IN EVERY HOME

Because of the fact that the general public has come to regard aspirin as a medical necessity and the average home always has one or more boxes on hand at all times, it is now possible to purchase twelve 5-grain tablets of genuine pure aspirin for 10c. There is no reason to pay more. When you go into a drug store to buy aspirin, never say "Gimme some aspirin." Be safe, be sure, be sensible. Always ask for St. Joseph's Genuine Pure Aspirin and you will get aspirin that thousands of druggists know is as pure as money can buy. St. Joseph's Aspirin is both genuine and pure and because of this fact has quickly become the largest selling aspirin in the world for 10c. It meets every government standard. The next time you want aspirin be sure to ask for "St. Joseph's."

When You
INDULGE

EVERY man, woman and child will occasionally over-indulge. But don't suffer for your indiscretions. It's folly to do so when you can so easily sweeten and settle a sour, upset stomach with a little Phillips' Milk of Magnesia.

Hearty eaters have long since learned the quick comfort this perfect anti-acid brings. Smokers know how it neutralizes nicotine; brings back a sweet taste; guards the breath. Women know what it does for nausea—or sick headache. And when children have over-eaten—are bilious, constipated or otherwise upset—give them a little of the same, pleasant-tasting and milky-white Phillips' Milk of Magnesia.

You'll be through with crude methods once you learn the perfect way. Nothing else has the same quick, gentle effect. Doctors prescribe it for sour stomach, indigestion, heartburn, gas, nausea, headache. It has been standard with them for over 50 years.

Insist on genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia; a less perfect product may not act the same. The genuine is always a liquid—never in tablet form—and the name Phillips is always on bottle and wrapper.

form creaked and slowly ascended, bearing the car aloft.

Apparently beyond further resistance, Marcia was quickly shoved through the opened door. Terry disappeared with her for only a moment and then re-appeared in the passage to secure the discarded traveling bags. But before he could retrace his steps toward the room, the figure of a slender Chinese girl ran from the door opposite and intercepted him.

Terry Set Upon

Terry showed his surprise and disgust as the girl, attired only in a dance set, accosted him. He rejected her entreaties and finally shoved her from him. But before he could reach the door, the agile dancer sprang upon him and her sinuous body twined about him like a serpent. The scheming Terry slowly sank to the ground as another crouching figure, carrying a long keen knife, stole across the corridor.

At that critical instant Theo was forced into action by the appearance of Marcia in the doorway, evidently attracted by the sounds of the scuffle. Her startled glance beheld Terry, down and struggling to free himself from the deadly clutches of the naked Chinese girl. She seized the opportunity to flee, and started toward the coal pile, but stopped dead in her tracks as she beheld the stealthy approach of the Chinese with the glittering knife.

A New Peril Looms

Theo saw death creeping upon the woman he loved, and all the links in the recent chain of events flashed before his mind and galvanized into one horrible truth. Terry and Marcia were to pay the supreme penalty. There was no further mystery. All was perfectly clear to him now, and the intent and purpose, plot and counterplot, welded themselves into a single unit.

The creeping oriental was about to leap. The leer of his murderous smile stunned the beautiful victim, but a shot rang out, the knife fell with a clatter on the rough cement floor and its holder sank to his knees, grasping his side, then his body stiffened and he fell prone.

Like a miracle to the stricken girl, the image of her lover appeared before her, and clasped her in his arms to reassure her. "Marcia!—quick—run to that coal pile," Theo whispered hoarsely. He released her and sprang to the intersection of the passage and hurriedly removed the lone electric bulb which shrouded the place in an inky darkness, just as the Chinese girl and Terry ceased their combat on the floor.

Like a spirit, Theo slid along the side of the wall and reached the coal pile, where Marcia awaited him. With his arms about her, he cautioned her silence, while he scrambled upon the coal pile and attempted to force open the iron coal lid. But the slipping lumps of coal prevented his securing the necessary foothold and before he could accomplish his purpose sounds of a commotion arose down the passage, near the steps.

Footsteps and cursing voices entered the inky passage and soon a flashlight or two appeared, but caution seemed to govern their advance. Several doors were opened and slammed instantly, and a woman screamed. One flash appeared in advance of the others, and as it reached the offset, Theo threw the bulb he had removed from the socket.

Thugs Frightened Off

Like a gunshot, the exploded bulb caused a hasty retreat, and Theo quickly led Marcia to a position of safety behind the coal pile. And none too soon, for a fusillade of shots came from the other end, spending themselves against the coal and the walls.

Then followed the advancing lights again, and Theo, peering around the pile, perceived the attempt to replace the bulb. He quickly slipped his gun from his pocket, raised his arm, and fired. There was a yell, then a scramble for the steps and all became dark and still again.

For fully ten minutes the hunted couple awaited the enemy's next move. It came from an unexpected and dangerous quarter, as Marcia called Theo's attention to the fact that an attempt was being made to lift the coal door directly above them. And this became a certainty as the heavy iron lid was slowly pried loose and dragged aside.

Cognizant of this new peril, Theo seized Marcia's hand and pulled her along with him down the passage, along the side of the wall until he reached what he judged to be the door leading into the room where Marcia had been dragged by Terry. The key was still in the lock and he entered the dungeon-like space and closed and locked the door behind Marcia. With the flashlight he had taken from the overpowered guard, he inspected the place. It proved to be one of the several, ventilated underground bedrooms, magnificently furnished.

In less time than it takes to describe it, Theo had moved the several pieces of furniture against the door, forming a barricade. He then led Marcia to a corner where they conversed in whispers. Several times there was a knocking at the door, which indicated that Foo Chang's gang had evidently lighted and reclaimed the passage.

Marcia Explains Her Absence

"Where on earth have you been, Marcia?" Theo questioned the girl who clung to him in the darkness.

"I slipped off and went to Oklahoma to settle the will and claim my father's estate. And I succeeded beyond my fondest dreams. In fact, there was never anything to doubt as to my rights and security. Judge Holman, a particular friend of my father's, had secretly investigated Bolton's methods and is under indictment now for father's death. His power and authority over me is at an end forever, and henceforth I am mistress of my own fortune, which isn't so much after all, but worth fighting for. But why didn't you answer my letters?"

"Well, that clears up several more points in the mystery which will be fully explained if we ever get out of here alive," Theo told her. "But let

"I USED TO CRY AND CRY OVER MY DARK, UGLY SKIN"

(A True Story From Life)

"I was unhappy. I was miserable. There was nothing I loved to do better than dance. And I never got a chance to. Of course, my brother danced with me at home, and took me to several of his friend's dances but men didn't ask me to dance with them. Men didn't even notice me. They had no time for a girl with dark, bumpy skin like mine when they could go with plenty of girls who had clear, light, pretty skin. No one knows how unhappy I was. In the daytime, I cried before my mirror. At night, I would get so 'blue' I would cry myself to sleep.

MY AUNT TOLD ME HOW TO CLEAR AND LIGHTEN MY SKIN

"Finally my aunt noticed how unhappy I was and guessed the reason why. So one day she came into my room and told me that I could clear up my skin in a hurry if I would go down to the drug store and get a package of Genuine Black and White Ointment and a bar of Genuine Black and White Skin Soap. Believe me, I didn't lose any time getting these preparations and I started using them at once.
