"don't you love Miss Oliver?" she asked eagerly.

"No. And I have never confessed that I did. Since I came into this room I am convinced that I shall never love any woman—but—you. Last night my fiancée disgraced herself in public with your guardian. He has suddenly become my very successful rival."

"Yes, I know he has designs upon your company and upon Miss Oliver. And I was bold enough to write you an anonymous letter, warning you of the danger you face, for you stand in his way with Miss Oliver and the company. And now, if he should discover your interest in me, well—I shudder to think of the consequences."

"And you thought enough of me to warn me?" asked Theo, holding out his arms impulsively to her.

Love at First Sight

Abashed, but with a shy movement, the lovely girl entered the embrace which enfolded her closely. A happy smile beamed on her face as she looked up into his eager eyes. "Yes," she whispered, "you have remained the handsome knight of my dreams, my hero, but I never dreamed of such a reality." As her lips met his in a clinging kiss, the woman on the floor groaned and turned over.

"You must leave me now, Jenny will soon be coming to, and there's no telling who might come in," Marcia urged.

"All right, but are you sure you are perfectly safe from molestation?" Theo quizzed anxiously.

"Yes, for the time being I am safe, I feel. At least, until those policies are issued. Bolton is kind to me, and I only fear Jenny when she is doped. Now that I have you, I shall be happy and have more courage."

"If anything develops will you come to me? And will you keep in constant touch with me?"

"You know I will. And will you be very careful? It will be a hard fight, but if we win, I'll bestow upon my Prince Charming the greatest love a woman ever gave a man."

With a parting kiss and embrace, Theo turned to leave the angelic presence of the girl who had pledged her love to him under such strange circumstances. There came a ring of the bell, and the next instant Theo heard the unlocked front door shut.

Marcia, quick to perceive the danger of Theo's discovery, jumped to the recovering Jenny and grasped the knife she had dropped. With rapid action she shoved the weapon into Theo's hand, led him to a nearby closet door into which Theo stepped for concealment. Hardly had the door closed when Edward Terry, Bolton's shifty-eyed friend, appeared at the hall door.

"What the devil is the matter?" he demanded of Marcia, as he entered the room and approached the groaning Jenny.

Double-crosses a Crook

Through a slight crack in the door Theo watched and listened as Terry's eyes feasted on the ravishing beauty of Marcia. His blood ran hot, and he crouched, ready to spring out upon the unsuspecting visitor with his first move to annoy the thinly clad girl.

"Nothing, only Jenny has had another spell," Marcia answered him crisply.

"Well, I came to see you anyway. Say, kid, I've got plans all laid and I want you to skip with me. I'll take you out of this 'hell hole' and after six months are up we can marry and go to France. You know this

After Mrs. Winchester's death, many of the furnishings were removed, but in the basement are still to be found thousands of dollars worth of building materials for which she combed the markets of the world. These include light fixtures, art glass windows and doors, high grade interior finish woods, such as cedar, oak, ash, walnut, mahogany, maple, cherry, and rosewood.

After many years of such intensive building, apparently without purpose, but nevertheless with a desire to defeat death, Mrs. Winchester died

"Mr. Terry, I'll tell you once more and forever, and I hope you'll be convinced, that I shall never marry you nor have anything to do with you. I'd die first," Marcia flashed at him.

"Oh, I don't know. Since you're so cock sure, I guess I'll just take you as you are. You look pretty good in those togs, and after the first time, it won't be so hard for you. 'Janes' like you have to be taught their first lesson." And with a fiendish light in his treacherous eyes, he advanced toward his intended prey.

Castoria made especially for CHILDREN

CHILDREN usually hate to take medicine but every child loves the taste of Castoria. And mothers like its action—so gentle, yet so prompt and effective.

Castoria is a never-failing comfort to children and mothers alike because it was formulated expressly for children—to correct their little ills and upsets.

The beauty of it is you can give Castoria to children of all ages with equally sure results. When baby's cry warns of colic, a few drops of Castoria has him soothed; and free from pain, he is asleep again in a jiffy.

In an older child when coated tongue or bad breath tell of constipation, a more liberal dose is usually all that is needed to cleanse and regulate the bowels.

Your doctor will tell you Castoria deserves a place in the family medicine cabinet until your children are grown. He knows it is safe for the tiniest baby; effective for a child in his teens.
