"Because | Love you."

A company of amateurs composed of well-known Ashland people held forth at the U. S. Hall last Tuesday night, presenting the old and always delightful drama "Because I Love you," in a manner that drew forth frequent and enthu-siastic applause. Mr. Edgar Graham who managed the presentation and who is a professional actor, had shown excellent judgment in his assignment of parts to the personnel of his players. Misses Blanche Logan and Cora Johnson, Mrs. W. H. Bartges, Messrs. Neil, Watson, Parsons, Evans, Ogg and Dr. Burnett have assisted in similar performances at Ashland before. Miss George and E. T. Staples in this play made their initial appearance as histrionic adepts, but sustained their parts in a manner far from amateurish, while the others but maintained their well known reputation, and enabled the Jacksonville people to pass a most enjoyable evening. Miss Hilty and Monte Briggs elicited a hearty and merited encore by their descriptive duet. Considering the fact that the players are all busy people and that only five rehearsals had preceded the performance it was one of rare merit. The young people expressed themselves as highly pleased with the large attendance and the appreciative attention accorded them. Following was the cast of characters:

Imogene Courtleigh, willful, wayward, and wealthyAgnes E. George Ginger, a gypsy waif Blanch Logan

Prudense Freeheart, a poor relation.Cora M Johnson Horace Verner, an artist and accidentally a married man Wm. E. Graham Dink Potts, his chum and accidentally in love with Ginger Fred Neil Ira Courtleigh, Imogene's guardian ...

...Geo. T. Watson Buck Tyson, a gypsy tinker Dr. R. T. Burnett

Elmer Van Sittert, an anglomaniac New Yorker.....Fred Parson Malor Duffy, county clerk and Confederate veteran Edward T. Staples

The social given last Friday evening by the Ladies Aid Society of the Methodist church in the Ryan building was a success financially and socially. The attendance was quite large considering that the weather was very inclement and it was a most enjoyable gathering. As nearly all the supplies were donated and Mr. Ryan generously gave the ladies the free use of his hall the receipts were nearly all clear profit and the society was able to add $25.50 to its treasury. This now enables the society to meet its pledge of $25 which it made to the building fund for the new oarn on the M. E. parsonage grounds. Rev. Snyder has bestirred himself until the other portion of the debt incurred has been reduced to $19 and he hopes soon to be able to pay that off.
