Improved Orchard Box.

Manager E. H. Shepard, of the Hood River Fruit Growers Union, has introduced a field or orchard box among the orchardists of Hood River that is meeting with approval by those who have used this form of a box.

The orchard box is constructed to hold a box of fruit loosely placed in. The dimensions of the box are 15x20 inches, 10 inches deep. At each end there are hand holds, making the boxes much more convenient to handle. A cleat two inches wide and one inch deep is placed at the top of the box at each end. This assures a firm rest for the boxes as they are placed one above another in the wagon. Thus they are not apt to slip one into another and crush the fruit.

Manager Shepard says he secured 50 of these boxes for his orchard, and after his orchard foreman had used them one day, he remarked that it would be impossible to do without them. Mr. Shepard speaks in high praise of these orchard boxes, and has one on display at the office of the Applegrowers' union, where he explains the merits of the box to all who come in.

To make an orchard outfit complete, Mr. Shepard advises the fruit men to buy a packing table, an outfit of orchard boxes, a nailing machine, and he is now arranging to have an orchard stand constructed for use in setting the orchard boxes on while the apples are being picked.

The use of the orchard boxes, says Mr. Shepard, more than saves their cost in one season by economizing time, no soiling of the packing boxes, no bruising of fruit, etc.—Hood River Glacier.

R. D. Maplesden, of Medford, who represents the Oregon Nursery Co., of Salem, one of the famous big nurseries of Oregon, was in Jacksonville Wednesday on business connected with the delivery of his orders for trees. Mr. Maplesden stated that his sales had been more than one-third larger than last year, yet that was a banner year in his experience as a fruit tree dealer, and that he had every reason to be confident that his sales for next year would show equally as great gains as the farmers were taking a much greater interest in the fruit business. Even out in Klamath and Lake counties, which have been supposed to be a cattlemen's country, the ranchers are planting fruit trees, some of them quite extensively as is proven by the many big orders he took in that section. His sales in Siskiyou and other Northern California counties has also been very large and at the rate trees are being planted in that section it will soon be one of the great fruit districts of the Coast.

O. R. & N. Summer Book.

The handsome 1904 summer book, "Restful Recreation Resorts," issued by the Passenger Department of the Oregon Railroad & Navigation Company, is just out. Tells all about the summering places of the Columbia River Valley; a brief description of the trips up and down the Columbia River, to the mountains, beaches, inland resorts and fountains of healing, where they are and how to reach them. The book has a special designed front cover, printed in two colors, and the inside pages are splendidly illustrated by costly and beautiful half tones. A copy of this publication may be obtained by sending two cents in stamps to A. L. Craig, General Passenger Agent of the Oregon Railroad & Navigation Company; Portland.
