IN THE REALM of Society

Pollyann, Society Editor

Miss Caroline Shepard was hostess to a number of young folks New Year's evening. Miss Edna Mill assisted her with serving.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Walker entertained with cards and a buffet supper at their home Thursday evening. Radio music and dancing were enjoyed also. Twelve persons were present.

The Culture Club was the guest of Mrs. Mary Alexander Monday afternoon. Miss Clifford Freeman, a former member, was the guest of honor.

The Kenwena Bridge Club met with Mr. and Mrs. Jack Martin Thursday evening.

Mrs. Winifred Cochran is enjoying a holiday vacation from her employment at home—to the delight of her many friends.

Mrs. Dora Keene entertained the Literary Research Club at her home, Friday, Jan. 2, at 2 p. m. The club is especially thankful to the public for the success of their New Year's Eve Dance. The following officers were elected for this year: Mrs. Frank Adams, president; Mrs. Beatrice Banister, vice-president; Pollyanna Reed, (re-elected) secretary; Mrs. Ila Fuller, treasurer. Mrs. Winifred Cochran, critic, and Mrs. Mamie Stanton, assistant secretary. The committee chairmen will be appointed by the president at the next meeting, Friday, Jan. 16th, with Mrs. Grace Jackson, on Harold Avenue. Each member is especially requested to be present, on time, 2 p. m. sharp.

In last week's report of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stanton's Christmas dinner through inadvertence, the name of the late E. Richardson was omitted. In the original report his name was included. The Advocate regrets making this error very much, especially in the light of recent developments.

Mrs. C. H. Binford wishes to take this method of extending thanks to Mrs. Henrietta Marshall who invited her to a Christmas Dinner and also to the many others who took part in making her Christmas a happy one.

Miss Margaret Mosley spent the past week-end as the guest of Mrs. J. E. Powell at her country home.

The Esperanto Breakfast club was entertained Wednesday by Mrs. Estelle Gragg at her home in Alberta.

The Culture Club entertained New Year's Eve with a dancing party at the Elks Temple.

James Madley of Salem, spent the holidays in Portland as the guest of his sister, Mrs. J. R. Mills and family. George Mullen, of 318 E. 41st, street called to see Mrs. Hattie Jackson in Salem last Sunday. He took a basket of good things to eat.

Mr. Henry Frank spent last Saturday in Portland.

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Jamieson were dinner guests of Mrs. Beatrice Cannady on Tuesday evening.

The Advocate is in receipt of a very beautiful Christmas card from Mrs. Zephah Baker from Indianapolis, Indiana. Mrs. Baker says she will be home about the middle of January.

Sergeant Joseph White Camp, S.-A. War Vets, together with the Ladies' Auxiliary, will have the installation of their officers tonight at their hall in the Court House. M. McGinniss was recently elected Commander and Mrs. S. E. Stanfield head of the Auxiliary.

Honoring the editor of The Advocate, Mrs. Beatrice Cannady, a group of friends had a dinner and card party at Mrs. Powell's place on Foster Road, last night. A delicious course turkey dinner was served. Cards were played at four tables. Music and dancing were additional diversions.

Mr. and Mrs. George Mullen were hosts at a beautifully appointed Christmas dinner honoring Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wilson and Miss Edna Kittrell. Places were arranged for eight guests. The house was beautifully decorated in Yuletide colors. All had a lovely time.

THE PEPLUM FROCK

For the woman who is weary of indefinitely washing her white collars and cuffs, and who is looking for a trimming that's as glossy as galyak, as flexible as sponge, and durable as stone, black patent-leather has been exploited, and this model employs it in a marvelous manner on the surplice V-neckline and on the pointed cuffs. The circular skirt and peplum join the blouse at the natural waistline, which is accented by a patent-leather-trimmed belt. Wool crepe in the new dusty blue shade would be an attractive medium and as practical as it is popular.

The YOUNGER SET

(By GENEVA IVEY)

Little Erma Lee Washington is quite ill at this writing.

Helena Searce has returned from Oregon City, after spending the holidays there. Helena reports she had an enjoyable visit and that a party was given in her honor, also.

A dancing party which might easily have been a dinner party was given last Friday night by Leon Johnson at his home, Eugene Street. Refreshments were served, which included turkey, salad, hot dogs and punch. You may be sure every one had a great time.

Misses Grace and Helena Searce entertained a number of friends with a dancing party at their home in Mt. Scott on New Year's Eve. A delicious repast was served.

A card received from Georgia Miller assured us that Kansasa City is a great place to spend the Xmas holidays. But most of us aren't that fortunate.

Have you noticed the new lid Ivan Cannady is wearing? Well, he got it Xmas and wants everybody to know it as its a great novelty for the Canady brothers to wear hats. Any way, there isn't much to say, except we're surely glad George didn't get one, too.

SPORTS

If you weren't at the big basketball game Thursday night, you certainly missed something good. It was a great game alright, a big double header, too. Well, will tell you more about it next week.

Monday's Oregonian carried a very fine likeness of Otto Rutherford, president of the Joymakers' Club and an active member of Allen C. E. Mr. Rutherford participated in an inter-racial Christian Endeavor program Sunday at a local white church. Mr. Rutherford is one of Portland's finest young men.

Loyal Comrade's basket ball team played Centenary Wilbur team Friday night.
