Dr. A. LeRoy, superintendent of the immigration and exhibit rooms of the Oregon Information Bureau in the Union Depot in Portland, was in Jacksonville Monday gathering up specimens of the various products of this section for display at the bureau. He secured a box of mineral samples from the Sentinel office exhibit and a fine lot of samples of copper ore from the famous Blue Ledge, from T. J. Kenney. J. W. Opp supplied him with good specimens of ore from the Opp gold mine and Chris Ulrich and others also added to his collection enabling him to get quite a complete collection of the minerals found in the vicinity of Jacksonville.

The Harris Brothers, of Etna, were in Yreka last week, and brought nearly 30 lbs. of gold from their mine at Taylor creek on Salmon mountain, between Etna and Sawyer's Bar. They also showed some specimen quartz, which seemed to be about half gold. From 595 lbs. of this quartz they realized $4,000, and most of the quartz taken out realizes not less than $5.00 to $600 a ton. They have been running a one-stamp mill, and at present working, the ledge is about six feet in width. During their visit in town they purchased from A. Wetzel the two-stamp U. S. Grant mill recently put up at the old Meyers ranch on the Yreka Flats, to be moved over to the mine. The Harris Brothers have one of the richest mines on the Pacific Coast, and if it holds out, is destined to make the owners very wealthy. There are several other rich ledges in the same vicinity, but are not so extensive as far as developed.—Yreka Journal.

Bonded Famous Briggs Mine.

E. T. Staples, of this city, has bonded the famous Briggs gold mine on Thompson Creek, in the Sucker Creek country, the property which has caused so much excitement during the past month in Southern Oregon. A ten days option to purchase at $100,000 recently expired, and Mr. Staples was successful in bonding mine. He was in Ashland, Saturday, and exhibited some marvelously rich specimens from the mine to a group of friends at Hotel Oregon. Mr. Staples has had much experience in mining in Idaho, where he has handled and promoted some extensive gold mining propositions. He has the following to say of the rich Sucker Creek discovery: "I spent some days there and was given liberty to exploit it from a prospective buyer's standpoint. It appalls a man who has been examining $10 and $20 freemilling properties, and going there as I did expecting to see a pocket. I was not prepared to see a fabulously rich quartz vein exposed for 16 feet in length by three feet deep, the gold lying in chunks and slabs along the walls and running through the quartz from side to side in seams as large as two fingers.

"It is so rich that the owners are in an awed and frightened state of mind and are afraid to continue to extract the gold, as it accumulates faster than they dare chance handling and carrying out to the market. As to the extent of the gold-bearing ledge, no man can answer, but the appearance makes it safe to chance it for a couple of hundred thousand dollars. The owners did not solicit a buyer, but have concluded to sell, and I have taken their bond, hoping to acquire full ownership.

"I must confess that I have the gold fever, and who wouldn't after helping pick out $5, $12, $40 and $400 gold nuggets frozen along the walls of a ledge, while the ledge itself stands all aglow with the infusion of the gold metal? It may not surpass the Steamboat, that produced $120,000, or equal the Gold Hill, that yielded $180,000, but it is in the neighborhood of these big finds, and so far as worked has excelled either, and as a matter of fact I doubt if the world can show a record of $28,000 free gold from the same sized excavation. "It is a veritable bonanza, and that's enough said."

"Oregon ranks high among mining states now, but with the immense discoveries being made in Josephine and Jackson counties she will soon lead, or I miss my guess. Until recently the miners and prospectors have cared but little for low-grade ledges, for the reason that the rich so-called pocket finds were numerous, and when the rich chute was worked out from the surface they began to search for another. So it was that many rich ledges have been abandoned when they failed to pay by use of pick, shovel and hand mortar."—Tidings.

Surveying for Artificial Lake.

Surveyors were at work most of last week, running elevations preparatory to finally deciding on the feasibility of the proposed big artificial lake, north of Ashland, which capitalists are interesting themselves in. Lines were run from the proposed dam at the old placer diggings, near the Wyant place, south to a point 300 yards this side of where Ashland Creek empties into Bear Creek, and the engineers on the work pronounce the enterprise entirely practicable. Since the publication of their plan in the Tidings two weeks ago, there has been much interest manifested in the project generally. The utility of the lake for irrigation purposes is generally recognized.—Tidings.

Cured of Chronic Diarrhoea After Ten Years of suffering.

"I wish to say a few words in praise of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy," says Mrs. Mattie Burge, of Martins, Va. "I suffered from chronic diarrhoea for ten years and during that time tired various medicine without obtaining any permanent relief. Last summer one of my children was taken with cholera morbus and I procured a bottle of this remedy. Only two doses were required to give her entire relief. I then decided to try the medicine myself and did not use all of one bottle before I was well and I have never since been troubled with that complaint. One cannot say too much in favor of that wonderful medicine." This remedy is for sale by City Drug Store.
