

LOCAL NOTES.

Barley, millfeed, corn and wheat at the Boss. Cheap as the market affords.

Miss Anna Lyden of this place, who is teaching the Applegate school will close her term on the 23d of this month. Her pupils are now preparing a program of entertaining exercises for that day. Miss Lyden, though a young teacher and this her first term is given the credit by her patrons of conducting a successful school.

Henry Dox, cashier in Beekman's bank, returned Tuesday from a business trip to Dunsmuir and a pleasure trip to Sacramento. Mr. Dox states that California's capital is having one of the most prosperous years in the city's history and that new buildings are going up on every street. As to the business outlook the leading men of Sacramento anticipate good times for the coming year.

Kindling Wood—$1.00 a load at yard or delivered. Iowa Lumber Company.

George Hamilton and C. M. Adams are learning the candy makers trade at the Boss Confectionery under Al Learned. They pay Mr. Learned $50 each for this instruction, and they consider it money well invested for Mr. Learned is an expert at the trade. John Rankin who completed a course under Mr. Learned a month ago is now established at Gresham in eastern Multnomah county where he is building up a profitable trade in a confectionery store that he is conducting at that place.

C. M. Ruch, mayor, merchant, postmaster, telephone hello and blacksmith at the lively little town of Ruch on the Applegate, was in Jacksonville Wednesday for a load of goods. Mr. Ruch states that the sun shines each day, the farmers are prosperous, the gold seekers having good success and the community generally happy and contented over his way and that they have the best section of Jackson county to which they would gladly welcome more settlers. In the way of amusement they had a fine dance at Mr. Ruch's hall last Friday evening that was well attended and an enjoyable affair. The music was furnished by Will Ray, Bert Clute and Chas. Murray.

J. A. Gilmore, of Lower Applegate was in Jacksonville Wednesday to procure a marriage license for himself and Miss Bertha Rexford. Their wedding took place Thursday at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Manley Rexford, who reside three miles below Applegate postoffice. Mr. Gilmore is an Applegate boy, his parents reside on Lower Applegate. For the past year he has been employed at the big New York mine near Yreka, where he is engineer in charge of the compressors. He is known as a young man of good habits, industrious and well worthy the love of the young lady whom he has won for his life companion.

Columbia river salt salmon bellies, mackerel, Holland herring in kits and kegs. Nunan-Taylor Co.

C. S. Fling, who recently bought of John S. Orth the 10 acre tract opposite the J. N. T. Miller place just north of town, is having the lumber hauled and will soon commence the erection of a cottage 20x26 one story. During this winter he will build a barn and other buildings and fix his place up for a comfortable home. Mr. Fling will plant this winter 100 peach, apple and cherry trees and it is his plan to eventually plant the greater part of the tract to fruit and berries. Mr. Fling has one of the best pieces of fruit land in the Valley and as he is a thorough, practical orchardist he will make it into one of the finest orchards in this vicinity.

Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Tungate had with them on Thanksgiving their daughter Mrs. E. Poole and her husband Mr. Poole and Mrs. Tungate's brother, G. W. Beale. They reside near Mt. Pitt on upper Big Butte creek and both Mr. Beale and Mr.

Poole are in the stock business, which is the principal industry for that section. Mr. Beale is one of the old settlers and he states that it has been several years since cattle were doing so well in November as they are this fall. The rains has brought on the grass in good shape and feed is fine on the range. Some of the stockmen of that section never feed at all during the winter. When the ground is bare the cattle find plenty of feed and when there is a heavy snow the stockmen cut down trees to enable the cattle to feed upon the twigs and moss.

There has long existed the need of some guide or hand-book which will enable one to recognize the various trees of the Pacific Northwest. This want is met in the Pacific Monthly for December, by an article, "Our Forest Friends and How to Recognize Them," by R. H. Kennedy. The author is at once a student and a practical lumberman. He has brought both his knowledge and his experience to bear upon this article, and has explained the difference between the Pines and Firs and Hemlocks and Cedars, and their various subdivisions, so clearly and so carefully, that the reader is at once enabled to recognize the different family groups, and with a little study, to detect the various individuals. The twenty illustrations add greatly to the value of the article, which should be of the greatest interest to every lover of nature as manifested in the matchless trees of the Northwest.

Calling cards, the latest in style and printed so neatly as to resemble copper-plate work at the Sentinel office.

Mrs. J. E. Davidson, whose husband is superintendent of the Millionaire mine in the Blackwell district, has been in Jacksonville the past week at the home of her sister Mrs. W. H. Miller, with her little boy aged three years to have his hand operated upon to repair an injury done by a burn when he was 18 months old. The burn was made by the baby falling against a hot stove which so injured his hand that three of the fingers were bent in almost to the palm of the hand by the contracting of the skin on the inner side of the fingers. Last Saturday Dr. Gale and Dr. Robinson cut away the skin from the little finger and the third finger and straightened them and placed them in splints to hold them in place. They decided not to operate on the middle finger as it was not so badly injured but it will regain its normal position when the other fingers are no longer stiff. The little fellow's hand is now healing nicely from the operation and the doctors feel confident that he will regain the full use of his fingers.

Popular Holiday Excursions.

T. K. Bolton and Emil Peil, who have been successfully conducting excursions to San Francisco for several years, announce another, to take place during the holidays. It will leave Ashland Saturday, Dec. 26th, on the noon train. Round-trip tickets have been placed at $16, good for 15 days.

In order that ample accommodations may be arranged for, those intending to make the trip are requested to inform the management as early as possible.

The hundreds who have participated in these excursions will testify to the enjoyment afforded by them. The introduction of the New Year in San Francisco is something worth witnessing.

RECTOR OF ST. LUKE'S,

Ashburnham, Ontario, Testifies to the Good Qualities of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

ASHBURNHAM, Ont., April 18, 1903.—I think it is only right that I should tell you what a wonderful effect Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has produced. The day before Easter I was so distressed with a cold and cough that I did not think to be able to take any duties the next day, as my voice was almost choked by the cough. The same day I received an order from you for a bottle of your Cough Remedy. I at once procured a sample bottle, and took about three doses of the medicine. To my great relief the cough and cold had entirely disappeared and I was able to preach three times on Easter day. I know that this rapid and effective cure was due to your Cough remedy. I make this testimonial unsolicited, being glad to have found such a Godsent remedy. Respectfully yours, E. A. Langfeldt, M. A., Rector of St. Luke's Church. To Chamberlain Medicine Co. This remedy is for sale by City Drug Store.

THE AMERICAN MONTHLY REVIEW OF REVIEWS

How Can I Keep Up with the Times?

IT is pretty hard to keep well informed on the political news, the scientific news, the literary news, the educational movements, the great business developments, the hundreds of interesting and valuable articles in the hundreds of excellent magazines. About the only way it can be done by the average busy man and woman is to read a magazine like "The Review of Reviews," and, as it is the only magazine of the sort, it is a good thing to send $2.50 for a year's subscription.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT says:

"I know that through its columns views have been presented to me that I could not otherwise have had access to; because all earnest and thoughtful men, no matter how widely their ideas diverge, are given free utterance in its columns."

EX-PRESIDENT GROVER CLEVELAND says:

"I consider it a very valuable addition to my library."
