Friday, April 1, 1904.

The year 1903 was a prosperous one for the Clear Creek Creamery Co., a co-operative butter making institution that is located on the Clackamas river a few miles from this city. In the 12 months this plant manufactured 41,261 pounds of butter. This product netted the patrons an average for the year of 20 cents per pound for their butter at the creamery, or 26½ cents when their cream was called for. The cost of making the butter was 2½ cents per pound and the receipts from the sale of the creamery's output for the year amounted to $13,430. The volume of this company's business is increasing yearly.—Oregon City Enterprise.

This good financial showing of this Clackamas county creamery is but another proof that dairying in Oregon is as profitable as any other farm industry, even that of fruit. The time is not distant when dairying in Rogue River Valley will be as extensively carried on and will yield as great a revenue as the fruit industry. Six to nine hundred dollars gross returns per acre orchard give the inference that fruit raising is a very profitable industry, but when the cost of a steam spraying machine, spraying, pruning, thinning, shipping and cultivating is deducted the relative profits with that of the dairyman is about an equal per cent on the labor and money invested. Rough roads and long hauls do not put the handicap upon dairying in the out lying districts as it does to the fruit industry for the hauling of the cream or the butter to market is a small matter as compared with that of apples or berries. Then dairying has the added advantage that it brings in a steady income instead of once a years as does fruit. And failure of a butter crop was never known.

Jacksonville bids fair to have more substantial road work done in its vicinity this year than in the previous five years together. Through the efforts of the board of trade the Jackson Creek road will be made into a permanent, creditable highway within the next few months. The farmers along the hill road leading to Gold Hill are preparing to secure the improvement of that road from the W. W. Scott farm to the limits of the Jacksonville road district, a distance of four miles. Jas. M. Hurley is at the head of the movement and in the first day that he circulated a subscription paper he secured pledges for an even $100 for the road fund, those heading the list being J. M. Hurley $20, A. F. Carpenter $20, A. C. Nicholson $20, Ed. Scott $10, Robert Oglesby $10, J. N. Nicholson, $10, E. I. Reynolds $10. Mr. Hurley expects to raise at least $300, and he and a committee of other farmers will be present at the meeting of the Jacksonville board of trade on April 11, to ask that the business men of Jacksonville assist in the work of getting this road, one of the most important that leads to Jacksonville, graded and made into a road passable at all seasons of the year. The farmers along the Jacksonville—Griffin Creek road are also considering a plan to improve that road and they intend to ask the cooperation of Jacksonville in raising its funds with which to carry on the work of graveling this road.

Fully half of the residents of Jacksonville own a horse or a team and a vehicle and nearly that proportion of Medford residents have their own conveyances, yet since the middle of November to the present time they have not been able to use their rigs enough to more than half pay for the feed of their horses. And many have not had the harness on their horses all winter except for a drive around town. It was not inclement weather that prevented these persons from taking a drive and getting some use of their horse and vehicle, for there were many days that were pleasant and bracing for driving, but the almost impassable condition of the roads precluded that pleasure. The liverymen suffer a greater loss, for their horses eat up all the profits made during the summer months and sometimes more. The annual mud blockade to the roads of Jackson county bring heavy loss to the residents of the town as well as those of the country.

The public lands committee has authorized Senator Fulton to report favorably the bill introduced in congress by Senator Mitchell, extending to the citizens of Oregon, Washington and California the provisions of the act authorizing the citizens of Colorado, Nevada, and Territories to cut and use timber on the public domain for mining and domestic purposes. This means that the bill will pass and become a law. This measure will be of much assistance to miners in Southern Oregon, who in prospecting on government land are of necessity obliged to use timber for fuel and mining purposes, which under the present law they are not allowed to cut on public land.

Additional Locals.

There will be neither Sunday School nor church services at the Methodist church Sunday morning instead there will be exercises by the Sunday School scholars and teachers assisted by other talent. It will be in the nature of a missionary meeting the program features bearing on the need of missionary work to make the world better by doing deeds of kindness quite as much as by religious effort. There will be the regular church service in the evening.

If you milk two cows or more it will pay you to sell cream to the Rogue River creamery and own a Sharples Tubular Cream Separator; it pays for itself in its saving for you. Valuable literature free for the asking. We also agree to meet any price paid for cream by any competitor. C. E. GADDIS, Business Manager.

Easter will be observed at St. Josephs church with services appropriate to the day. Solemn services will be had at 10:30 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. conducted by Rev. J. D. Murphy. At these services special musical selections will be rendered. Holy communion will be observed at 7 p. m. Mass will be held in the chapel in Medford at 8 a. m.

Olin Whitman is now sole proprietor of the Medford Cleaning, Pressing & Dyeing works. Mr. Whitman is one of the best hustlers among the young men of Medford and he will make a go of his venture. He will arrange to be in Jacksonville one day in each week to solicit and deliver orders for suits. His establishment does first class work both in cleaning and pressing and in dyeing and his prices are reasonable.

J. B. Duggan, last year manager of the Creosote works in Seattle, but now associated with Robert McGill in a big placer claim on Forest creek, has been with Mr. McGill the past week and Tuesday he left for a visit with his parents in San Francisco to be gone three weeks, when he will return to spend the summer at their mine.

Wm. Colvig is to return from Chicago this Saturday.

Miss Emma Reed left Tuesday for San Francisco where she will take a position as a stenographer.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Stansell now have a little boy and a girl at their home, the little maiden joining the family circle Thursday evening.

Street commissioner Wendt has begun spring street cleaning and from the thorough work he is doing there is an assurance that Jacksonville is to have clean streets so long as he is in charge of the work.

C. Vroman a prominent farmer and miner of Gold Hill, was in Jacksonville Wednesday, on business at the courthouse. Mr. Vroman is a leading Republican of his precinct and is likely to be one of the delegates from this county to the congressional convention to Salem, or to the state convention at Portland.

Miss Effie Wiess of Griffin creek accompanied by her sister Miss Cora and her friend Miss Taylor were shopping in Jacksonville Wednesday. Miss Wiess is one of the popular and successful teachers of Jackson county and she has been engaged to teach the Scott school on Evans creek five miles north of Woodville the term to begin early in April or soon as the roads are passable.

The Portland Evening Journal from a very small beginning two years ago has grown until it is now one of the leading dailies of Oregon and has made it that Portland now has three as good daily papers as has any other city on the Pacific Coast. To meet a growing demand the Journal Company has begun the publication of a Sunday edition. The new paper comes out in 48 page editions and is a credit to the office and to Portland.

Klamath Falls is to have a board of trade and a meeting was called for Tuesday evening of this week by Geo. T. Baldwin, E. R. Reams, J. W. Hamaker and Frank Bowne prominent business men of that place, for the purpose of perfecting the organization. Considerable interest is taken in the movement by the citizens of that town and there is a likelihood that Klamath Falls will have a board of trade that will be a credit to the town and a strong factor in its prosperity. Klamath Falls anticipates something like a boom this summer as there is fair prospect that the Klamath River railroad will be extended from Pokegama on to Klamath Falls and several extensive irrigation propositions are quite certain to be carried out. Irrigation makes possible more alfalfa and more grain and that means added prosperity to the country tributary to Klamath Falls.

The primary election law to be voted on at the June election, if it is adopted, will work a hardship on both the party bosses and on the minority party. It will prevent the boss's dictating the nominations as is now done by slates in the primaries and the conventions, and will preclude the minority party from profiting by the rows in the majority party and electing their candidate as was the case two years ago when the Republican bosses got into trouble over the nomination for governor and Geer was turned down in favor of Furnish, with the result that Chamberlain was elected governor. Had the nominations in that campaign been made by the district primaries so that the Republican voters could have controlled the making of their ticket there would have been no bolt and the Democrats with their minority vote would have failed to have elected Chamberlain.

A Thoughtful Man.

M. M. Austin of Winchester, Ind. knew what to do in the hour of need. His wife had such an unusual case of stomach and liver trouble, physicians could not help her. He thought of and tried Dr. King's New Life Pills and she got relief at once and was finally cured. Only 25c. at City Drug Store.

Cures Coughs and Colds.

Mrs. C. Peterson, 625 Lake St. Topeka, Kansas, says: "Of all cough remedies Ballard's Horehound Syrup is my favorite; it has done and will do all that is claimed for it—to speedily cure all coughs and colds—and it is sweet and pleasant to the taste." 25c. 50c. $1.00 a bottle. At City Drug Store.

A Dandy for Burns.

Dr. Bergin, Pana, Ill., writes: "I have used Ballard's Snow Lintiment; always recommended it to my friends, as I am confident there is no better made. It is a dandy for burns. Those who live on farms are especially liable to many accidental cuts, burns, bruises, which heal rapidly when Ballard's Snow Lintiment is applied. It should always be kept in the house for cases of emergency." 25c. 50c. $1.00 bottle. Sold by City Drug Store.
