SENATE SENDS TOM HEFLIN BACK HOME

"Nigger" Stories of anti-Negro, anti-Catholic Fail to Save Him.

GRAFT EXPOSED IN ALA. ELECTION

52 Kinds of Fraud Reported.

WASHINGTON, D.C.—The Dixie custom of violating the law in order to keep Negroes away from the polls, came home to roost with "Uncle Tom Tom" Heflin, white, former U.S. Senator, whom that body voted on April 28 not to seat by a vote of 64 to 18.

Cracking "nigger" jokes, during the five hours he was allowed to talk in the Senate Tuesday of last week, Heflin explained how John H. Bankhead, white, used 52 different kinds of fraud to win the Senate nomination and election from him in 1930.

When he had finished and was quite red in the face, he found only 13 regular and five insurgent Republican senators to argue with him.

Twenty-two Republicans, every single Democratic senator, and the Farmer-Labor member voted to send Tom back home, so that the Senate may be free for a while at least, from his rude and ill-mannered jibes at Negroes, Catholics and the foreign-born.

The Senate investigation was made by a committee of three senators headed by Daniel Hastings (Rep., Del.), who reported that despite widespread fraud, Alabama folk told him that it was the cleanest election held in that state for fifty years.

In the primaries, it was found, Heflin's name was left off the Democratic ticket by a committee ruling which excluded Negroes as voters and whites as candidates, if these whites had voted for Hoover in the 1928 election.

Senator Blaine (Rep., Wis.), termed the committee of three which made this ruling unauthorized and holding no authority for the people. "When we confer upon that kind of a committee a right to say who can be candidates and who cannot, we are upon the verge of the destruction of our Democratic government."

According to Senator Blaine, the primary was illegal and neither Heflin nor Bankhead should have been seated.

Heflin lost the election by 48,000 votes. He told the Senate that he lost 5,000 votes when Bankhead's supporters erased x marks on ballots of persons who had voted for him.

"There never were so many varieties of fraud employed to steal an election as were employed to steal this one from me," whined Heflin, who explained that Bankhead had voted people who were dead and persons who had been out of the state for fifteen years.

Heflin said that he had heard that $1,050,000 was spent by Bankhead's friends and some votes were bought at prices from $2 to $4 each.

In these counties, ballots were burned right after the election, Heflin intimated, in order to hide fraud. In other cases he pointed out that ballots marked in sheaves for Bankhead had been stuffed into ballot boxes, or laid outside. These ballots, he said, had never been unfolded.

Heflin read into the record affidavits of a number of persons who swore that officials had told them Heflin couldn't win and that they would steal, buy, or change Heflin ballots in order to beat him.

Some 12,000 ballots, living an unheard-of number, were cast by voters living out of the state. Heflin claims that in efforts to trace them, 3,000 letters came back unclaimed and 5,000 failed to answer.

The "Nigger" Story

Here is a typical anti-Negro joke which Heflin told in the course of his five-hour speech:

Senators have heard the story about the Spanish War, when a "nigger" went out and said he had cut off the feet of "20 Spains." They said, "What?" He said, "I cut off the feet of 20 Spains." "What do you mean, nigger?" He said, "I just cut the feet off." They said, "Why did you not cut their heads off?" He said, "Somebody else had done that."

There were guffaws from the gallery, but the story in bad taste won Heflin no votes.

Heflin showed that in some cases no election booths were available for voters and therefore no secrecy in marking ballots, that hundreds of election officials were not qualified voters.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sick and the world looks pink, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxatives candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your arteries and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes three good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Beware of substitutes. 25c at all stores. © 1931 C. M. Co.

Children Always Want to Know the Reason for Good Manners

By GLADYS

Question: "My children are at the age where they question everything, and they say they don't see any use in being so particular about table manners. I am stumped. Can you give me any argument?"

Answer: "Some parents use the formula, 'Because I say so.' But your plan is the intelligent one. At various times in their lives, children question various conventions and moral codes. When that time comes we must do our best to answer the instead of saying, 'Well, it just is—that's all.'"

A point to start with is that though table manners are somewhat arbitrary they are based on consideration—the starting point for all courtesy. You might explain then, that careless eating, or greedy eating or too fast eating is not pleasant for the others at the table to witness. Also, that unnecessary spots on the cloth or place dollies make unnecessary work for some one.

It is rather to the point when children are the age of yours to explain that it's most convenient—or painless for them—to learn to do some things by habit so they can stop thinking about them. Also, that when they're older they'll be very glad to have their manners second nature instead of having to be conscious of them all the time.

Question: "When should little children know how to do certain things—like lace their shoes, button their clothes, go to the bathroom alone, and so on?"

Answer: It would take a long page in this column to answer that—and even then we cannot give hard and fast rules or ages for these accomplishments. Individual children differ.

Child Health Food Recipe

The food needs of growing children must be met. Milk, milk products, fruits, and vegetables must be served as well as the heavier fare—even on economy menus. Oranges, with their vitamin C, now sell at a low price and fit excellently into the menu. Here is a delicious recipe for National Child Health Day—and for the days that follow:

- ORANGE NOG
- 6 tablespoons orange juice
  - 8 tablespoons milk
  - 6 tablespoons chilled water
  - 1 teaspoon sugar
  - 1/2 teaspoon grated orange rind
- Beat or shake together thoroughly.

"Indian" Passes

MISS LOUISE JACOBS, who was stabbed to death last February at Newark, N. J., by George Smith. White dailies headlined the killing and referred to Miss Jacobs as a full blooded Indian only to learn later that she was only "passing." Smith faces the chair for his crime.

ly. Serve at once in a large glass. Serves one.

This is an excellent breakfast or mid-meal orange drink. The addition of citrus fruit juices to milk promotes the digestion of the milk and makes a very palatable drink. Children who will not drink milk alone, often like a milk and orange juice mixture.
