

How They Say "Number, Please?"

IN CZECHOSLOVAKIA Being Gallows

On the roofs of these buildings in Bratislava, formerly Pressburg, are crossarms and insulators which would seem to indicate that, telephonically speaking, some cities in Czechoslovakia are still in the open wire stage.

CHURCH HAS UNIQUE PROGRAM

The Mount Olivet Baptist Church inaugurates a new feature, commencing Sunday night, August 30, which should prove popular and increase night attendance to the church services.

Since the redecorating of the interior of the church and the installation of the new lighting system, concerts of this nature can be rendered with the same effect as if rendered from a regular theater.

The general public is extended a cordial welcome to these programs and persons desiring favorite selections may request at any one of the services attended, and the same will be rendered the following Sunday night.

BUSINESS GIRL'S CODE IS MODERN DECALOGUE

She Sets "Ten Commandments" to Live Up to on the Job

What sort of things do business people talk under the glass tops of their desks, where they will be constantly in sight during working hours?

An enterprising reporter for the employe magazine of the Illinois Bell Telephone Company determined to find out. The answer was: As many different kinds of things as there are people—and all of them interesting.

"1. Thou shalt be punctual at thy place of business.

"2. Thou shalt arise from thy bed in ample time to make thy toilet and apply thy complexion aids before leaving thy domicile.

"3. Thou shalt discourage private telephone calls during business hours.

"4. Thou shalt refrain from reading or writing thy love letters at thy desk, while the boss waits and wonders at thy slowness in getting out that list for him.

"5. Thou shalt not waste expensive office supplies merely because they are not paid for from thy purse.

"6. Thou shalt not be arrogant and overbearing to the office boy, but treat the young lad as though he were a real human being, as indeed he is.

"7. Thou shalt not prance out to the wash room every seventy minutes and stay twenty minutes to gossip with thy friends from other offices on the same floor.

"8. Thou shalt not 'pass the buck' when something goes wrong, due to thy carelessness, but own up like a little lady and be more careful next time.

"9. Thou shalt make it the prime rule of thy business life never to make the same mistake twice.

"10. Thou shalt be loyal to thy employer and to his interests so long as thou shalt receive thy salary from his hand regularly."

A DANGEROUS PREACHER

The story goes that at a District conference, a minister was required to read a report on "The Spiritual Condition of the people of the District." He announced:

"I have no report," then proceeded to say, "I don't need a report; I can tell it all in three sentences; the spiritual condition was never worse; it will never be any better; all are going to hell; and it is true because Jesus said it."

Needless to say that this young divine was given his "walking papers."

The Advocate acknowledges with great appreciation copies of "Arbeiter Illustrirten Zeitung," popular illustrated German weekly published in Berlin. One number was devoted to the Scottsboro case and to exploited and jim-crowed Negroes the world over. It is said this Negro number had a circulation of a half million.
