Jane McCully Cabin, Native Daughters, are going to give a grand Thanksgiving ball at Orth's hall, Jacksonville, on Thanksgiving night, and no pains will be spared to make it the event of the season.

If you have occasion to visit the county seat and don't know where to stop, inquire for the Taylor House where you can secure first class beds and meals by the day or week. Transient trade solicited and all treated right.

Our enterprising postmaster John F. Miller has recently connected his office with the new gas lighting plant of Ed. Helms, and now the patrons of the office have no trouble in studying out the combinations of their box locks and reading their late mail.

Henry Kubli was in from the Applegate country last Saturday where he reports all serene. He is somewhat crippled up with several carbuncles just now and limps as though he had a broken leg, but doesn't let it hinder him from getting around and attending to his work.

A couple of Holy Rollers have been proselyting at Eloras creek, but from what we hear their work will be cut short by energetic action of the people. It is reported that they will visit Port Orford, and signs indicate that the boys will give them a hot old time when they do arrive.—Port Orford Tribune.

Frederick Neil Innes, leader of the famous band that bears his name, has been engaged by the authorities of the Lewis and Clark fair to furnish music for the exposition from the date of the opening June 1, to June 28. Mr. Innes plans to organize an adult chorus and a chorus in which the school children will take part.

A carload of 100,000 young fruit trees was unloaded at Medford last week, which was probably the largest shipment ever received at that place. The trees were mostly apples and pears and were consigned to buyers at Central Point, Woodville, Sam Valley Eagle Point and other places as well as to the immediate vicinity of Medford. There were enough trees in the car to plant an orchard of 1500 acres.

Mrs. J. R. Brown and son Dewey mother and brother of Mrs. Lee W. Henry, arrived here last Saturday from their home at Cottage Grove for a visit with the Sentinel force. Altho' but six years old Dewey is a youngster of some discernment and declared, before he had been here a day that he liked our town and country much better than his town, and that it was raining up there and the street were awfully muddy, and from reports he is correct.

A new engine has been added recently to the two-stamp mill equipment of the Price and Van Sickle prospect on Sterling creek. In conjunction with the work on the main channel at the Sterling placer mine, another giant has been placed at the mouth of the old Grubb creek channel, which puts into the main channel about one-fourth mile down from the present point of operation.—Ashland Tidings.

Miss Josephine Donegan came in Saturday from Applegate where she is teaching and after a Sunday visit at home she attended the teachers' institute the first of the week.

Port Arthur The Key of Asia.

From Collier's for November 19.

The story of Port Arthur, distressing as it is, has at least the merit of showing what a cargo of heroic virtues the old world still carries. Slaughter has never been more shocking, but bravery has never been more abundant. Never in all history have men shown greater defiance of death than has been shown in the terrible months of struggle for the citadel which has been for years the key to the eastern situation. We can not wonder at the price Japan would pay for the fortress, since as long as Russia owns that fort the purpose for which this war is fought will not have been accomplished by Japan. If the war should be settled without depriving Russia permanently of the fortress, a dagger would still be pointed at Japan's heart. The control of Korea by Japan would be an insecure defense as long as the strongest position in Manchuria was held by her enemy. Russia needed to hold the fortress for the same reasons that Japan needed to take it. Additional motives for both sides were furnished by considerations of prestige and by the bearing of the Port Arthur situation on the immense struggle further north. The talk about whether all this desperate courage and destruction about Port Arthur has been well invested, therefore, seems to us beside the mark. If war was to be at all, Port Arthur was a necessity to each of the combatants, and time was an essential consideration to both, especially to Japan. It being something vital, therefore, to the their countries' welfare Russians and Japanese alike have fought for the stronghold in a manner to prove that man still retains the virtues of the bulldog. Effeminacy, for the great modern nations, is an imaginary bogey. Let a danger, as vital as has confronted Japan, threaten Germany, France, England, or the United States, and we imagine that they also would still be found capable of fighting desperately in the last ditch.

Prospectors Still Flock to Sucker Creek.

Though it is growing late in the season for prospecting up in that region, miners continue to flock into the upper Sucker and Thompson creek country says the Grants Pass Herald. A new party went in recently from Holland, they being mainly miners from Seattle and Alaska. Within this past week a half score of claims have been located on the California side of the divide. There is but little vacant ground left immediately on this stream, except well down toward the Klamath, though the region is such a vast one that thousands of claims would need be stalked to take up the entire district.

O. R. & N. Summer Book.

The handsome 1904 summer book, "Restful Recreation Resorts," issued by the Passenger Department of the Oregon Railroad & Navigation Company, is just out. Tells all about the summering places of the Columbia River Valley; a brief description of the trips up and down the Columbia River, to the mountains, beaches, inland resorts and fountains of healing, where they are and how to reach them. The book has a special designed front cover, printed in two colors, and the inside pages are splendidly illustrated by costly and beautiful half tones. A copy of this publication may be obtained by sending two cents in stamps to A. L. Craig, General Passenger Agent of the Oregon Railroad & Navigation Company; Portland.
