

Plea For the Robins.

There is a law against killing any of the song birds in Oregon, and the penalty is a severe one. We hope no one in the Hood River valley, especially, will be so thoughtless and indifferent to the welfare of himself and his neighbors as to kill a robin. Of all birds in Oregon we have not one that is so beneficial to the fruit grower as the robin. They live on insectsexclusively until the berries ripen. The writer has seen as many as 50 at one time going up and down his berry rows every now and again diving into a hill and picking up some insect that has been taking more or less strength from the plant. He has also sat for more than an hour at a time during the brooding season and observed one pair of robins bring in as many as 30 insects to the nest inside of an hour. When we know that they thus live and labor from their earliest advent in the spring exclusively for our good it is not to say the very least, brutally ungrateful to take violently that life simply because the protector of our crops desires a few berries or cherries as a relish or variety in his diet? Surely no one but an ignorant or a maliciously evil minded, cruel and stingy individual could be guilty of such a breach of the law of the state and the unwritten laws of common humanity, and if such an individual does exist in all our valley, he who can produce evidence that will convict him of the crime of shooting away any of the song birds should report to the secretary of the Hood River gun club with the facts so that they can prosecute the offender.—Hood River Glacier.

A Great Sensation.

There was a big sensation in Leesville, Ind. when W. H. Brown of that place, who was expected to die, had his life saved by Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. He writes: "I endured insufferable agonies from Asthma, but your New Discovery gave me immediate relief and soon thereafter effected a complete cure." Similar cures of Consumption, Pneumonia, Bronchitis and Grip are numerous. It's the peerless remedy for all throat and lung troubles. Price 50c, and $1.00, guaranteed by Druggist Trial bottle free City Drug Store.

As a part of the mining exhibit that the Sentinel is getting up, a rocker, pan shovel and pick are wanted. They should be veterans and should show the hard service of many a prospecting trip. These old relics will add much to the interest of the exhibit to Eastern people visiting Jacksonville, and the Sentinel will appreciate the favor if its mining friends can send in the old tools, the like of which has made both millionaires and paupers.

The May number of the Woman's Home Companion bears out its reputation of being a home magazine for everybody by the timeliness and varied appeal of its features. Hudson Maxim's startling article on "The Wonders of Modern Warfare" satisfies a present curiosity. "At Home with Admiral and Mrs. Dewey" is a chatty sketch of the home life of the great naval officer. "The Daughters of the American Revolution" will be read by women who care for their ancestors. There are some especially charming outdoor features, such as "Porch-Parlors in the New South," "An Interesting Family of Raccoons," "A Home-made Water Garden." Mrs. Low's cooking articles and Miss Gould's "Pads and Frills" are as timely as always, and the fiction includes a strong Mennonite story by George Shock, a delicious Irish story by Seumas MacManus and a love-story by Julia Truitt Bishop. Published by The Crowell Publishing Company, Springfield, Ohio; one dollar a year; ten cents a copy.
