eyes. "Give me that deilar, lady, an' you'll soon know a plenty.

Martha took out the dollar, but wanted to be sure.

The Boy Grows Garrufous

"Me', too, lady. He's been comin' here to see my sister an' I den't like him. I gotta get even with him for somethin' he said to me the other night. I'm going to give that guy the works." She gave him the dollar. He dropped his voice very low, looking upward at the house. go down to the basement door. It's most time for him to come. I'll most time for him to come. I'l sneak in upstairs and let you hid: hind the irin gate under the stoop. Then you just list in."

Martha slipped cautiously to the basement door, waving gaily to the two girls next door who were craning their necks and wondering what it was all about. In a moment the iron gate was opened very slowly. The boy stepped out and motioned Martha to go inside. The two friends on the stoop nearly had heart pal-pitation then, but were reassured by Martha's waving to them again gally and kelping the gate ajar. The boy who had walked out to the side-walk, hurriedly returned to the gate.

Nervous, Weak. No Appetite

"Before I started taking ydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I was so cross my husband asked what the matter was. I had no appetite and my back and head ached most of the time. I am now on my fourth bottle of Vegetable Compound It certainly has made a great change in me. I do my work and feel in good spirits." - Mrs. Jessie Anderson, 1236 N. Senate Ave., Indianapolis, Ind.

98 out of 100 Women REPORT BENEFIT FROM Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Sure enough, a jaunty figure of a little man was nearing the house. His raiment appeared glistening as he passed under the street lamp, his held on to it. "You will tell me hat set at a rakish angle and a everything, I want to know?" She came swinging flashily. While he was vet twenty or thirty feet from the house of his destination, the vengeful little fellow hailed him, his vaice load and strong booming out in reverberations from the walks of the houses of the street.

Mr. "Fernandez" Arrives

"Hel-le, Mister Fernandes!" A high, familiar waving of the arms accompanied this greeting as he continued. "How are you this fine evening?" He was facetiously grinning as he noted that people were beginning to was about up to the stoop of the field with the year's net profits. And house. "Well!" His voice was sharp he was, for court would not open and annoyed. "Why all the sudden again till September 15, and in the freshness this evining?"

Clarissa nearly jumped to her feet, but restrained the impulse. "That's Joe! I couldn't mistake that voice." Her whisper was filled with venous.

hand on her arm. The boy's loud spown color.

Small eyes look out at you and inspected and all but disappeared as the tiny winkles gathered about them and the immaculate sleeve of the dandy in both his dirty hands, gripping in both his dirty hands, gripping him in mock affection and thus detaining him at the foot of the sloop. Before the offended man could remove his hands and go up the steps, the boy was again talking. "I heard the boy was again talking. "I heard you last night just makin' love to Angrily the man turned and shook himself away. At the same instant the door of the house swung violent-ly open and a perfect vision of arti-ficiality appeared. A tall woman clothed in a most unbecoming gown of the brightest rose-colored silk contrasting oddly with her dark skin. gold slippers, and a prominent pair of gold-rimmed eveglasses to top it off, stood with stiff attempt at dig-nified imporatnee. "Rob-ert! Rob-ert! Come in here." Then, favoring the caller with such a sweet look, "Come in, Vasco," she urged.

The Boy Spills the Beans

But the boy would not be denied. Aw, wait a minute." His voice was Aw, wait a minute." His voice was mockingly persuasive, but he blocked the way. "You told her you loved her. You kissed her. You said you wanted to marry her, and that you would bring her the ring tonight." All in a rush came his words like a torrent. "Robert!" Gone was all dignity as his sister shrink of was all dignity as his sister shrinked aloud now in consternation, for heads were peeping from every direction. His work done, the imp dashed down the stept escaping the attempted seizure of the man's hand and there at the bottom he stood vigorously think of that tobacco you spoke to thumbing his nose. me about Raleigh: "Yeah?" He taunted The dandy's Raleigh: it. Well, face twitched in a convulsion of rage lt. W and down the steps he came, speak-someti ing incoherent words and gripping his cane with a mighty effort which possibly just shear nervousness. The taunting boy merely vaulted over the low wall of the stoop into the yard and there stood Martha Jones confronting her husband.

confronting her husband. Silently she marched around to Silently she marched around to bies. He has a him, Isoking him in the face like an avenging angel, and he shrunk into himself like a punctured toy balloon. Por an instant she spoke not a word, and he merely gasped in astonishment, his mouth hanging open in the foolish-Isoking way that patients, how strong they ment acquire in the dentist's and he merely gasped in astonishment, his mouth hanging open in the foolish-looking way that patients sometimes acquire in the dentist's chair just after the extraction of a Painful tooth.

His affinity put on her dignity once more and swept down the steps. "Vasco' Surrenders of furniture never arises.

No Ornaments

"That is one of the secrets of a contented married life," he mused. "You find out that two persons grow into understanding and companionship as the years go by, if they are properly matched. The value and her more dignity.

A finger shook in her face. "That's his wife. You—" Clarissa clenched her fists as she pushed forward threateningly. "You—" The affinity gasped and retreated.

"Vasco" Surrenders

"Ms. Fernandezi Vasco!" Martha painful tooth.

His affinity put on her dignity

"Mr. Pernandez! Vasco!" Martha had found her voice, and very promptly she found another nuptial right. "So you kissed her, and promised to marry her! Well, you are not going to do it!" Both of her hands suddenly flew into action and the glass she valued woon his force. the slaps she rained upon his face were the only sounds which broke the stillness as an increasing group of onlookers gazed in silent enjoy-ment. "Now, give me my ring," she commanded, "and come on home." of onlookers gazed in silent enjoyment. "Now, give me my ring," she commanded, "and come on home."
Wife has begun a discussion with me about a topic that was on the tip of

"Oh, lady! Please go! Quick! a cop street, is coming They raided this house "Bye find out. You help me and I'll give you—a dollar." She smiled at him encouragingly, her hand in her purse.

A shrewd look came into the boy's gure enough, a jaunty figure of a "Oh, lady! Please go! Quick! a cop street.

"He's coming." He whispered. "Stay hearing. "If you don't, I will have you alled." He fumbled in his purse, the fumbled in his purse.

But not even a cop could now sweetheart, also called as fully finked their arms into Joe's on way up to her side, much excited.

"If you don't, I will have once. He's coming! He's coming!"

But not even a cop could now sweetheart, also called as fully finked their arms into Joe's on each side and strutted off down the bawled the affinity. "I'll arrested myself." She by

"Bye-bye, dear," called Clarissa to door. The crown

"Bye-bye she called sarcastically

The crowd scattered.

Judge Toney The Man Who Loves His Wife

By THE OBSERVER

July and people were perspiring more that habit of catching and unuse, he made the remark, "It is sideration. When you get married, self of his coat.

As he sat down to his large desk urn their heads to see what it was he gave the appearance of being a By this time the jaunty little man prosperous business man well satisfind with the year's net profits. And meantime vication days were ahead.

He is a purily man, well set up, ith white hair framing a well-shaped in head, showing a predisposition to baldness. His face is full and of a eddish brown color

JUDGE CHARLES E. TONEY

about life in general, and his mind

me about sometime ago. Sir Walter that's

Bear

get.

NEW YORK -It was a hot day in as mental telepathy. I think it is I was preparing to leave. freely and looking in vain for a derstanding a person's actions and When Judge Toney walked moods. It makes for ease and com- people do not take properly. It takes into his law officer on Seventh Ave- fore, this mutual good will and conhot!" and immediately divested him- think about it, and see if it doesn't work out

Character, Hard Work

This judge finds in each day's work a new challenge to integrity, sincerity and honesty in the administering of the law

"Character and hard work are two important things in the daily life a judge," he said to a firm voice.

Though not a vigorous indulger in athletics, Judge Tomey is an ardert sports fan. He gets a great kick out of football, baseball, and prizefighting. And when lazy summer days come on, he likes to go away for a bit of fishing up in New York State.

We drifted into a discussion of the superstitious habits of many of the maulers in the mat and glove pro-

Walked Under Ladder

"I do not believe I have any super-I do not believe I have any super-sitions." he laughed "Only this morning I walked under a ladder. I didn't know that there was a super-sition attached to that action until you mentioned it. There are a lot of people who are superstitious and are not aware of it. As far as my court is concerned we do not harbor any. Friday the thirteenth is just another working day for me and the law.

"I hope you are going to have lots my tongue. I do not look upon this of fun this vacation," I told him as

Vacationing Properly

"Vacation is a thing that many a certain sense of proportion to enjoy your vacation. You can do a lot of work and a lot of loafing in vacation time and work the two hand in hand very well. I believe that the minicipal court judges de-serve all the vacation they get." He waved me to the door, and with a "Good back to you," went back to his desk and his work.

Farmer's Troubles

important things in the daily life of a judge," he said to a firm voice.

"Public confidence in the law and in the administrature of the law is the foundation stone of our cluria."

The Communists

In reply to the question as to the efficacy of the American courts, he said:

"The law in American stands up well under the terriffic strain put well under the terriffic strain put and its public servants."

In this connection he had something to say concerning the Communists.

"Regardless of their method of approach to their problems, we can certainly say that the Communists offer to the Negro a square deal on the question of culor. They bring a sense of justice and fair play into being that is totally lacking in our so-called Christianity. The Christianity has we know in this country is biatant hypocriay. The Y.M.C.A. is a good example of this."

Though not a vigorous indulger in athlistics, Judge Toney is an aident.

Wheat in Kansas which brings the farmer only 25 or 3d cents a bushed is serious business for the whole camity. One thing is serious business for the whole camity. One thing is serious business for the whole is serious business for the whole camity. One thing is serious business for the whole camity. One thing is serious business for the whole camity. One thing is serious business for the whole camity. One thing is serious business for the whole camity. One thing is serious business for the whole camity. One thing is serious business for the whole camity. One thing is serious business for the whole camity. One thing is serious business for the whole camity. One thing is serious business of the loaf of bread to the extanting same in the sativity seal and the city bread lines.

Agriculture is going through an industrial revolution of its own, We can't stop it. We can't stop

WISE BUYING

People no longer buy in a care-less fashion. Refore every pur-chase one intelligently considers whether or not it represents a seund value. This practice has resoulted in large increases in sales for those products which are worthy of public patronage. More than 10,000 new users every day are changing to St. Joseph's Genuine Pure Aspirin because they realize that it is neither sensible nor necessary to my more than 10c. realize that it is neither sensible nor necessary to pay more than 10c for 12 tablets of genuine pure aspirin. "St. Joseph'a" is packed in moistare-proof cellophane to preserve the purity and full strength of each tablet. When you want pure and genuine aspirin ask your druggist for the largest seller in the world for 10c. "St. Joseph's".

LUSTROUS HAIR and FLOWER-LIKE COMPLEXION

The lustrous hair you wish can be yours always, if you use Poro Hair Grower and Poro Brilliantine.

The same skill which developed them has been used to reate Poro, Vanishing Cream and Poro Face Powder.

 Poro Vanishing Cream provides an excellent base for each of the 8 shades of Poro Face Powder. For a complexion, silken in texture and radiantly lovely, always use these exquisite preparations.

Particular women all over America have become intimate friends with these beauty aids. To be really smart and chic, you too, must use PORO Products A nearby Poro Agent will cheerfully serve you. For her name and complete list write

PORO COLLEGE, INC. 4415 SOUTH PARKWAY PORO BLOCK, 44th to 45th Street

CHICAGO, ILLINOIS

No Ornaments

of furniture never arises.

"It makes a man feel like going ahead into his day's work when he knows that upon coming home he is going to meet someone who understands him.

Real Understanding

"It is interesting to know how it is that two persons who have lived together for some years can grow to understand and appreciate each