Saturday evening while Bert Bostwick, George Buckley and William Broad were driving out from Medford on the way to their home on Applegate, the horse became frightened and tipped over the buggy throwing the occupants out, Buckley and Broad escaped without injury, but Bostwick had his left elbow dislocated. The young man came on to Jacksonville and Drs. Gale and Robinson set the injured joint and Mr. Bostwick was able to go on home Monday.

A. M. Woodford, Medford's new postmaster, sent off his bonds to Washington Wednesday and he will likely take charge of the office on April 1st. His bondsmen are I. L. Hamilton, D. H. Miller, F. E. Payne, G. L. Davis, Wallace Goods and Dr. W. S. Jones. Mr. Woodford will have Dr. H. M. Butler for his chief clerk. Dr. Butler will have charge of the money order and registry departments as well as to keep the general accounts of the office, duties that he is well qualified to fill for he is an expert bookkeeper. Mr. Woodford has not announced who the other clerks are to be, but it is probable that he will employ his daughter and one of the present clerks. Mr. Woodford will retain his agency for the Standard Oil Company, as attending to the company's business requires so little time that it will not interfere with his postoffice duties.

Big Sticky Items.

Mr. and Mrs. Al Turpin who are now living near Medford spent Friday night with Al's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Turpin, and on their return trip took a load of beautiful brown leghorn pullets, which they raised on Sticky but had not before moved them to their new home. They have a crop in on the Ish farm, so will again be residents of our section during the harvesting season.

E. G. Roberts was a Central Point visitor last Saturday.

D. Cingcade, one of our enterprising stock men, is buying a few calves, which he will pasture with his other stock on the Dead Indian range.

James Grigsby, of Agate, spent last Sunday night with his cousin, Arch Turpin.

Our farmers taking quite an interest in the "Good Roads problem, a number of them are giving work with themselves and teams to repair the Central Point bridge. Big Sticky has as good showing in the amount of gratuitous work done on roads and bridges as any section of the country we have yet heard from.

Mrs. W. J. Gregory has been making Ashland a visit, being the guest of her daughters, Mrs Cinda Weedon and Mrs. Lizze Owens, also of numerous friends.

We learn that Mr. Poole, who has been a sufferer from heart trouble for a number of years, is being treated by a faith-cure doctor.

Work is still going on, on the Fish Lake Ditch, notwithstanding the inclement weather, but will be pushed much more rapidly, when the weather clears up. Supt. McCary has purchased a large amount of lumber and posts which will be hauled to the ditch as soon as the weather and roads will permit.

Mr. Lofland, of Griffin Creek, has been visiting his sons, Charles and Harry and their families.

Frank Roberts, of Central Point and Miss May Evans, of Medford, were pleasant guests at Mrs. E. L. Roberts' Sunday

Mr. and Mrs. Al. Turpin have rented Mrs. Heimroth's fine fruit ranch near Medford and have moved to their new home. They will be greatly missed in our neighborhood, but we wish them the best of success in their new venture. Mr. and Mrs. Heimroth will go to California for the benefit of the latter's health she being very much indisposed for the last year.

Miron Turpin, accompanied by Miss Meda Charley, of Climax, spent Saturday night at the parental home.

Our farmers are very much dissatisfied with the exorbitant tax they are obliged to pay this year.

The bridge below the Beebe place was washed out during the heavy rain and the ford is very high.

Our rural mail carrier has not been out for a couple of weeks now, owing to the Central Point bridge being partially washed out.

E. G. Roberts made a business trip to Jacksonville the first of the week.

Oregon Chapter No. 4, R. A. M. gave their annual banquet and reunion Thursday. The hall of the chapter, one of the largest and handsomest in Oregon outside of Portland, was decorated in exquisite taste with a profusion of potted plants embracing many varieties of ferns, palms, rare Japanese vines and other ornamental plants, an orange tree loaded with ripe oranges forming the center piece in front of the Worshipful Master's station. The banquet room had similar decorations, a graceful arch festooned in blue, purple, garnet and white, the Chapter colors with the keystone in the center spanned the center of the room. The banquet served was Jacksonville's best and that tells it all to those who have partaken at one of the banquets for which this town is famous. During the early part of the evening a pleasing program was rendered that was made up of talent and selections of a higher order than usually is had at public functions. The opening selection, a piano duet by Miss Margaret Krause and Donald Colvig, was well rendered. Miss Mabel Jones, always a favorite with Medford and Jacksonville audiences, sang one of her best selections winning a hearty encore. Mrs. Susie Neil gave with fine expression on the piano one of Liszt's best productions. Mr. Holbrook Withington, an attorney who recently located in Medford from Portland, proved himself a dialect linguist of great perfection and his Irish, Swede, German, Yankee and other selections kept the audience in a roar of laughter. Dr. and Mrs. R. G. Gail gave a vocal solo in a manner that greatly pleased the audience. Mrs. C. E. Hafer, who recently came to Medford, the bride of Mr. C. E. Hafer, of Kansas City, made her first appearance before a Jacksonville audience. Mrs. Hafer has a round, full voice finely cultivated and her solo was one of the most enjoyable features of the evening's entertainment. Marion Neil, Jacksonville's favorite juvenile piano player gave added proof that she has musical ability of rare promise. The program closed by a recall of both Miss Jones and Mr. Withington, she gave a pretty song, the words for which were written by Dennis Stovall, of Grants Pass, and the music was of her own arrangement, while he gave a German dialect piece that was a gem as a fun producer. There were a large number of guests present, a special train bringing some 40 from Medford, they being Hon. and Mrs. W. I. Vater, Mayor and Mrs. E. B. Pickel, Rev. W. F. Shields, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Hafer, Harold Withington, Dr. and Mrs. W. L. Cameron, Miss Mabel Jones, Dr. and Mrs. W. S. Jones, Fred Weeks, Miss Jessie Mathes, of Ashland, Miss Gertrude Weeks, Miss Bernice Cameron, A. H.
