The entire diplomatic corps in Mexico City called on President Rodriguez, and hundreds of congratulatory messages were received by him, including one from President Hoover.

BOLIVIA was reported to have flatly rejected the plea of the neutral Latin-American nations for a truce with Paraguay in their dispute over the Gran Chaco. The Paraguayans assumed that this meant war was certain and went ahead with their preparations. It was officially aninced in La Paz that a Paraguayan force had attacked a defense post on the frontier and was repulsed by Bolivian troops.

Brazilian rebels in Sao Paulo state had an agreement with the navy that the latter would not indulge in hostilities for the time being; but the rebels fired machine guns on naval planes dropping manifestos Montserrat, which seemed to end the semi-neutral attitude of the navy. Seven of its planes flew over Fort Italpu at the entrance of Santos harbor and destroyed it with bombs. The federal forces were said to have made considerable gains from both the north and the south.

memoire and some days later was given to the public by Baron Von Neurath, foreign minister. It is really an ultimatum, announcing that unless the equality in armaments is granted by the powers, Germany will quit the world disarmament conference.

Before and after the publication of the note, Gen. Kurt von Schleicher, minister of defense, declared in addresses and interviews that if the demand were not granted Germany would arm anyway, and he was most emphatic in his statements. To newspaper men in Koenigsberg he asserted stormily: "I mean everything I have said. We will no longer stand for being treated like a second rate

ON SEPTEMBER 11, the eight-centh anniversary of the Battle of the Marne, a fine memorial of that mighty struggl- was presented to the French nation by America, whose cittzens to the number 4,000,000 con-tributed its cost. The piece of statuary, entitled "France Deflaut," rises 130 feet above a 60-foot pedestal, on an eminence overlooking the battlefield. It stand as high as a sevenstory building, and is the largest monument in France. It was designed by Frederic MacMonnies and Edmondo Quattrocchi was the sculptor. The motif of the memorial is a woman symbolic of France at bay, supporting a stricken soldier son. An infant natic of the future clings to the board until next year, according to the hem of the woman's tattered robe. On the front of the pedestal is Marshal Joffre's famous message to the French said the board and army on the eve of the battle:

"At this moment when a battle impends upon which rests the fate of our country no one must look behind, All must unite to attack. Any troop finding itself unable to advance further must hold the ground and fight until death. No retreat!"

JOSEPH V. McKEE, who became mayor of New York on the resignation of Jimmy Walker, was informed by the citizens' budget commission that the city pays more than $1,000,000 every day in the year for salaries for its employees. Therefore he got busy at once on economies in a way that made the politicians gasp. First he announced that his own salary was reduced immediately from $40,000 to $25,000 a year. Then he served notice that, after October 1. no city commissioner appointed by the mayor would receive more than $12,-000 a year. And more of the same sort was expected to follow.

The budget commission pointed out that in the six years of the Walker administration 32,380 extra positions had been added to the city pay roll at a total cost of $120,633,223 a yearpractically a third of the year's entire payment for personal service.

Hospitals should not be dreaded as they are by many of the group. The hopsital is a blessing to any city. The well equipped hospital has a place all unto itself in every city. It can not be dispensed with without injury to all. The death rate is too high, less if we could induce our sick people to go to the hospital before their sickness reaches the last stage. A real nurse may be found practically at all hospitals. The home cannot be made to serve the sick as well as the hospitals can. The cost should play no part in deciding between the two-the home and the hospital. The nearest way to health should be the uppermost in our minds, and that nearest way is by way of the hospital. Often in our effort to cut down expenses we cut short the life of a dear one, and bring sadness that the money we saved cannot wipe away. Tampa is fortunate in in that it has two hospitals-one city owned and one private. Both of these hospitals should have the support of all Tampa. They are real blessings to our city. Hospitals are right and proper place for all sick folks. Please tell all the people that.
