T. C. Mayfield, wife and four children arrived in Jacksonville last Friday by team from Chalice, Idaho and they will spend the winter here and are occupying a house in the east part of town belonging to Mr. Ryan. Mr. Mayfield came from the east to Idaho but he found that section too cold and disagreeable and hearing of the fine climate and many advantages of Rogue River valley he came here and is so well pleased that he will locate and engage in farming.

One of the best selections of millinery goods to be seen in Medford is at the store of Maad E. Wilson & Co. in Medford on F street west of the S. P. depot and her prices are satisfactory to customers.

Henry Kubli was in town Thursday from his Applegate ranch. The day previous he and James Buckley got in from the Upper Applegate range 13 head of beef cattle, the last that they will bring down. They will leave their stock on the range until winter weather drives them out. Mr. Kubli and Mr. Buckley recently placed on their range 62 head of cattle that they purchased of J. G. Martin and others of Antioch vicinity. Mr. Kubli stated that none of the Applegate stockmen had yet sold their beesves, holding them in their fine alfalfa pastures until a better price was offered. As the number of beef cattle held by himself and neighbors, Mr. Kubli gives the following estimate: James Buckley, 65; Henry D. Knbl, 35; R. Cameron, 40; Miles Cantrall, 40; Andrew Cantrall, 75; Arthur Kleinhammer, 50 making a total of 305 head. There is nearly as many more held by other Applegate stockmen, making a bunch of cattle that will be a good buy to some dealer, as the Applegate range has a long established reputation for turning off beef equalled by but few ranges in Oregon.

Pioneers Visit Jacksonville.

W. H. Gore manager of the big Ish farm two miles north east of Jacksonville, and one of the finest in all Southern Oregon, was in Jacksonville Saturday afternoon with his father Emerson E. Gore, of Phoenix, and his uncle Emory E. Gore of Lawrence, Kan. The two old gentlemen are twins and so near alike that strangers cannot tell them apart. Both are pioneers of Jacksonville and their trip Saturday was to greet the few persons yet in the old town who were here 50 years ago and note the changes that have come to the town and surrounding country since the days when Jacksonville was a stirring mining town and the adjacent hills and valleys alive with hundreds of mines. The Messrs. Gore arrived at Jacob Wagner's place on the creek now known as Wagner creek from Illinois September 20, 1852, coming by way of California, and they camped there a few days taking a look at the valley. They worked one day for Mr. Wagner and put a floor in his cabin made of slabs that Mr. Wagner had gotten at a little sawmill just started near where Ashland now is. Mr. Wagner had occupied his cabin with only an earth floor. The only pay taken from Mr. Wagner was a big squash that he had grown on his place. They arrived in Jacksonville a few days later. The day proved to be Saturday, but they did not know it having lost their calendar reckonings, and that afternoon they borrowed a saw and frame and early next morning they went on the hill back of where St. Mary's Academy now is and cut a large tree and began to make shakes with which to build a cabin. Soon they noticed people on the streets as though going to church and being good Presbyterians they ceased their work and came down and found that a traveling preacher was holding services. They resumed their cabin building Monday and soon had it erected on land north of the present U. S. hotel when Emerson Gore moved into it with his family, Emory Gore boarding with him, he not then being married. In February Emerson Gore took up as a donation claim the land upon which he now lives and to which he soon moved his family. The Gores were carpenters and among other houses upon which they worked was the present Methodist church in Jacksonville. They put up a carpenter shop and did all kinds of wood work. Emory remained a year in Jacksonville when he left and worked at various places in the valley until 1860 when he went to Kansas and has lived in that state since, residing first at Atchison and later at Lawrence.

To Mr. and Mrs. Emerson E. Gore is due the honor of being the parents of the first white baby boy born within the limits of the present town of Jacksonville, so far as records now to be had show, their son Walter Gore, now residing near Phoenix, having been born December 3, 1852, while they were residing in the little shake house in the north part of town.

Ashland Normal Notes.

The new students this week are Agnes Hare, Nellie Hare, Ashland; Grover Marksbury, Bellview.

The Boarding Hall on the campus already has fifty regular boarders who room in the dormitories, besides ten or fifteen who take dinners there.

Chapel exercises are from 8:30 to 9 o'clock each morning. Following the music, scripture reading and prayer each member of the faculty takes a turn in giving a short address to the students on some live topic.

The old Normal bus has been made almost new again and the new bus will be completed about the first of November. For the present a light covered wagon is being used along with the bus to carry students who board in town.

Five young ladies are aiding themselves in carrying the school expenses by doing light work for board in families and seven young men are also doing work to help themselves. Three work in drug stores Saturdays and evenings, one does chores at a hotel, two do some work at the Normal and one does odd jobs about town. These are excellent students.

The sixteen graduates of last year are all doing well. Raymond Bates is a student at Whitman college, Clyde Briggs is principal of the schools at St. Johns, Washington, Lucie George and Lou Grubb are both teaching in the Grants Pass schools, Olah Mickey is a grade teacher at Cottage Grove, G. W. Milan is principal of East school Ashland and Docia Willets is one of his assistants, D. C. Mathews is vice-principal of the Medford schools, Delia Tibbetts is critic teacher at the Normal, Loleto Norton is a grade teacher in the Junction City schools, Lillian Peaceful is teacher in the Milton schools, Eva Storey teaches in the Phoenix schools, Aura Thompson is teacher in the Roseburg schools, George Marksbury and Walter McIntire are arranging for their post-graduate work in the Normal and Floy Cambers continues her music.

Golden Wedding Anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Bowman celebrated their golden wedding at their house in Medford Tuesday evening, they having been married October, 1853, in Lowell, Mass. A large number of their friends had gathered and with them they brought Rev. Brown, pastor of the M. E. Church, South, and they had the aged couple repeat the troth that they had been faithful to for 50 years and which they would hold sacred long as life was theirs. After the ceremony a bounteous supper was served and a most delightful evening was spent by all. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. J. Armstrong, Mr. and Mrs. M. Armstrong, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. White, Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Trowbridge, Mr. and Mrs. H. Hooker, Mesdames R. Gray, Davidson, Noble, Fredenburg, Hockenyo and Miss Cora Martin.

An interesting feature of the event was the using on the table of the table cloth that was used at the wedding dinner of Mr. and Mrs. Bowman 50 years ago.

Cause of Lockjaw.

Lockjaw, or tetanus, is caused by a bacillus or germ which exists plentifully in street dirt. It is inactive so long as exposed to the air, but when carried beneath the skin as in the wounds caused by percussion caps or by rusty nails, and when the air is excluded the germ is roused to activity and produces the most virulent poison known. These germs may be destroyed and all danger of lockjaw avoided by applying Chamberlain's Pain Balm freely as soon as the injury is received. Pain Balm is an antiseptic and causes cuts, bruises and like injuries to heal without maturation and in one third the time required by the usual treatment. It is for sale by City Drug Store.

W. H. Miller, C. T. Davidson and George Lane started this Friday for the Waldo country on a hunting trip and incidentally to do a little prospecting.
