

Central Point School Notes.

Prof. A. J. Hanby principal of the Central Point school was in Jacksonville Thursday to consult with Supt. Daily in regard to some school matters. Prof. Hanby's school will close with the first week in June and so well are the board pleased with his work and that of the three teachers under him that they have reengaged them for the next school year. Jacksonville School Entertainment.

On Thursday evening of next week the scholars and teachers of the Jacksonville High School will give an entertainment at the U. S. hall the proceeds of which will go to meet the cost of commencement to be held the following evening. The remainder after these bills are paid will be used to buy books for the school library. An admission fee will be charged of 15 cents for children, 25 cents for general admission and 35 cents for reserved seats. The boys and girls are canvassing the town selling tickets and they should meet with hearty encouragement from the citizens of Jacksonville for their enterprise and the school library fund should be given a generous increase. In addition to the features supplied by the school the program for the evening will be greatly helped out by some of the best local and Medford talent and those attending can be assured of a delightful evening's entertainment.

On next Friday evening the regular commencement exercises will be held at the U. S. hall at which time the diplomas will be presented to the graduating class. Prof. Washburn has not received definite word as yet as to whether Prof. Van Scoy or President Mulkey, will deliver the principal address of the evening. The details of the program will all be arranged within the next few days and all be in readiness for the evening's exercises.

Death of Mrs. Martha S. Allnutt.

The death took place at the Ish home on Tuesday, May 19th, of Mrs. Martha S. Allnutt. Mrs. Allnutt had come two weeks ago from her home in Virginia to spend the summer with her sister-in-law, Mrs. Jacob Ish. Last week she was taken with bronchitis and despite the best medical aid she steadily sank, passing away Tuesday evening. She was conscious almost to the last and she went to the beyond cheerful in the hope of meeting her Redeemer. She was a devout member of the M. E. church, South. The funeral services were held Thursday afternoon at the Ish residence, Rev. M. L. Darby conducting the exercises. The interment took place in the Jacksonville cemetery and a large concourse of people accompanied the remains to their last resting place.

A case of diphtheria is reported at Phoenix but so strict a quarantine is now established that there is little likelihood of the disease spreading.

M. J. Corum left Thursday for Missouri for a two months visit at his old home, which he has not seen for a long number of years. Mr. Corum is one of the well known pioneers of Central Point and he is the owner of a fine farm west of that place.

H. Callahan, a prominent mining man of Spokane, arrived in Jacksonville Thursday and Friday morning he left by stage for the copper district on upper Applegate. Mr. Callahan spent last summer in prospecting in the Applegate country and expended over a $1000 in money carrying on prospecting work. He has secured five claims that gives every indication of being very rich in copper. Mr. Callahan while nothing of a boomer is very sanguine as to the outlook for the Applegate copper district and thinks that there is a good prospect of its becoming one of the great copper producing sections of the United States.

On Thursday, Mrs. John F. Miller gave a package luncheon in honor of Miss Colvig, which proved a most novel affair, and all present voted her a charming hostess. Graceful ferns and stately palms filled the entrance, lillies of the valley and roses were adornments to the parlors. After some rather unique games were finished the folding doors were thrown open and in a soft pink light a most delightful hour was passed in the dining room. When Miss Colvig opened the packages it seemed evident her friends realized her true appreciation for many dainty and useful things as well as wooden spoons and wire dishrags etc. etc., were before her. Miss Colvig deeply appreciated the good spirit of friendship and hearty good will that her friends evinced toward her and the remembrance of the day will be one of the truest pleasures of her life.

THE AMERICAN MONTHLY REVIEW OF REVIEWS

How Can I Keep Up with the Times?

IT is pretty hard to keep well informed on the political news, the scientific news, the literary news, the educational movements, the great business developments, the hundreds of interesting and valuable articles in the hundreds of excellent magazines. About the only way it can be done by the average busy man and woman is to read a magazine like "The Review of Reviews," and as it is the only magazine of the sort, it is a good thing to send $2.50 for a year's subscription.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT says:

"I know that through its columns views have been presented to me that I could not otherwise have had access to; because all earnest and thoughtful men, no matter how widely their ideas diverge, are given free utterance in its columns."

EX-PRESIDENT GROVER CLEVELAND says:

"I consider it a very valuable addition to my library."
