THE CITY COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS.

Resignations of City Marshall and Street Commissioner Accepted.—W. G. Kenney Appointed Marshall to Fill Vacancy.—New Bridge Accepted—Bills Audited.

The Jacksonville town council by reason of a lack of a quorum did not hold a meeting on the date for its regular session last Tuesday, and adjourning to Friday evening again failed on a quorum, but they tried it again Monday evening when Mayor Britt succeeded in gathering up enough councilmen for the legal transaction of business. Besides Mayor Britt there were present Councilmen J. S. Orth, J. H. Huffer and T. J. Kenney, Recorder Henry Dox and Marshal G. M. Thrasher.

The resignation of G. M. Thrasher as marshal was accepted and W. C. Kenney appointed to the position.

Under committee reports Councilman Kenney reported that his committee had been unable to secure a suitable location for a pound. As the necessity for a pound is quite urgent owing to the number of stock that roam the streets, the committee was authorized to secure the most available place and enclose with a strong fence a space 30 or 40 feet square.

The application for a renewal of license by Dunnington & Deneff was granted, they having paid the $200 for a six months license and given the required bond signed by T. Cameron and D. Linn.

When the bill of J. M. Myers for building the bridge across Jackson creek on Oregon street came up for auditing there was some discussion as to the manner in which the bridge was built and the cost of it. The original contract price was $125 but the bill was for $135, the extra $10 being for putting in a longer approach at the north end than was at first planned. The railing to the bridge was not satisfactory to some of the councilmen. Councilman Huffer said the one rail was entirely too high and that it left such a wide space below that children might fall off the bridge into the creek. Mayor Britt said the railing had been put high to prevent loafers from sitting on it, but thought there was too much space below for the safety of small children. Councilman Kenney contended that there was no danger of children falling off the bridge and that one rail up high was sufficient and that a second rail below would be good only for a foot rest for the feet of loafers sitting on the top railing. Councilman Orth favored the additional railing and it was ordered put on.

The application of W. H. McDaniel for permission to erect a sign post at the curb in front of his place of business was refused, as the council expressed a determination to allow no more sign posts along the streets.

Application by John Simmons for permission to mine for gold under the streets was refused.

Mayor Britt brought up the matter of having the street and road work all done before the rainy season sets in. In explanation he stated that he had interviewed Street Commissioner D. Force some time since in regard to the matter and Mr. Force had stated that he had so much farm work to attend to that he could get no time to work on the streets and he wished to be relieved from the duties of the office. A general discussion followed as to the necessity of the work being done at once and of collecting the delinquent road-poll tax. As to a new commissioner Councilman Huffer stated that he thought it would be a difficult matter to secure one with a salary of but $2 per day and but $3 per day for a man and team. As Mr. Force was not present at the meeting to put in his resignation, to settle it, it was decided to hold an adjourned meeting the following evening (Tuesday) which was done and Mr. Force being present at this meeting his resignation was accepted.

No appointment of a new street commissioner has been made yet as no one wants the office in these busy times of high wages. Heretofore there has been a scramble for the position but now the office is going begging.

The question of rebuilding the breakwater along Jackson creek was brought up and discussed as to how it should be built. It was decided to have the street committee ascertain an estimate as to what the work would cost.

The following bills were audited and ordered paid:

G M Thrasher, fees and board of prisoners	$ 6 00
R S Dunlap, labor, material and freight for repairs to city building in the cemetery.....	10 00
J H Chambers, shingles for cemetery building.....	7 50
City Drug Store, receipt book for

Henry Dox, recorder fees.....	2 70
J. M. Myers, bridge and approach across Jackson creek.....	135 00

Eighth Grade School Graduates.

The following are the eighth grade graduates from the schools of Jackson County for the spring examinations for the year 1903:

Jacksonville—Grace Raypholtz, Clara Elmer.

Talent—May Buchanan, Kate Beeson, Edith Stone, Ina Oatman, Lydia Sleppy.

Phoenix—Bert Stancliff.

Central Point—Glenn N. Pleasant, Cordie O. Gillmore, Mary M. Yocum, Ada Ditsworth, Maud VanVliet, Eva Norcross.

Trail—Harvey Inlow, Maggie Wilson, Tolo—Tildon Patten, Wm. Chapman, Otie Kame.

The highest average was made by Harvey Inlow, it being 94.6 percent. The next in rank was Maud VanVliet, 94.1 percent and third, Eva Norcross 93.2 percent. These banner students are all residents of the country, Harvey Inlow who resides in the sparsely settled district of Upper Rogue river not even having the benefit of a graded school. It is generally the country raised boys and girls who lead their classes in both the common schools and the colleges. The town boys and girls make the fastest progress in their first years at school, by reason of their better advantages, both school, home and otherwise, but most of them fall to the rear in the later years of their school work, the endless amusements, irregular hours and various temptations getting into listless, visionary habits that prove their undoing.

Miss Emma Wulf, after a visit with Ashland and other friends, is back as head clerk in the Boss Confectionery store. Miss Wulf states that her sister, Miss Nellie, recently in Ashland is now at Coleslin.

By a recent letter from her husband, William Healey and her son J. B. Wetterer, who have been at Nome for the past three years mining, Mrs. Healey of this place, learns that they have good prospects for a profitable mining season this summer. They have received a water right, that will give them an ample supply of fresh water from a lake back on the tundra and this year they will carry on deep placer mining. Last year they were greatly handicapped by lack of water, having only seawater pumped by a gasoline engine. Mr. Wetterer's health has been very good but Mr. Healey had a slight sick spell this spring, but now he is alright. The letter states that the spring has been very cold and disagreeable in Alaska and they could do no work at all until after the first of June. They also state that there has been a big rush at Nome this spring, the 12 vessels arriving there in June bringing over 5000 people. Among the new arrivals were Melvin and Floyd Pierce, of Poorman creek. The boys made the trip without incident, but the first two nights they were in Nome and before they could reach the Healey camp they had to sleep out of doors for every habitation was filled to the doorway.
