EVERY CANDIDATE IS A "WINNER"

It is useless to hide the truth. The poor dumb bell who aspired for office is a political nut. Take ample warning and never contradict a goofy candidate who imparts the information to you that he is going to be elected, hands down. It is dangerous! You run no risk in telling the candidate that you do not think he is competent he will only laugh at you. You may indicate that you believe he seeks the office only for ulterior motives, and it will amuse him. You can inform him that a rotten bunch wants to put him across and it will only draw forth a smile. He is still your friend.

The moment you give him the slightest hint that you have doubts of his winning the election, it is all off. The friendship of years is broken. If a street car falls on you, he will howl with glee. The candidate will go out of his way—even years afterwards—to harpoon you. This is one of the morbid manifestations of the symptoms

Picken's

By William Picken

The freedom of Cuba demonstrates one error in the American thesis: in the United States it is everywhere supposed that in the absence of LAWS to prevent it, colored and white, white and black, would rapidly intermarry (in the absence, I mean, of either written law or the more terrible law of social vengeance). But in Cuba, where they may do as they please about it, people usually seek out their own colors in marriage, and nobody has any "curiosity" like that which imperils the association of white and colored in America. Nobody is wondering what sort of "horse-flesh" the other has. They know, and are not interested. When line is broken, the whites are more apt to break it.

of a political nut and if you don't believe it, put it to the test. Next time you see one of these maniacs who is running for office, say to him, "I don't believe you will have a ghost of a chance." You have starter something!

If he is elected, he will broadcast it to the whole world that you did your darndest to beat him. If he is defeated, he will harbor the thought that you helped to pull him down. Whether he is victorious or wallowed he will never forget or forgive you.

So take a tip from "father". Don't put your finger on a red-hot stove to see if you can raise a blister. If you don't want a dark brooding nemesis on your trail the rest of your sweet young life, be very, very careful in expressing the slightest doubt as to the election of a political nut.

INDUSTRIAL PROGRESS AND PAYROLLS . . . .

Unemployment is not merely the misfortune of the few. It is an economic affliction from which all suffer.

It has been written about, talked about, and fought about. But that does not help the situation.

We have a direct interest in community development. The growth and progress of a utility depend on the growth and industrial progress of the towns or cities it serves.

An electrified business is an efficient business, reducing its costs, increasing its market—a guarantee against unemployment.

It is not a cure-all, but it is a step in the right direction.

FASHIONS for the SMART WOMAN

S4

THREE ADORABLE FROCKS

If one has strolled about the parks in Paris, one notices that the French children, who are dressed in as perfect taste as their smart, sweet mothers, almost invariably wear frocks hanging straight from the shoulders or from a yoke, with much handwork. These three little pantie frocks all exploit the yoke idea. The printed lawn at the left confines its fullness with inverted tucks and adds the briefest of capelets; and both the yellow voile, which has brown handkerchief linen collar and cuffs, and the dotted swiss, with its organdie collar and puff sleeves, use smocking in two different and charming ways.

Modern Telephone Equipment Installed On Navy's Two Huge Aircraft Carriers

Dial telephones, very similar in appearance and operation to the dial telephones which render service to about five million telephone subscribers on dry land in this country, are now part of the regular sea-going equipment of the giant airplane carriers U. S. S. Saratoga and U. S. S. Lexington, and serve to provide instant intercommunication throughout each ship. The instruments and operating mechanism are of Bell System manufacture, especially adapted to meet the extraordinary conditions encountered aboard such unusual vessels as these, and the installations were made by the ships' crews under the direction of engineers assigned from the staff of the Bell Telephone Laboratories.

Nowhere is fast and reliable telephone service more necessary than on these two aircraft "mother ships." On each, two thousand officers and men, living and working in widely separated compartments on eight decks, require dozens of telephone channels for routine ship service alone. In addition, numerous calls are necessary to coordinate boiler, engine, distribution, and navigation departments when the ship is under way, and to coordinate these with ordnance groups during gunfire and with aviation stations during air maneuvers. The telephone installation on each ship consists of a dial private branch exchange having a capacity of 400 telephones, with necessary lines, switching apparatus and associated equipment. The installation aboard the Saratoga is now operating at full capacity, while it is expected that the Lexington's equipment will be brought up to the maximum number of lines before long.

Conditions which these sea-going telephone systems have to meet, and which are not found ashore, include heat, humidity, salt air, vibration, and pitching and rolling up to as much as 40 degrees from vertical. Equipment had to be insulated from steel decks, and some of the telephones had to be provided with water-tight mountings. The ships were under way during a part of the time required for installation, and work was often done while guns were firing salvos at targets miles away, squadrons of airplanes were taking off and landing again, and the vessels were coursing through the seas full speed ahead.

"THAT LITTLE GAME" --- All On a Summer's Night

THE QUESTION — AND — THE ANSWERS — JIMMY

AW, WHAT'S WRONG WITH YOU BIRDS? WHY WON'T YOU COME OVER? WE'VE HAD A LITTLE GAME: WILL YOU COME?

NO! IT'S TOO HOT! I'VE PEELED OFF ALL THE DUGS THE LAW WILL ALLOW, AND I'VE JUST FOUND A COOL SPOT— AND BELIEVE ME, I'M NOT GONNA GET ALL DRESSED AND SWBAT UP AGAIN.

HARRY: IF YOU PROMISE TO HAVE A FLOCK OF ELECTRIC FANS AT MY DISPOSAL, AND SOME COOL FLUID AND GOOD SERVICE AND SOMEONE TO DEAL FOR ME AND A MACHINE TO GET ME AND BRING ME BACK— WHAT?

DOGS: NOTHIN' STIRRI'N'. (HANGS UP RECEIVER.)

JOE: NOT ME! WHY, IT'S TOO HOT. YOU RUM! IF IT'S AS HOT AS THIS IN HADES I'M GONNA BE A GOOD BOY.

MAC: WHAT? IT'S COOL OVER THERE? YOU MUST HAVE YOUR PHONE IN THE ICE BOX— I'M GETTING OVER! NIK! TOO HOT! S'LONG.

JERRY: IT'S TOO HOT TO YOU! SEE YOU NEXT WINTER! GOOD BYE.

BILL: GET POSITIVE!

NO, AL, I'VE BEEN OUT IN THE HEAT ALL DAY, YOU KNOW HOW IT IS, I'D LIKE TO COME AND APPRECIATE THE INVITATION AND ALL THAT, BUT REALLY, OLD MAN, I THINK I'D BETTER STAY HERE! THANKS JUST THE SAME.
