LOCAL NOTES.

The Misses Reuter were Chautauqua visitors at Ashland, returning Tuesday.

Misses Orth and Donegan were Chautauqua visitors during the fore part of the week.

Miss Barnes has been in Ashland the greater part of the week attending the Chautauqua assembly.

Carl T. Jones, county surveyor, was at the court house Wednesday on business connected with his office.

Camp stoves and utensils for camping at Boyden's.

Mrs. J. N. T. Miller left Saturday for Oregon City for an extended visit with her son, Colonel Robert A. Miller.

Mrs. P. P. Prim and her granddaughter, Miss Maud Prim, were Ashland visitors this week attending the Chautauqua assembly.

Judge Day returned Thursday evening from Ashland, where he had been since Monday attending the Chautauqua. The Judge reports the Assembly far better in every respect than that of any previous year and the attendance larger than usual.

If you want to rent a farm or have land to rent see T. C. Norris, Jacksonville.

Wm. Schebel, one of the well-known farmers of Griffin Creek, was in Jacksonville Wednesday. He is a farmer who thinks it best to have more than one resource to depend on, so he carries on fruit, grain and stock raising with equal endeavor and profitable results.

Wedding stationery, the latest out, at the Sentinel office.

Herbert Hanna returned Sunday from Grants Pass where he had spent four days admiring the many attractions in that pretty little city. His admiration was so aroused that he has confided to his friends that he may make another trip to that city in the near future.

A number of the friends of Henry Wendt, Jr., gathered at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wendt, Monday evening to give a welcome to his old town. Dancing, singing and instrumental music made up the evening diversion and a most enjoyable evening was had by all present.

The first cigar to be manufactured in the Jacksonville cigar factory was turned out Tuesday morning by Mr. Wade. Mr. Wade's cigars are well made and neat appearing and of good quality for the brand made. Mr. Wade will soon have on a large supply of tobacco when he will be able to turn out cigars to suit the tastes of all classes of smokers and to please the most fastidious.

Calling cards, the latest in style and printed so neatly as to resemble copper-plate work at the Sentinel office.

Mrs. Susan T. Neil is expected home about the 1st of August and she will again occupy her residence on Fifth and C streets, now occupied by Mr. Lyden's family, who will move to a house on Oregon street near the City Hall. Mrs. Neil is at present visiting with friends at Vancouver, prior to which she has been residing at Austin, Texas, where she took a full course in music in the Loudon Conservatory of Music, graduating with a high standing in her studies.

Tuesday evening Jacksonville Assembly No. 60, United Artisans, held their installation of officers. The young people made the occasion one of pleasure as well as of lodge work and following the installation ceremonies an icecream social was held. The following are the officers for the ensuing term: M. A., Pauline Reuter; Supt., Lottie Finney; Insp., Oscar Lewis; Jr. Con., Anna Margreiter; Sec., Nettie Thompson; Treas., Amelia Elmer; Sr. Con., Chris Kenney; M. of C. George McCune; F. C., Amy Cantrall; Warder, Sarah Wilcox.

Edgar Hafer returned Wednesday from Portland where he has been to purchase machinery for the box factory now being put in by the Iowa Lumber Co.

A complete outfit of the latest and best box machinery to be had was purchased and the Jacksonville box factory will be as well equipped as any in the state. The box factory will be adjoining the company's planing mill. A few box shapes have been made with the machinery the company now has in operation, but when the new plant is installed they will be able to turn them out by the hundred thousand.

The Iowa Lumber Company is now in a position to bid on filling a contract for a building of any kind. They can supply on short notice the best quality of seasoned dressed lumber, mouldings, turned work, casings, door and window frames,

One of the Medford business houses that has found it profitable to advertise in the Sentinel and to push their trade in Jacksonville is that of W. L. Orr & Company. This firm from a new casual customers has built up their trade until they now send their delivery wagon two trips each week to Jacksonville, each trip bringing over a big load of goods. For this week J. L. Demmer, one of the members of the firm, was here Monday delivering goods and taking orders and Thursday Mr. Orr was here on a like business. Their trade is steadily increasing and Messrs Orr and Demmer think it possible that this fall they will make three trips a week or more to Jacksonville with their delivery wagon.

Editor Nickell, of the Medford Democratic Times has evidently spent an evening in Jacksonville and observed the free and easy hours that some of the young women of this town keep and what he saw toward the midnight hour so excited his pure and righteous soul that he went straightway and clipped an article from the Ladies Home Companion without giving credit, as is his rule, entitled "A Few Words to Gadding Girls." The article is well written and contains a warning that girls should heed, but appearing in the Medford Democratic Times, a paper edited by a man notorious for the ruin he has caused among women the good precept it contains is lost in its effect on the girls of Jacksonville, who are pretty well posted as to Nickell's past record.
