DANCERS PAY THE FIDDLER.

No man or woman yet tripped down the primrose path without sooner or later falling into the shadows which lurk around it. The start is easy, but the pace quickens as the wine flows free, and all too often the victims are swept "into the gulf of an endless night." The testimony in the land-fraud case which closed yesterday proved conclusively that the land laws of the country were not the only ones violated by the leading figures in the case. It was a charitable view which Judge O'Day asked the jury to take of the private life of the accused, and, from a legal standpoint, it might have been proper that their shortcomings be overlooked so far as they had bearing on the case at issue. But this quartet of principals openly and flagrantly violated moral laws, the observance of which is one of the most essential factors in the purity of our social life.

It was not alone the handsome, genial McKinley and his dashing, Bohemian friend, Miss Ware, nor Puter, the man of the world, and his friend, Mrs. Watson, who will suffer by the life they led. The great harm lies in the example which they have set and which through years of immunity from punishment induced the belief that the way of the transgressor was not hard. The disbursement of ill-gotten gains which came easily brought pleasures of a certain kind. There were bright lights and sweet music, illicit love and a general contempt for the conventionalities of the humdrum life led by those who knew the value of dollars earned by honest toil. There is tinsel and glare about that speedy life which always attracts weak minds as the candle attracts the moth. These people made no concealment of their ability to buy the pleasures of the flesh, and they had many followers who undoubtedly were not too scrupulous in their methods of obtaining funds to aid them also in being good fellows.

These cluprits by the skillful nature of their unlawful work have proved themselves to be mentally equipped for making a success in almost any honest calling. With a knowledge of the consequences, they deliberately chose dishonest means for securing funds with which to live a life in open violation of all social and moral laws. The primrose path was pleasant so long as the lights shone bright and the popping corks made music sweet, but now, with the shadows thickening fast around them, there is hardly a doubt but that each and all of these victims of an outraged law would gladly go back to the parting of the ways and take the other path.—Oregonian.

Lewis and Clark Centennial.

International scope is assured to the Lewis and Clark Centennial Exposition to be held at Portland, Oregon, from June 1st to October 15, 1905, by President Roosevelt's approval of the act of Congress making an appropriation for the Exposition, and his invitation to foreign countries to participate Portland's Exposition will represent a total outlay of over $5,000,000. Though covering 405 acres of land and natural lake, it will be compact in form, and the average person will be able to see and comprehend it all in a few days at moderate cost. The cream of the foreign and domestic exhibits to be made at St. Louis this year will be transferred to Portland at the close of the Louisiana Purchase Exposition. The United States exhibit will be moved entire to Portland and installed in building to be specially erected. This exhibit will be worth $800,000. In addition Portland will have many features which will not be seen at St. Louis, such as exhibit demonstrating the life, customs and industries of China, Japan, Hawaii, Siberia, Russia, Alaska, Australia, New Zealand, the Philippines and India.

The Lewis and Clark Centennial will be the first international exposition under Government patronage ever held on the Pacific Coast. It will be in every way a Western exposition. The railroads will make low rates from Missouri and Mississippi river points to Portland, and exceptionally low rates will be in effect between Portland and the Rocky Mountain region.
