Grants Pass, the object of their visit to the county seat being to look up an assessment matter that is to come before the next meeting of the board of equalization. The property in question is some timber land in which there is an alleged error in assessment.

E. S. Wolfer, the Medford tinner and L. H. Yoder from near Hubbard, Marion county, and a schoolmate in their school days, were in Jacksonville Wednesday evening for a short time while out for a bicycle ride. Mr. Yoder who is a farmer, states that the farmers of the Willamette valley are making money this year. They have the largest oat crop grown for years past, some of the fields going 100 bushels to the acre. Their wheat is yielding well though the acreage is short owing to so much land being put to grass the last few years. The hay crop is the largest ever harvested, owing to increased acreage and heavy yields. Potatoes are a good crop and hops fine with prices going up. The willamette farmers as are the farmers of Southern Oregon are prospering in a manner that is exceedingly stimulating to their bank account.

Judge E. B. Watson and Mrs. Watson left Thursday for their home in Portland after having spent six weeks in Southern Oregon. Mrs. Watson spent most of her time with her mother, Mrs. E. J. Kubli, while the Judge in company with Henry Kubli spent about a month in the hills at the headwaters of Applegate hunting and fishing, having great success so they say killing deer in numbers and catching whole strings of fish, but Kap. Kubli who was in camp at Cinnabar Springs told a different tale for he says the Judge and Henry came to camp and never said venison to him once but were glad to eat his bacon and take a generous supply of his provisions back with them to their mountain camp. Judge and Mrs. Watson greatly enjoyed their visit to Jacksonville for both were former residents of this place and they each have many friends here. Judge Watson has become one of the leading members of the Portland bar and his professional duties are such that his could not continue his vacation longer.
