Ashby C. Dickson

day's general election, we are happy to see the name of Judge Ashby C. Dickson among those who are running for the state senate. Judge Dickson possesses all of the qualifications that we like to think should belong to the man whom we place in public office for the purpose of providing proper legislative measures to govern the conduct of our affairs.

He is a staunch Democrat of the old school, the sort of Democrat who really believes in Democracy, who goes away back to the beginning for the standards he upholds. Judge Dickson has held public office in Oregon on several occasions, and has always given eminent satisfaction in every respect. He is serious and talented and in every sense a man of the people. He has submitted an aggressive and progressive platform that entitles him to the consideration of the electorate, and we recommend the election of Judge Dickson for state senator from Multnomah County. His ballot number is 46.

statement of his platform:

A permanent and competent presiding judge, to be held responsible for the transaction of the court business. A criminal department to handle all criminal matters, thereby fixing responsibility for speedy trials, uniform sentences and a more intelligent and just system of parole. A department for equity and non-jury cases. Such a system, he says, would require fewer jurors, insure prompt and effective service, lessen costs and fix responsibility. Judge Tomlinson is said by those who know him to be fair, broad-minded, of judicial temperament, conscientious, practical and constructive. Judge Tomlinson is of the municipal court bench and says that it is important at this time to have one of our circuit judges who has had intimate and practical knowledge of municipal affairs.

RUFUS HOLMAN MAKES GOOD AS STATE TREASURER

Rufus Holman, Republican party candidate for State Treasurer, promises, if elected, that he will continue to exercise the utmost care in the receipting, disbursing, securing, and investing of state funds. He will encourage and promote the permanent removal of all state taxes on real property. He will continue to study the administration of each state board or commission of which he is a member, with the view of eliminating unnecessary expenditures to the lowest point consistent with efficiency. He favors the public development of hydro-electric energy.

Mr. Holman is a successful manufacturer interested in several Oregon industries. He is a friend of labor and loyal and helpful to his employees. He believes that every employee is entitled to the protection of the employer.

Mr. Holman has cooperated with Governor Meier in the economy program and will continue this sound policy. A search of the records of the transactions of all the state boards of which both the Governor and Mr. Holman are members reveals but two instances where there was not a harmony of opinion between them.

Rufus C. Holman has served as State Treasurer by appointment by the Governor since the death of T. B. Kay, former Treasurer, and now he is asking the voters to elect him to the office.

As State Treasurer, Mr. Holman has so safeguarded the state's money that not a dollar has been lost in the numerous bank failures which have occurred.

As a member of the State Board of Control, he has given particular attention to the supervision of the 12 penal and eleemosynary state institutions, where more than 6,000 unfortunates are housed.

It is apparent that these institutions will be operated this biennium at approximately $600,000 less than the sum of their combined budgets, and more sympathetic and remedial care is given the unfortunate inmates in some of the institutions than previously. His executive direction has resulted in a saving now estimated at approximately $38,000 a year in the State Printing Department without a reduction in rate of wages.

Many other savings have been and

OLSON CALLED HARD WORKING JUDGE

Judge Fred L. Olson, who seeks reelection as District Judge Department Number 2, has earned the reputation of being the hard-working judge, according to those who have contacted his department. The judge arrives at the court house, it is said, early in the morning, arranging his work for the day, opening court promptly at 9 a. m. and 1:30 p. m. thereby adding a day each week or two months in a year while the other judges open court at 9:30 a. m. and 2 p. m.

Judge Olson's trial docket is said to be up to date and cases may be tried in his department without delay. He holds night court by request, when it appears that litigants and witnesses cannot appear in the day time without loss to themselves, and upon his court room door is the following: "Nite court by request."

Judge Olson says he believes that a judge should work a full day, the same as any public employee. In the many hundreds of cases set for trial before Judge Olson, it is reported that not one case (excepting on account of illness or at the request of the attorneys) has been postponed from one day to another. He believes that delay in trials is a denial in justice and he does not believe in chamber trials — all matters pertaining to his department he holds in open court.

Judge Olson has been a resident of Portland for the past 50 years, coming here at the age of 3 years from Nebraska where he was born. He attended the old Portland High school and is a graduate of the University of Oregon Law School. In 1900, he married Minnie Adele Reed.

THE ELECTION

As we approach the general election day, Tuesday, November 8, we pray for guidance in casting our ballot so that it will be for the best interests of all the people.

We are of the opinion that the time has come when Negroes should rise above race lines and think of the nation. What will benefit the most people by my vote? should be the test. For whatever prosperity comes to the nation as a whole, the Negro in turn is benefitted along with the rest and visa versa.

We admit that there are times when the Negro gets the worst of the deal—jim-crowed, segregated, disfranchised and made to feel lower than the beast—but voting for spit won't get us anywhere. Let us remember the big problems of state and nation—the problem of unemployment; the question of war and peace; the tariff, prohibition, industry, international relations, etc., etc. Not just a job for a colored man for our vote!

We must realize that we are an integral part of the great big whole. The sooner we realize this and act accordingly, the better off we will be both materially and spiritually.

Voting selfishly upon pre-election promises is bad business; it will get you no where. Chances are the candidate doesn't remember from day to day what his promises have been. And since you haven't him under written contract, you have nothing to hold him to any way, and he easily slips away from you.

The Advocate is not recommending a ticket this election for several reasons, among them being:

The majority of tickets are looked upon (and sometimes rightly so) by the average voter as so much hokey; he thinks, too, that they are motivated by the flesh-pots of campaign managers (and some are). Again we feel that the average voter today is an intelligent man and woman, with ability to analyze and decide who and what to vote for, after intelligently studying the candidates up for election.

The Advocate has, from week to week, published information relative to the majority of the worth while candidates seeking office, any of whom, we are of the opinion, will make good, public servants. Remember there is no such person as a perfect man!

Our advice is to go over the records of the candidates, and whether you like him personally or not, if his record is good and if his platform is likewise—one for service to the most people—he is the man or they are the ones you want to vote for.

Some Negroes are splitting hairs over the fact that others have halted over the Republican party. What of it? In this intelligent age, is it not possible that there are good men and measures put up by all parties?

Go to the polls early next Tuesday and vote for the BEST MEN and the BEST MEASURES.

The Portland branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People has issued a political ticket.
