Daily & Elmer handle mining, fruit, ranch and timber lands. If you wish to sell, see them. If you wish to buy, see them.

Jesse Thrasher has quit work at the Iowa Lumber Co's mill on Jackson creek and is now employed by the Jackson County Lumber Co.

Frank Smith, whose residence just north of town was destroyed by fire some time ago, has almost completed a new one which will replace it.

Al. Learned has just received a large shipment of big juicy oranges from California which he is selling to his customers at prices that make them glad.

Estimates furnished on sashes and doors by Chris Ulrich, at prices that will compete with any in Southern Oregon. No need to go to Medford for anything in his line. Patronize your home town.

County Assessor Peter Applegate states that there will be at least 200 more timber claims subject to taxation in the country this year than there were last. This will have quite a tendency to lower taxes in the country.

Protracted meeting has been in progress this week at the M. E. church, conducted by Rev. A. J. Armstrong, pastor. The attendance and interest has been excellent thus far and the meetings are doing good. They will continue through next week and perhaps longer.

Dr. F. R. Bowersox, of this place and Dr. Findley, of Grants Pass will leave about the 1st of April for New York where they will enter the Post-Graduate Medical school of that city and take a special course of instruction such as they can not get elsewhere and which will especially fit them for their work. They expect to be gone several months or until about July or August.

The mission which has been in progress at the Catholic Church since Tuesday will continue through the week with services at 8 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. daily. The sermons have been both interesting and instructive and all who have heard Father O'Brien were impressed with the force and earnestness of his discourses. Sunday March 19th the mission will be brought to a close at the morning service which will be held at 8:30. The pational feast of the Church will be observed on the same day and the papal blessing will be bestowed by The Missionary in the name of Pope Pius. From here Father O'Brien will go to Ashland at the request of Father Lane to give a similar mission.

Superintendent H. E. Foster, of the Oregon Belle mine was in town Thursday evening accompanied by his partner Mr. Gunnell and a gentleman representing a large manufacturing firm of San Francisco. They had just returned from the mine where they had been to look over the ground preparatory to installing a new quartz mill which will be done in the near future.

H. M. Coss, the piano man was up from Medford Wednesday. He brought with him a large improved phonograph which was operated at Al. Learned's candy store to which it drew quite a crowd during the evening. The selections were mostly new and up-to-date and were quite clear and distinct.

A small addition to the depot of the Rogue River Valley Ry. at this place is now in course of construction. The same, when completed will be used as a waiting room for patrons of the road.

Fred Pick, the carpenter, has been doing some nice work on the Fleury residence in the lower part of town that adds much to its appearance.

Band practice was conducted Tuesday evening by Peter Applegate at the town hall. Mr. Wright is still unable to take charge of the band.

J. McPherson, of Medford was in the county seat Wednesday on business at the court house.

Judge H. K. Hanna was in Grants Pass last Friday.

WHATEVER HAPPENED IS HERE

Far-Famed "Tin Can Case."

One day last week the parties interested in the famous tin can bank case which has attracted so much attention throughout Southern Oregon, got together and compromised. Roberts and O'Neil agreeing to pay the Danielson brothers $6,000 with accrued costs and interest, amounting to about $10,000. Thus ends the noted treasure battle, which originated in the finding of a can of gold containing $7,000 in an old hen-house belonging to Roberts and O'Neil, when the Danielson brothers were mere youths. When they found the gold, Roberts and O'Neil, who had employed them to clean the outhouse, claimed it on the ground of owning the building and the boys claimed it was treasure hence belonged to those finding it. When they reached maturity they began suit for the recovery of the treasure. At first they were nonsuited, and upon appeal to the supreme court were nonsuited again. The case was submitted to a jury in the circuit court last fall, and the jury disagreed. It was continued without result at the December term.

While the compromise was unexpected it was apparent that a jury could probably never be gotten together to agree on a decision, and indefinite lawing looked probable. Failing health of one of the litigants was another factor in bringing about a settlement.

Miss Chapman Milliner.

Miss Katharine Chapman one of the leading milliners of Jackson county is kept very busy just now taking orders for tailored and pattern hats. Her business is increasing steadily as people learn that they can do no better, nor as well, by going to neighboring towns. She is a thoroughly competent milliner in the true sense of the term and wins friends among her customers. She has an entirely new and complete stock of millinery goods at the old stand between the post office and the barber shop where she cordially invites the public to call and inspect her new and up-to-date stock. The Easter Opening display of fine Parisian pattern hats and new novilties will be the latter part of this month.

Death of Walter Offenbacher.

Died, Sunday, March 12th, 1905, at The Dalles, Oregon, where he was being treated at Dr. Rheuter's hospital for Bright's disease, Mr. Walter Offenbacher, aged 20 years. The body was shipped to Jacksonville where the funeral was held last Tuesday morning at the Orth residence conducted by Rev. Ennis after which the remains were interred in the Jacksonville cemetery. The parents of the deceased reside in the Applegate country and he was a cousin of the Orth family of this place. Deceased was an exemplary young man and his death is keenly felt by his relatives and a large circle of friends.

Off For Ashland.

The "Big Nine" of the "Antlered Herd" left Jacksonville Thursday morning for Ashland where they attended the institution of Ashland lodge No. 944, B. P. O. E. The "Big Nine" delegation from this place consisted of A. E. Reames, Geo. Neuber, M. Hanley, Jas. Crone-miller, T. J. Kenney, Jno. S. Orth, Chas. Prim, J. M. Rader, and Peter Applegate and a more jolly set of Elks never assembled than the bunch from this place known as the "Big Nine". They are expected home today and will no doubt report one of those big social times for which Elks are noted everywhere.

Quarterly Meeting.

The second quarterly conference of the M. E. church of Jacksonville charge will be held on Wednesday evening March 22nd after the regular evening service. Presiding Elder M. C. Wire, of Eugene, will preside at the conference and will also be here on the evening of the 21st 22nd and 23rd and conduct preaching services.

Call and Settle.

All those knowing themselves indebted to me will please call and pay up before the 25th of this month as I expect to start East about that time to be gone several months,

Resp. Yours.

DR. F. R. BOWERSOX.
