Reviewed for THE ADVOCATE by CLIFFORD C. MITCHELL

"To Those Tens of Thousands of Pe my former Wards who have Justified Hot my Faith in Human Nature", is the Ke manner by which Warden Lawes, of Sing Sing Prison, dedicates this most interesting book that combines Nenology, sociology, biography, human na- Beg ture and human interest sketches of 8:34 both prisoners and free people, into Met a most entertaining and convincing pose

. . . We learn, by reading the book, that Warden Lawes commenced his prison administration experience in March 1905 as a guard at Clinton Prison and rose rapidly in various branches of Mr. prison administration in several New "CO York prisons until December 1919 pict when Governor Smith appointed him wardon of Sing Sing, which position has brought him international attention

. . . The book not only gives us the details of the miriad prison administration experience under Warden Lawes' regeme ut it also chronicles a very "WATERLOO BRIDGE" with Mae interesting history of both the old Clarke, Kent Douglas and Enid Benand new Sing Sing Prison, commenc. nett, plus Selected Shorts. ing with the spring of 1825 when a hundred trusty prisoners from Auburn, under the supervision of Captain Elan Linds, trekked to the banks of the Hudson River, where the first and Leila Hyams. operation on the building of Sing Sing commenced.

The author, very convincingly, points out many inequalities in the enforcement and administration of the John Mack Brown plus Harry Lauder. law; many erroneous methods o handling law-violators, etc., and for each, a very definite and constructive method of handling is suggested.
