HAYS HERE ON SATURDAY EVE.

Large interest is being manifested in music circles in the coming concert next Saturday night by Roland

MR. HAYES

Hayes, world renowned tenor. Mr. Hayes is making his seventh tour in America and will sing in Portland at the Civic Auditorium under management of Selby C. Oppenheimer Series.

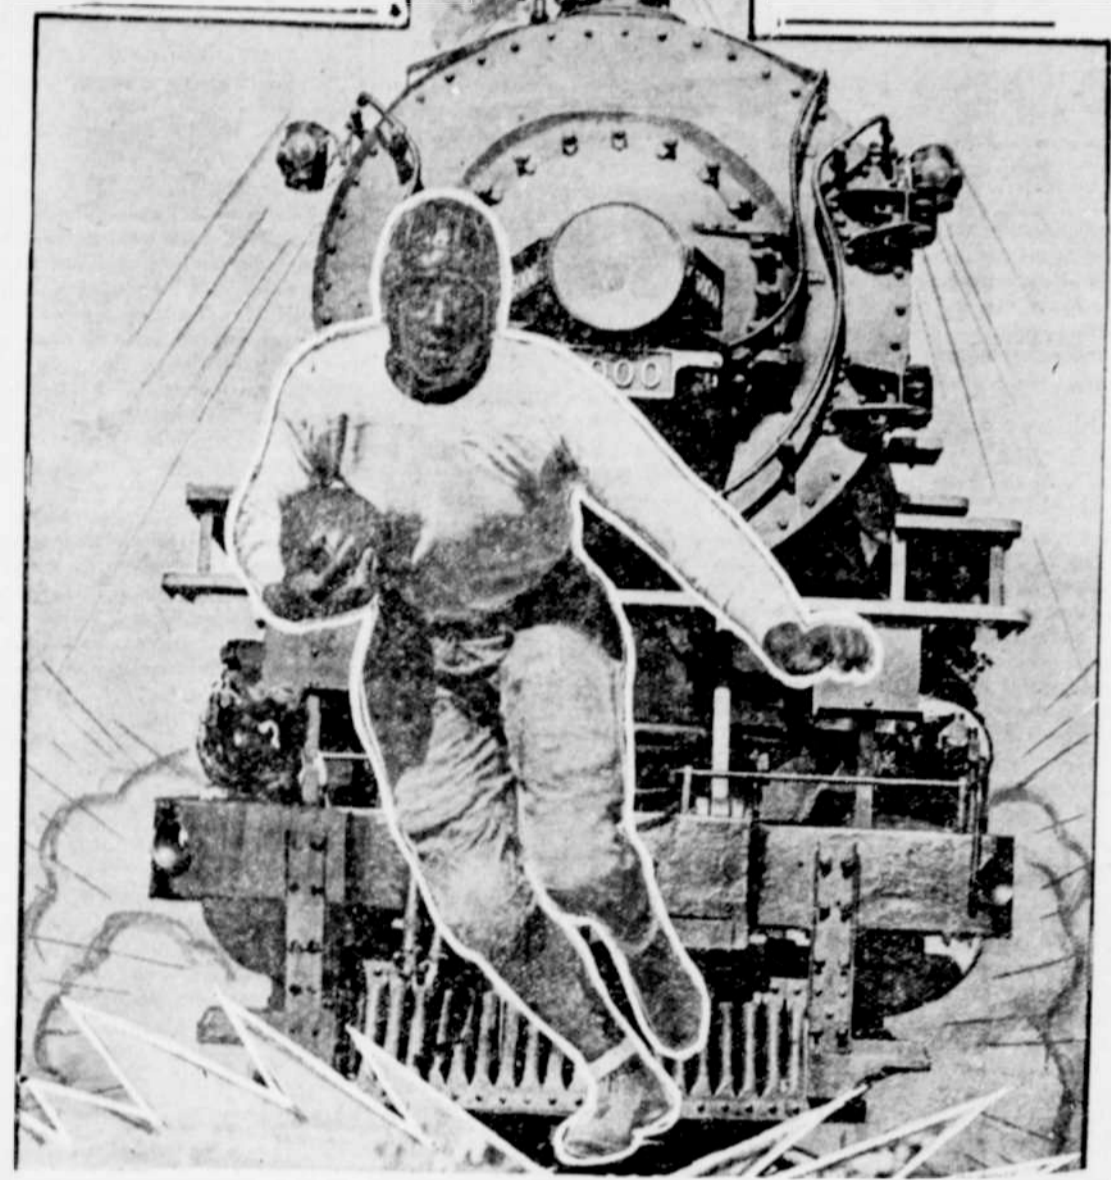

Among interesting comments of numerous noted music critics, the following are chosen:
"The Negro Spiritual Songs, with their broken rhythms (so poignant, then suddenly resigned and smiling) in their mingle and blend a true vocal fervor and the immemorial ways of folk song—a pious tenderness, yielding or trembling and the malicious or humble fancy by which the enslaved escape into imaginative journeys—reading the gospel as a child—taking gallop into paradise."
—Jos. Baruzi, Le Menestrel, Paris
"As he sang the Negro Spirituals, the walls of the concert hall seemed to vanish and the souls of all were touched with the exaltation of the songs."
—Vienna Mittag Zeitung

"And round about the singer there seemed to be a sphere of wonderfulness. And from it lived and radiated: 'They Crucified My God'. Hayes stood alone without accompaniment, while the crucifixion took place in his heart and in ours. Love and deadly sorrow, gentleness and pain, faith become flesh—"

Seattle, Wn. Oct. 8—Joe Lillard, sensational Negro halfback on the University of Oregon football team, was permitted to play against the Univ. of Washington Huskies at Seattle Saturday 10th following an announcement by Prof. H. C. Howe, chairman of the Oregon faculty athletic committee that Lillard had been declared ineligible on the ground of professionalism. The specific charge was that Lillard had played baseball with the Gilkerson Giants, a traveling colored team. In commenting on the affair, Doc Spears, Oregon coach had the following to say:

"It was my understanding that Butler was to make a year's study of athletic conditions in the Coast conference and at the end of that time he was to file a report with the conference officials. Instead he came to Eugene with a lot of information and banged out Lillard. There are a lot of other players in the conference who have played semipro baseball. Why not wait until he has information on a lot of the other players and then throw out the whole bunch at once."

Phelan, University of Washington coach said that the University of Washington had no objection to his playing the game on Saturday stating that the objection had come from the University of Oregon officials.
Suffice it to say that Lillard played in the game and made the first touch down for Oregon in the game which ended 14 to 9 for Oregon.
Many local colored folk motored to Seattle to witness the game.

JESSE GRAYSON WILL APPEAR IN CONCERT OCT. 26TH

Jesse Grayson, Portland contralto, will be presented in concert Monday evening, October 26th at the Masonic Temple Ball room.

Mrs. Grayson who has been singing ever since she was a small child when relatives and friends noted her superior talent, possess a rare, sweet voice which she handles with understanding and intelligence. She has been heard in concert, over the radio and in church and parlor recitals for a good many years and it is said her program for Monday night will be far superior to any she has given.

Tickets are selling at popular prices and it is thought that a large audience will greet the singer.

all this enthralled in the shrine of art, turned into music as the medieval man's belief could turn into colour. Words united with sound to beauty—a beauty that was a blessing."

READY FOR GAME

In a game that promises to be one of the outstanding football tests of the year, University of California meets Washington State College in the Multnomah stadium this afternoon at 2 o'clock. It marks the third time the Cougars and Golden Bears have met in Portland, the other two contests taking place in 1921 and '22, both resulting in wins for the Californians.

California is rated as one of the strong teams of the Pacific Coast this year with Navy Bill Ingram, formerly of the Navy, at the helm. It will be California's first conference game. Washington State defeated California 16-0 last year while driving for the conference championship and the Bears are out for revenge.

Reserved seat tickets are priced at $1.50 and $2.50 while general admission tickets at $1.00 each will go on today. High school students will be admitted for 50 cents. Tickets may be obtained at either the Stadium ticket office or the Football, Sixth and Morrison streets.

VIRGINIA UNION HOWARD SCRAP TO BE A REAL FIRST CLASS THRILLER, OH-BOY!

(By Rupert Ploett)
Richmond, Va., October 2—Monday was officially declared Students' Day at Virginia Union University. A debate on open air exhibitions of physical skill and prowess, inter-class football and basket ball games, dramatic renditions added zest to an interesting and highly entertaining program.

On Saturday, October 24th the Va. Union Panther Eleven will entertain the Bison Eleven of Howard University in a rare old "pigskin" battle on historic old Hovey Field at Richmond, Virginia.
Washington, D. C. October 10—Howard University swamped Johnson C. Smith with a score of 69-6 in the game played today in the Howard University stadium at Washington.

LEMOYNE UPSETS THE DOPE

(By Raymond Scruggs)
Nashville, Tenn., October 10—One of the big upsets of the football season occurred in Sulphur Dell in Nashville this afternoon when Flak's Bulldogs were defeated by a nineteen to eighteen score by the LeMoyne College eleven from Memphis.

An interesting write-up and picture of Lee Grigsby, musician who is passing a six weeks' vacation in California, recently appeared in one of our California exchanges.

Jack Johnson's Cabaret Opening Gala Affair

Los Angeles, Calif., Oct. 6—With the big sun-arc flood lights, profuse decorations inside and out and celebrities both colored and white, Jack Johnson's Show Boat cafe opened last week in the Dunbar hotel.

Ernestine Porter, slender, graceful little parcel of tireless vitality trained principals and chorus in a wonderful floor show which sent thrills through the spectacular gathering. As directress she staged a gala opening show characteristic of the name and atmosphere. Ruby Barbee, Strutt Mitchell, Lottie Gee, Buddy Williams Catherine Lamar and Dick Baroo are principals.

Many of Jack's old friends of his ring days as well as many Hollywood cabaret patrons made reservations and were there in gorgeous attire.

"I never knew there could be so much fun crowded into just ten days" said Mrs. Genevieve Mullen when interviewed at her pretty bungalow on Forty-First street.

Mrs. Mullen recently returned from a trip south where she passed five days in San Diego and Mexico and four days in Los Angeles where she was the house guest of Mrs. D. DeVaughn. During her sojourn in California she visited the following cities: Chula Vista, Tointoma, Tia Juana, Agua Caliente, Sanyidro and Oakland California. During her visit she met and was entertained by many friends. She saw and talked with more than a half hundred former Portlanders, many of whom entertained especially in her honor. The Craig family, Maynard and Pauline had their car at her disposal every day for sightseeing trips which they took for more than 165 miles into Mexico, Mexico! Mrs. Mullen is charmed with her and says she will visit there again next Summer. She witnessed an old Mexican Fiesta and just missed a Bull fight. Gorgeous homes, colorful dress and luxurious automobiles, she says makes Old Man Depression look sick in the face.

She visited with Mrs. Teal, mother of the late Miss Angie Carr and was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Brothers, the former a Government employee and the latter, proprietor of a beauty shop. Here she was again royally entertained at a dinner party given by her hostess with a dinner service in gold.
In San Diego, Mrs. Mullen was the house guest of Mrs. Belle Runyon, a sister of Waldo Bogle of Portland. While here she had the pleasure of meeting and enjoying the company of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Wright of Tulsa, Okla., and Mr. and Mrs. S. Johnson of Paris, Texas who were passing their vacation in San Diego and old Mexico. In Oakland, Mrs. Mullen was the guest of Mrs. Rhoda Muffendon, a time-honored friend; of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Holliday, Mr. and Mrs. Mico Harjo, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Bryant, Mrs. Lida Johnson-Oford, all former Portlanders.

Mrs. J. A. Wisdom, charming man who won a trip to Los Angeles, as first prize in a recent ticket selling contest, is back home after having a most enjoyable two weeks' vacation.
In L. A. she was the house guest of Ella Estelle, a time-honored friend who also entertained at a theater party for her. Mrs. Ada L. Wright had her luncheon guest in her beautiful home. Mrs. Jerome Harris, formerly of Portland, entertained at breakfast in her honor and Mrs. Viola Dunn and Mrs. Migh Clithide Curry took her for a sightseeing trip. She visited Hollywood, Santele, old soldiers home; Wilshire Blvd, Almee's Temple and other places of interest.
In San Francisco, Mrs. Wisdom was the guest of her sister, Mrs. H. Cochran. Here she was taken for a sightseeing trip to the Presidio, to Twin Peaks, Fleischer's Pool and the Golden Gate Park. She was entertained at dinner by Mrs. Slithers and also by Mrs. Herbert Lofton. In Oakland, she visited many places of interest and saw many old friends.

The tournament sponsored by the Oregon Belles Drill Team closed on last Saturday night,—a fine success. First prizes were awarded to Mrs. Maxine Smith and Mr. A. Morris. The former being a breakfast set and the latter a handsome smoking set. Mrs. Ethel Turner a tireless leader and worker in the club, headed the committee of arrangements.

Leon Gregory, Jr., of Oakland who is in Portland on business, was the breakfast guest of George Mullen on Friday, October 9th, at his home on 41st Street.
Mrs. S. I. Norris, accompanied by her son, Carl, of Seattle, passed through Portland Sunday en route to California to pass their vacation. They plan returning home on the 29th of this month. While in the city among the friends Mrs. Norris visited were Mrs. Ella Young and daughter, Mrs. Melvin Hatcher, of 870 Garfield Avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Franklin were the dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Jamison Sunday at their home, on 868 Garfield Avenue.
Melvin Hatcher, of Bremerton, Wn., passed Friday and Friday night in Portland with his family, at 870 Garfield Avenue. Mr. Hatcher is employed in Bremerton.

Duke Calls On Pres.

The above photograph was taken on the steps of the White House just after Duke met the president. In the front row are Mrs. E. F. McCarroll and Mrs. Eloise Skinner. The second row includes Sam Filashnick, Mr. Ellington and Elrita Skinner. The Rev. J. C. Olden, J. A. G. Lavalle and James Mill in the third row.

(Special to The Advocate)
Duke Ellington is responsible for the organization of the Mills Blue Rythm Band, a new and sensational unit which recently stirred Blase Broadway during an engagement at the Palace Theatre in New York. It was Ellington, impressed by the demand and crazed for good musical organizations similar to his own in characted, who introduced Irving Mills to put together and develop the Blue Rythm combination, which has met with quicker success than any band in jazz history.
After engaging the musicians and rehearsing them in special orchestras, Mills placed the new band in the Cotton Club, where it played during the absence of Cab Calloway on tour. Quickly it became a favorite with the club patrons and with radio fans who heard it over the air.
After three appearances at the Lafayette theatre in Harlem, and less than three months after its organization, the Blue Rythm Band had achieved such tremendous popularity that it was immediately booked as a headline attraction at the Palace Theatre, a distinction for which many artists and bands are groomed for years.
To say that Ellington is proud of the band which grew from his suggestion is putting it mildly. He cites it success as a confirmation of his confidence in the ability of Irving Mills, the sponsor whom he credits with his own success.
During his recent engagement in Washington, D. C., Duke Ellington, Harlem's aristocrat of jazz, was invited to call at the White House and meet President Herbert Hoover. Duke is the first colored entertainer ever to be received by the chief executive of the nation.

In order to aid in meeting the economic depression this winter, The Esperanto Breakfast Club, of which Mrs. Elise Reynolds is the president, decided at a recent meeting to suspend their activities.

Among coming social events of the early winter is the annual Armistice Ball given by the Sgt. Joseph White Camp, Spanish-American War Vets. The affair will take place at the Elk Hall on the night of Nov. 11th. Marvin McGinnis is the dynamic Commander of this active organization.

Mrs. John Goren, of 289 Fargo St., was hostess, Sunday, October 4th at dinner in honor of Miss Mildred Clifton, of Seattle. Covers were placed for ten guests. Mrs. Mattie Goren and Miss Doris Anderson assisted the hostess. The table was adorable in black and silver.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Y. Franklin are in receipt of numerous letters and telegrams of congratulations and best wishes from friends and acquaintances in various parts of the country as a result of an Associated Negro Press Release. In this connection, the couple are indebted to Mrs. Bonnie Bogle who so kindly sent the marriage announcement to the Associated Negro Press. Although it was a little earlier than Mr. and Mrs. Franklin intended announcing same. Formal announcements have just been issued.

The Literary Research Club met last Friday at the home of Mrs. U. S. Reed, 940 Tibbetts street. Mrs. F. Adams is the president of this popular club. During her absence on account of illness, Mrs. Beatrice Banister, the efficient vice-president has filled the chair.

Stay off Wednesday, Nov. 11th — ARMISTICE BALL. Sgt. Jos. White
