

knows all the young possibilities and, in raising them, has created a fierce sense of resentment and jealousy in her mature circle. The story goes that one prominent youngster confessed to his girl that he had fallen for Miss Smith. "It's not too late to save you!" the young thing avowed. She married him the next day. And Washington goes on...

Three Classes of Society

Society in Washington is divided into three main factors. Under the first come those of the professions and their elders, the family standard ex-bearers of yesteryear. Under the second, come the bootleggers, who though cognizant, are constantly reminded of their positions. And then the hot pollut. Summing it all up, one must know that without the second the first could not survive! You see, the riff-raffs make the poison for the bootleggers who sell it to the doctors. This lye, when properly prescribed, is sold in turn to the riff-raffs. One couldn't possibly get along without the other.

All Old Families Related

The Blue Book bears the names of the oldest families in Washington. All of these families, though some of them will deny it, are related. Back in the '80's a number of colored folk immigrated across the Potomac and settled. They intermarried, naturally. Today, these "old families" are the leaders. And the leading they do! Really there is little difference between the "nice" children and the alley brats. The former do their swearing and evil indoors while the latter exercise their prerogatives out of doors!

But, on the other hand, they are not all scarlet. The creme of the educators of this country are in Washington. Our foremost women are civily cognizant. Which is all very encouraging. Only the number of position-and-social-standing ones are very scarce of true quality.

An Official's Niece

For example, take Mary Jones (to you) had just been appointed to teach. At a bridge party of officials, she was honor guest. After the formalities were over, my partner leaned over and whispered, "My dear—who is her father? Light? Does he teach?" I replied that I didn't know. Well, in the course of events, it was disclosed that she was the niece of one of our white officials. Immediately the poor thing was swamped with invitations, and today contentedly dictates from her lofty pedestal.

Pajama Party

Society members do not talk "out of turn." Recently when a young member of the junior league appeared at a pajama party with the initials of a married teacher thereon, the delicious tale never got out of the room. A neighbor of mine was exiled for a year because he unconsciously told a friend of a local scandal. The friend's husband was a newspaper reporter.

No Brains

Social antagonism is prevalent to a large extent among the debs and debutantes. When Grace Jones (to you) breezed into town from Richmond and entered school there was quite a flurry. For Grace had clothes galore, an apartment, three frat pins (and no brains).

She was feted and chased after. She joined one of the exclusive clubs and took a yen to the president. Now, Washington girls draw the line at their men folk, and consequently when Grace was "found out," she was unceremoniously kicked out and her tea dropped off the program.

Collegiate Editor Slapped

Then, there is the brilliant young man who edits a column of collegiate socials in a local paper. Henry (to you) wears smart clothes, is very attractive and dances superbly with some very high opinion for his clever work. He gets invitations to the swanky affairs with requests for "a good write-up." Well, Henry had been invited to a beach picnic. His hostess was very much put out when Henry didn't show up. When he did appear at another party later, his previous hostess was even more hurt. For her feelings, she gave him a resounding slap. Immediately she was dropped from the "swim" for her really unladylike act, and Henry got another wave of invitations for his suffering...

Teachers' Circle

There is Maurya. Maurya is really a sweet girl. But when she snubbed another girl, a little more of a "swimmer" than she, that sounded her doom. Today Maurya is a "oh, yes-I-knew-her!" girl.

The gay life the D.C. teachers' circle lead is another story. The costly functions are presided over by them. And half of them barely live from one market day to the next.

There is Louise, who, aging, managed to rope a high school graduate for a husband. Louise groomed him for months and now they lead the set, although he was disowned by his preacher father. For the splendid publicity he begot, his younger sister was voted the most popular girl in her school.

Bamboo Inn

The Bamboo Inn, Washington's oasis whence the bi-dollared ones gathered in days of yore, was the site of many a historical scene. One morning a very dear friend of mine, rather fluid filled, nearly broke up the place when he recognized his brother in a suit of his. Many a debutante executed her first successful flirt over a Bamboo Inn coffee cup and got a receipt for her pains. But, the elite didn't appreciate the Chinese owner's efforts to keep out the un- nice and the mecca deteriorated.

Simply because her son was expelled from school for stealing candy doesn't eliminate Mrs. Jones (L.Y.) from the bridge tables. Nor her husband's business, of a shady nature, affected by the criminal record of still another son. Not by a small chance.

Borrowed Husbands

You have read of our want-to-be-free figure who, with a famous mother, is apartment-ing in a fast and deluxe manner. Quality whisky, hired help, borrowed clothes and borrowed husbands. She only recently got rid of a too-old-to-be-any-good hubby. And he has grown to be pitifully dependent.

Builds Healthy Blood

ONE DAY'S DANDRUFF

WHEN lazy glands won't open, the hair is starved and faded.

WHEN lazy glands don't close, scalp is fouled by secretions.

LAZY GLANDS

A fastidiously clean body, but a scalp that is a scandal. The white shame of American women. Dandruff!

Get rid of dandruff. Anyone can. And no one can ever hide it. In its secondary stage, the infested scalp sheds enough dead scale to fill a tablespoon every twenty-four hours!

And a simple treatment will end this disgusting condition!

Dandruff is caused by lazy glands that won't open and close. They need to be stimulated. You can do this with your finger-tips, dipped in Danderine, to dissolve the gum that fouls the pores. The worst caked scalp will soften under this massage. There will not be a speck of free dandruff after one application.

Don't neglect lazy glands, or the scalp will granulate and leave the hair dry as straw—and as dead. Even its color is affected when roots are starved, and telltale streaks must be "touched up." If you will only stimulate the glands you won't have to use color restorers.

Glands that stay open are just as bad! Hair and scalp get oily and odorous—soil and smell-up your hats. Danderine is a positive corrective of this condition. It's a medicine meant for sick scalps. And its fresh fragrance makes it fine for brushing through the hair as the finishing touch to head daintiness.

And if you doubt that Danderine makes hair grow—measure the length after using one thirty-five cent bottle!

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Rosent's substitute. 25c at all stores. © 1931 C. M. Co.
