A recent decision of the Interstate Commerce Commission affecting rail road freight rates should have a pe-culiar significance to colored readers throughout the country.

With these changing times, thoughts and sentiments are also changing - all with a view of adjusting a bad econosituation. The Commission's new ruling, in substance, creates the the ory that the strongtr roads must help the weaker regardless of the fact that they are competitors. Can you imagine such a ruling - even a few years

So far the Commission has not been able to "see" nor has economic conditions necessitated the action, of delving seriously into certain interstate railway traffic in the southland. How that sentiments are giving way for practical and economic betterment perhaps the Commission will take the necessary action that will result in a fairer and more equitable treatment for our travellers in the south and which would add millions to the now decreasing revenues of the railroads there effected

There is not a "Jim Crow" law on the statutes of any State that should bar the Commission from rendering an equitable ruling on all interstate traffic Imagine, a group of people who are forced to pay first-class fares for worse than third-class travel and conveniences? Is it a wonder that this same group, more and more, finds other modes of transportation and while not always more convenient i a decidely less humiliating #

If, even in those states where the law calls for, "equal but separate ac comodations", this edict was carried out to the letter the railroads would find their revenues greatly increasing. I know, from actual experience that there are thousands in our group who, in some instances, pay an es horbitant, and perhaps an illegal, private transportation charge (autos and private busses) just to keep from be-ing discriminated by the railroads and on which the fare would have been much less. Every State, City and Town to Participate In Nine Months Bicentennial Celebration

These points should be emphasized with respect to the Celebration the Two Hundreth Anniversary of the Birth of George Washington next year

1-It is sponsored by the United States Government: Congress Created the United States George Washington Bicentennial Commission and the President of the United States is its chairman.

2-It will not be a world's fair or exposition, and it will not be held in n any one place.

3-It will be nation-wide, even a world-wide series of celebrations in which every state, city and town-every organization and institution, every home and individual-in this country, together with Americans and others in many foreign countries, will participate. Every community is expected to plan and carry out its ownprogram of events, in cooperation with the United States Commission and the State Commissions. 4-It will last from Washington's Birthday, February 22, 1932, Thanksgiving Day, November 24, 1932, with special local and national cele-bration everywhere on all holidays, anniversaries, or other days which can be connected with the life of George Washington. 5-While the ceremonies on February 22 should be especially elaboratte and impresive, as marking the actual Two Hundredth Anniversary of George Washington's Birth, arrangements also should be made for public gatherings pageants, plays, processions, musical festivals, tableaux and local celebrations. The United States Commission urges mayors and other officials of every city and town in the country to appoint George Washing-ton Bicentennial Commissions or Committees, in order to prepare for the events of the Bicentennial Year.
