

JACKSONVILLE SENTINEL

Vol. I

Jacksonville, Jackson County, Oregon. Friday, August 21, 1903.

No. 15

LOCAL NOTES.

Mrs. Nunan returned home Monday, but her daughters, Mrs. Burrell and Miss Nunan will remain for a week or longer at Colestin.

County Clerk J. S. Orth has granted marriage licenses to Luther J. Walls and Florence M. Hughes, John Tulley and Mary Foss.

Miss Hattie Bostwick accompanied by a friend, Miss Mollie Ford, of Medford, left Friday for Ruch, where they will visit for a week at the home of Miss Bostwick's parents.

Chris Ulrich had his gristmill running Wednesday getting out a supply of corn meal for the merchants. Mr. Ulrich uses only selected Rogue River Valley corn and his brand of meal has a high reputation among all who have used it.

George Lewis returned Wednesday from a trip to the head of Elk creek in the foothills of the Cascade mountains, where he went to take Mark Applegate and some mining men to the Applegate mine.

Miss Cora Cameron of Uniontown is spending a few days in Jacksonville visiting friends, while here being the guest of Mrs. Jas. Wilson. Miss Cameron will return early in September to Eugene to complete her studies at the State University.

About twenty-five couple of the young people of Jacksonville and vicinity had a very enjoyable dancing party Thursday evening at Orth's hall. The music was furnished by Sig. Boffa's orchestra and it was up to that high class for which that orchestra is noted.

Judge Hanna and his sons, Herbert and Leon, returned Friday from a trip to Evans Creek, where they spent four days at the Judge's farm, which is in charge of a reuter. The Judge found things in good shape on his place and he and the boys had a very pleasant trip.

Prof. E. E. Washburn after being in Jacksonville a few days on business, returned Friday to Ashland, where Mrs. Washburn is with relatives. Monday they will return to Jacksonville to get their home shaped up by the time that the professor has to begin his school work.

Misses Charlotte and Kate Reed arrived home Thursday from a two weeks outing at Colestin. Mrs. Reed remained and will return home next week. Miss Charlotte will leave the last of next week for Portland where she will resume her position as teacher, she having a position in the Stephens school, one the largest in the city.

St. Marys Academy will begin the next school year on Tuesday, September 1st. Pupils will be received for boarding or by the day. A full course in the grammar grades and the academic courses will be given as will also instruction in music and the artistic accomplishments. Full particulars can be had by addressing, The Sister Superioress, Jacksonville, Oregon.

The different lines of industry and of trade are steadily being filled up in Jacksonville and soon there will be no occasion for Jacksonville people having to go to other towns for goods and skilled labor not to be had here. The latest addition to Jacksonville enterprises is a plumbing and tin shop that has been opened by G. H. Elkerton. Mr. Elkerton has his shop in a part of the Whipp building and he has his shop fitted up in good shape for plumbing work. In tin work for the present he will only do repairing. Mr. Elkerton is a young man from Montana and has the ways of a hustler and as Jacksonville is getting to be one of the liveliest towns in Oregon he should be able to build up a good business.

Judge Hanna's Tall Corn.

Judge H. K. Hanna while holding the well earned reputation of being one of the ablest Jurists on the Oregon bench is also a florist and agriculturist of much experience and his chief recreation is in caring for the splendid collection of flowering and ornamental plants and shrubs that adorn the handsome yard of his home on Botanical Hill, for he and his neighbor Mr. P. Britt have growing in their yards about every tree and shrub that will thrive in this climate, and in working in the large vegetable garden he has on the rear of his lots. While the Judge is an admirer of the beautiful as is to be seen in his handsome front yard, yet his pride is the luxuriant rows of beans, peas, tomatoes, carrots, cabbage squashes, corn and other garden produce. But the apple of the Judge's eye is his patch of corn, for he was raised back East and the toothsome roasting ears appeal mightily to his content with the ordinary varieties of sweet corn, but last spring he saw in an Eastern seed house catalogue the advertisement of a new kind of corn that was said to be 95 per cent sweet and the ears so large that six of them would make a man a meal and as for earliness, that was its strong feature, for it matured with such rapidity that it practically annihilated that tedious, anxious waiting time between planting and harvesting, and he ordered a generous quantity of the seed and planted it to the exclusion of the older varieties. In due time the corn came up and in response to the Judge's vigorous hoeing and generous irrigating it has grown like Jonah's gourd in fact it has grown like two gourds and it has been going skyward until its tops are lost in the blue of the heavens and the Judge is lost in amazement and disappointment at the prodigious height of the stalk and at the non-appearance of the golden tassels that presage the coming of the succulent ears of corn. The Judge is hopeful that he may yet have a mess of green corn this year, but he is not sure of it and thinks that he may have to hold his corn patch over until another year to give it time to mature.

In his tree collection Judge Hanna has an English walnut that is but nine years old and loaded with nuts this season. It bore a few nuts when seven years old and last year had quite a crop. He has several fig trees six to eight inches in diameter and which are loaded with figs. He has an olive tree now five years old that is fully six feet high, and though grown in the garden is as thrifty and healthy as if growing in its native South. It blossomed this year and will probably bear fruit next year. One of the Judge's almond trees is probably as large as any in Southern Oregon for it is 21 inches in circumference and has a top like a big old apple tree. He also has a bamboo thicket so thrifty that he can cut some fine fishing rods from the stalks.

SUMMONS.

In the Circuit Court of the State of Oregon, for the County of Jackson.
Ida L. Wilson, plaintiff vs. Charles F. Wilson, defendant.
To Charles F. Wilson, defendant:
In the Name of the State of Oregon: You are hereby required to appear and answer the complaint filed against you in the above entitled Suit within ten days from the date of the service of this

Summons upon you, if served within this County, or if served within any other County of this State, then within twenty days from the date of the service of this Summons upon you; and if by publication, then on or before the expiration of six weeks from the commencement of such publication and if you fail so to answer for want thereof, the plaintiff will take a default against you, and will apply to the Court for the relief prayed for in her complaint, viz: For the dissolution of the marriage contract now existing between the plaintiff and defendant, and for the award to plaintiff of the care and custody of the minor child of said parties, and such further relief as to the Court may seem equitable.
This Summons is published pursuant to an order made by Hon. H. K. Hanna, Circuit Judge of the First Judicial District at Chambers in Jacksonville, Oregon, on the 21st day of August, 1903, which order requires that this summons be published in the Jacksonville Sentinel, a newspaper of general circulation published in Jacksonville, Oregon, for a period of six weeks.
The date of the first publication of this summons is August 21, 1903.
