounted in points in front and accented by three brown buttons, and the skirt flared, repeating its circular movement, was placed slightly above the knees. Miss L. ... wore a brown bakou hat, caught up over the left eyebrow, and carried a brown, corded silk bag. A pink gailath choker with ivory motifs completed the costume. Pictorial Printed Pattern No. 5343 is a reproduction of this frock. Sizes 14 to 42, 35 cents.

Too Hot for Lynchers

An associated news dispatch from Walhalla, S. C., reveals the latest excuse for not punishing lynchers. It states that the presiding judge granted a motion of defense counsel for postponement of the trial of seventeen men indicted for lynching a colored boy late in April on the ground of "excessive heat", "until some indefinite time when the weather is cooler." The weather in South Carolina at the end of April was not too hot for a lynching but apparently judges, prosecutors and the seventeen white defendants are so sensitive to heat that they cannot be inconvenienced by the hot weather.

Menace to Christianity

Excerpt from Cleveland Call and Post Some weeks ago the Call and Post published an editorial entitled "Should Cleveland Have a Colored Y.M.C.A.?" Following closely on the heels of that editorial comes the news that the Central Branch of the Y.M.C.A. deliberately discriminates against a Negro student who was invited by his white friends to play pool.

We are aware of the fact that this institution operates under the name CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION. We know that Christianity is built on brotherly love, and many other things that are vastly different from discrimination. Are we then to interpret this organization as being a two-faced institution?

Any un-American, two-faced, Jim Crow, selfish, deceitful, discriminatory institution, posing as a Christian organization should be wiped from the face of the earth.

We repeat that Cleveland needs a community institution for its colored young men, but we are wondering if it will not be better for the leath of colored America's posterity—our youth—to remain as it is, rather than be contaminated with an institution polluted by un-American principles.

The above editorial calls to our mind a statement made recently by a distinguished Chinese who said "Chinese accept the Christian religion from American missionaries for political reasons. China cannot afford to have too many enemies at one time." The Chinese heart is not changed by the acceptance. So it would seem that the same holds true with American Christians. They accept religion for some reason or other but their heart never changes toward the Negro in America.

We too, are of the same opinion as the Call and Post when it says; it would be better that our youth remain as it is rather than be contaminated with an institution polluted by un-American principles.

St. Phillips Mission, Rodney and Knott streets looks very attractive with its new coat of tan and brown paint.
