Sheriff Rader has been away since last Friday assisting his brother John Rader in bringing their stock cattle in from the Dead Indian range. They will place their cattle in pastures near Tolo. They brought in their beef cattle two weeks ago and put them in a pasture near Central point. It is very few times in the history of this Valley that range cattle have had to be brought in so early. Usually feed is good on the ranges until about the first of November and often later than that. The excessively dry season is the cause of the feed failing so early this fall. It is making a serious expense to many stockmen to begin feeding so early.

J. A. Krewson, who is a land clearer by trade, following that work in the East before he came to Oregon and who has a large contract clearing land for Prof. A. P. Armstrong on Laurdash farm, was in Jacksonville Tuesday having a stump puller rebuilt at Chas. Basye's blacksmith shop. This stump puller is an invention of Mr. Krewson's and with it one man can pull the largest manzanita grub in less than a minute and small oak, pine and other trees can be pulled almost as quickly. The machine is on the plan of a capstan. The drum of it is a 2½ inch steel shaft, turned by means of an eight foot lever, the cable being ¾ wire rope. The machine is simple of construction and is mounted on runners so that it is easily moved, one man readily handling it.
